COURSE IN PROHIBITION FOR CAPITAL SCHOOLS PROPOSED BY DRY UNIT

Plan to Be Laid Before Nation's Teachers at Atlanta.

BOARD OF EDUCATION WILL MAKE DECISION

Ballou Approves Idea of Using Propaganda in Curricula.

AIMS TO SHOW VALUE OF LAW ECONOMICALLY

Scheme Would Base Essays, Arithmetic Problems on Prosperity Gains.

A course in prohibition, contrasting conditions in the days of the saloon with those of today and stressing the importance of law observance, probably will be introduced in the public schools of Washington in the near future.

Such a course of instruction has been drawn up by the Prohibition Bureau and will be laid before several hundred school teachers and principals at the annual convention of the National Education Association in Atlanta, Ga. next week.

The decision as to whether a course of study on prohibition shall be added to the curricula of the local grade and high schools will, of course, have to be decided by the Board of Education.

However, if the board takes the same attitude as that of Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, it undoubtedly will approve the idea.

Ballou Assures Cooperation.

Questioned about the proposed prohibition course yesterday, Dr. Ballou emphasized the fact that decisions on all such matters necessarily would have to be made by the Board of Education. He expressed the opinion, however, that if the Federal Government was in favor of such a course, the local school organization naturally would adopt it.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union some time ago sought to have its lecturers go into the schools and address the children on prohibition topics, but the school board denied it this privilege.

Dr. Ballou pointed out yesterday, however, that this request fell into a different category than would the proposed course that is about to be suggested by the Prohibition Bureau.

Explains W. C. T. U. Denial.

In the first place, Ballou said, the W. C. T. U. lectures were outsiders, and in the second place there was no way of telling in advance just what they would say in their lectures.

But if the Federal Government wants to get the facts about prohibition before the pupils, Dr. Ballou said, the regular teachers would do the lecturing and the course of study would be prescribed in advance. In other words, it would be an official course, sanctioned by the National Government.

Miss Anna B. Sutter, chief of the division of statistics and education of the Prohibition Bureau, is leaving here Thursday for the convention of the National Education Association. She is taking along a batch of pamphlets in which is printed the suggested course of study on prohibition.

In the proposed course, Miss Sutter suggests studies under eight topics. Three of them follow:

"Arithmetic—Problems having to do with the increase in value of property

Dentist Battered In Fight on Street

Georgetown Student Held; Doctor Has Possible Skull Fracture.

Dr. Robert T. McCrystal, 28-year-old dentist, who gave his address as Wardman Park Hotel, was treated at Emergency Hospital early this morning for a broken nose and a possible fracture of the skull, said by police to have been suffered in an altercation in front of 1730 H street northwest.

James P. Cummiskey, a Georgetown University student whose home is in Detroit, was booked at the Third Precinct Station House as the doctor's assailant. He was charged with assault. The arrest was made by Detective Arthur Fihelly, who lives in the Bachelor apartment across the street, and who, hearing a commotion on the street slipped on a bathrobe and investigated.

According to information gathered by Fihelly, Dr. McCrystal was struck twice. He fell once, arose, and was knocked down again, Fihelly said. A large crowd gathered. In addition to the broken nose and possible skull fracture, Dr. McCrystal also suffered the loss of practically all his front teeth. He is in a private room at the hospital.

SINCLAIR AID BEGINS PRISON TERM

HENRY MASON DAY.

DAY BEGINS SERVING FOUR MONTHS' TERM

Dapper New York City Oil Man Enters District Jail for Jury Shadowing.

FAILS TO MEET SINCLAIR

Henry Mason Day, of New York City—nonchalant and sartorially splendid—entered the District Jail at 6:45 o'clock last night to begin serving the four-month term to which he was sentenced for contempt of court through having jurors shadowed in the Sinclair-Fall conspiracy trial.

The slim, middle-aged New Yorker, vice president of the Sinclair Exploration Co., smilingly joked with a score of reporters and camera men as he paused at the portals of his new residence to pose for pictures before joining his business chief, the millionaire oil magnate, Harry F. Sinclair, who is serving three months, and six months concurrently, for contempt of the Senate and jury shadowing.

"Boys," he said, as he alighted from the cab in which he rode to the jail alone, "I know you have been waiting all day for me. Take all the time you want. I have all the time in the world, but——"

Just what duties will be assigned Day had not been determined last night, although it is considered probable he will be given clerical work to do. Day was identified on the jail record card as "in the oil business," according to Captain-of-the-Guard John Campbell, who was in charge last

WORLD'S BEST ZOO IS CAPITAL PROJECT

SWAMP WILL BE MADE

Preliminary plans for constructing the world's largest reptile house at the National Zoological Park here and for utilizing the $1,195,000 appropriation provided in the appropriations act for the fiscal year 1930, to make the park the leading zoo of the world, were outlined yesterday by Dr. William M. Mann, director of the park, and A. L. Harris, district architect, who have just returned after spending two months inspecting zoological parks in northern European countries.

Throughout their tour, during which they spent every day but three in various foreign parks, they gave special attention to reptile houses, and on their return voyage aboard the Holland-American liner Statendam, they worked out a tentative plan of the house it is proposed to erect here.

It is planned to spend about $200,000 on construction, this sum being provided in the congressional appropriation, and to combine the best features of the world's best reptile houses. More than 100 cages for reptiles are to be provided, each species being caged in a separate section.

Present specifications call for an oblong building, with the larger snakes housed in the center and smaller species along the sides and at one end,

COLUMBIA WINS ROWING CROWN AS RIVALS SINK

Roughest River in History of Race Conquered by New York Crew.

WASHINGTON PLACES SECOND, PENN THIRD

California, Syracuse and M. I. T., Water Logged, Are Swamped.

CORNELL FORCED OUT NEARING FINISH LINE

Columbians Overtake Early Leaders to Win by 3 Lengths Over West.

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 24 (A.P.).—Riding the crest of the roughest water in the 34 years of regatta history, Columbia's great varsity crew swept to smashing victory in the gathering dusk tonight to win the intercollegiate championship of the United States for the second time in three years.

In a race which saw the dope knocked overboard by the antics of Old Man River, the Columbians rowed to a decisive victory by three lengths over a surprising University of Washington boat as disaster overtook California, the world champions of 1928, and three other crews.

Only five of the record fleet of nine shells that went to the starting line in semidarkness weathered the rough and rugged race over the full route of 4 miles. California, cofavorite with Columbia, and the defending champions, swamped a half-mile from the finish after failing to be a contender at any stage of the long pull.

Crews Swamped or Forced Out.

California, fighting a losing battle all the way, passed out of the stormy picture after Massachusetts Tech, in its first start in a Poughkeepsie regatta, had swamped near the 2-mile mark, and after Syracuse, an early contender, sank to the level of the river just after passing the bridge and the 3-mile mark. As a climax, Cornell, another favorite, was forced out of the race in the last half-mile as its shell broke under the heavy weight of water shipped on the way down.

Columbia meanwhile rowed on magnificently to win over any and all obstacles. The New York pupils of "Young Dick" Glendon not only conquered the greatest array of oarsmen ever gathered for the blue ribbon classic of the Hudson, but triumphed over Old Man River himself with a knockout punch all the way down the long course.

Columbia faced and overcame the difficulties that brought about the undoing of her foremost rivals. The New Yorkers occupied one of the worst of the lanes, number 7, between California and M. I. T. They shipped water to some extent themselves, but never enough to slow them up appreciably as they came into the last mile to take

GIBSON RETURN HERE FOR NAVY PARLEY HINTED

State Department Says Views on Disarming May Be Sought.

HOOVER INTERESTED IN HEARING OPINIONS

AMBASSADORS MEET TO CONFER ON PLANS

Discussions Under Orders From Washington, Envoy to Belgium Avers.

(Associated Press.)

Hugh S. Gibson, American Ambassador to Belgium and head of the American delegation to the League of Nations Preparatory Disarmament Commission, may be called back to the United States later this summer for conference with President Hoover and State Department officials on naval questions.

While no definite plans have been made for the return of the Ambassador, who is now in London conferring with Ambassador Dawes, State Department officials said that he probably will be asked to present his views personally to the President on disarmament questions before the next meeting of the preparatory commission which is scheduled for next fall. Personal conferences in Washington, it is believed, would be of greater result than exchanges of cablegrams and diplomatic dispatches between Gibson and the Government officials.

In connection with his meeting with Ambassador Dawes, State Department officials said that Ambassador Gibson was free to remain in London as long as the former may desire. As for any conferences between Mr. Gibson and Prime Minister MacDonald, officials indicated that this is entirely within the discretion of Ambassador Dawes.

Howard-Borah Meeting Told.

It also was disclosed at the State Department yesterday that the department had been fully informed of the conference between Sir Esme Howard, the British Ambassador, and Chairman Borah of the Senate foreign relations committee, last Saturday prior to their meeting. It was emphasized that there was nothing "unusual in the conference and that Sir Esme had followed the usual diplomatic procedure in notifying the Department of his desire for the meeting."

London, June 24 (A.P.).—United States Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson, spokesman of the American Government on disarmament at Geneva in April, arrived from Belgium tonight for a conference with United States Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, central figure in the dramatic international developments of last week.

The small, alert and smiling envoy indicated on arrival from Brussels

Three persons met death and five persons, including two policemen, were injured in a series of traffic accidents yesterday and last night, according to police and hospital records.

The dead are:

Mrs. Rosie McCullough, 72 years old, of 614 L street northwest.

Warren Perry, colored, of 2038 Fourth street northwest.

Isaiah Thomas, colored, 10 years old, of 507 New Jersey avenue northwest.

Five Are Injured.

The injured are: Policeman Emlous Barnett, 28 years old, of the Eighth Precinct, at Garfield Hospital, with possible fractured skull, broken ribs and lacerations; policeman Eugene Moore, 27 years old, of the Fifth Precinct, at Emergency Hospital, with fractured right leg; Helene Foote, 11 years old, of 410 East Capitol street, at Casualty Hospital, with a possible fractured skull and other injuries; Clyde Wilson, 15 years old, of 1304 Thirteenth street northwest, at Emergency Hospital, with a fractured collar bone and other injuries, and Maurice Throgmorton, 33 years old, of the Sixteenth Brigade Headquarters, U. S. Army, treated at Army General Dispensary for lacerations and bruises.

Hospital authorities said that Policeman Barnett and the Foote girl were in a serious condition.

Woman Is Struck Down.

Mrs. McCullough was fatally injured when struck down on K street northwest between Seventh and Eighth streets by an automobile operated by Harry P. Dalzell, of 9 Whittier street northwest, an employe of the Bureau of Standards. Dalzell stopped his car immediately, so quickly that one of the front wheels came to rest on the woman's neck, police reported. Passers-by helped lift the car from the woman. She died at Emergency Hospital an hour after arriving there. Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt ordered Dalzell held for the inquest.

Perry was fatally injured when the automobile in which he was riding with Leonard Young, colored, 30 years old, of 707 Barry place northwest, was struck by another automobile, said to have contained a number of colored men. Occupants of the other car attempted to drive away after the collision but when an axle snapped leaped out and fled, according to police. Perry was taken to Freedmen's Hospital, dying within a few minutes. Young was held at the Eighth Precinct pending the inquest.

Cyclist Killed Instantly.

Isaiah Thomas was killed almost instantly when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a truck at the Intersection of New Jersey avenue and E street northwest. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at Casualty Hospital. An inquest will be held today. The truck was operated by Clifton Floyd Kirkpatrick, of 2220 Thirty-fifth street northwest, police said.

AMERICAN EMBASSY IN LONDON GOES DRY

Dawes Announcement Means Prohibition Dinner May Be Served Royalty.

BRITISH PRESS IS LENIENT

London, June 24 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—For the first time the United States Embassy here has gone dry. Previous ambassadors during the decade of prohibition at home have all served drink with meals, but Ambassador Dawes told correspondents today:

"There seems to be a rumor going around that I intend to serve liquor in the embassy. I never made it a practice to serve liquor in my home in the States and see no reason to change now."

This decision, whether or not inspired by the announcement of Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador at Washington, that he would bring in no more liquor under diplomatic privilege, means more than appears on the surface. For the American ambassador in London entertains extensively and entertains the highest rank of Britons from the king and queen down.

Probably never since Julius Caesar conquered this island has a dry banquet been served to royalty or the aristocracy. The only nominally dry house of importance in London is Lady Astor's, but even there, although she is a teetotaler, wine is served with meals, though not at receptions.

The British press shows both interest and surprise at Ambassador Dawes' decision; but the general comment is that it is his own affair, that public discussion of a host's provision for his guests would be impertinent. At the same time there is much joking at the expense of prospective recipients of the American embassy's hospitality who have never eaten a dry dinner since youth. There is also speculation as to whether it will be considered rude if flasks are carried to embassy functions.

Liners Anchor Far Out Awaiting Lift of Fog

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—Four transatlantic liners were anchored as far out as Sandy Hook and Gravesend Bay tonight unable to penetrate a heavy fog which extended from Nantucket to Quarantine. They were the Franconia, New York, Dresden and Corinthia. The Minnekahda made her pier tonight when the fog lifted for a time in the lower bay. She was followed closely by the Baltic.

The four still outside sent word that they would not attempt the passage to their piers until tomorrow. The Paris was feeling her way in tonight with the aid of two pilot tugs.

Mrs. Alice K. Henderson Dies After Auto and Cab Collide.

WOMAN'S COMPANION RECEIVES HEAD CUTS

TAXI DRIVER IS JAILED AS HE SURRENDERS

Husband of Victim Tells of Friendship Between Wife and Other Man.

Mrs. Alice K. Henderson, wife of Irving J. Henderson, prominent automobile man, was fatally injured and her companion, Charles Francis of 2305 Eighteenth street northwest, sustained minor injuries when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a taxicab at Twelfth and Water streets southwest at 6 o'clock last night.

Mrs. Henderson received a fracture of the skull and contusions about the face and body. She died at Emergency Hospital a few minutes later without regaining consciousness, while Francis was given medical aid at the same hospital for painful lacerations of the scalp over both eyes. Hospital attendants, pronouncing his condition not serious, permitted him to return to his home.

Norman S. Clark, 24 years old, of Ballston, Va., driver of the other machine, which is owned and operated by the Black and White Taxicab Co., escaped injuries. He remained at the scene and gave himself up to police, who jailed him on charges of investigation at the Fourth Precinct station.

Cars Collide at Corner.

According to the report made to police, the accident occurred when the light coach, owned and driven by Francis, with Mrs. Henderson as the only other occupant, was proceeding east on Water street at the intersection of Twelfth street. The machine collided with the taxicab and careened ahead, threatening momentarily to go over.

The terrific impact shattered the windows in the coach and sent Mrs. Henderson hurtling through a front window opening and high into the air, according to a statement made by Thomas R. Frazier, of 523 Thirteenth street northwest, a night watchman, who witnessed events immediately following the crash.

"Although I'm pretty deaf that tremendous noise made me look around just in time to see the woman going through the air and then fall on the pavement nearby," declared Frazier. 'I rushed to her side, saw the heavy blood and heard her gasping for air. I've seen so many people die that I knew she was almost gone, but I held her head up so she could breathe if it was possible.

Woman Put in Truck.

"The man who had been in the car with her jumped out and ran over to us and though he was bleeding too, he tried to help her. He put his arm around her and we lifted her into a truck operated by George Shaffer, of 606 Tenth street southwest, I'm told."

Francis was taken to the hospital in a passing automobile, where he declined to talk. At his home the same statement was made.

While at the hospital awaiting the arrival of the coroner, Mr. Henderson, husband of the dead woman, whose family make their home at 1868 Monroe street northwest, talked freely of his knowledge of the friendship that existed between his wife and her companion.

"Mr. Francis is an accountant in the office of the Geological Survey, at the

4 Warships, 2 Planes Hunt Spanish Fliers

Missing Aviators Are Feared Lost at Sea by Premier de Rivera; Nation Mourns Lack of Word From Ocean Airmen.

Horta, Azores, June 24 (AP).—Up to midnight tonight no word had been received here indicating the fate of the four missing Spanish aviators. Four Spanish destroyers which left Ferrol, Spain, were expected to reach this vicinity early tomorrow.

Melilla, Spain, June 24 (AP).—A Dornier seaplane similar to that used by the missing Spanish fliers left here tonight with two mechanics and a radio operator besides two pilots for Lisbon. It will search over the route taken by Maj. Ramon Franco. Another seaplane with a crew of six left on the same mission.

Ferrol, Spain, June 24 (AP).—The aviators Jimenez and Iglesias, who recently returned to Spain after a successful crossing of the Atlantic to South America, telephoned Premier Primo de Rivera tonight offering their services in seeking Maj. Ramon Franco and his three missing companions.

Madrid, June 24 (A.P.).—Naval craft and airplanes tonight were scouring the seas in the vicinity of the Azores for trace of the four Spanish aviators of whom there had been no definite word for almost three days.

An unconfirmed report that wreckage, with no trace of life about it, had been sighted in those waters by a British freighter gave the only ray of hope in the gloomy situation. Four Spanish destroyers sped from Ferrol in an attempt to verify this report, while the Portuguese gunboat Zaire was refueling at Horta to continue the search begun Saturday.

Premier Primo de Rivera, who unwittingly had given false hope to Spain on Saturday by authorizing publication of a message then supposed to have come from Maj. Ramon Franco, leader of the flight, today appeared most anxious when he entered a cabinet meeting. He said the reports he had were contradictory and the outlook for the safety of the four fliers was discouraging.

British Charge d'Affaires Ramsey, at the request of the government, asked that a British airplane carrier be sent from Gibraltar with planes to search from the Portuguese coast, where the plane was last definitely reported, to the Azores.

Public anxiety was great because Maj. Franco had been a national hero since his flight in 1926 to South America. On the present flight he was accompanied by one of his old crew, Capt. Ruiz de Alda, and by Maj. Eduardo Gallarza, and Sergt. Mechanic Pedro Madariaga.

There was no end of offers of private aid in the search. Pablo Rada, me-

Department of the Interior Building, and my wife worked there for a number of years, her work bringing her in constant contact with him," asserted Mr. Henderson. "The man has been in our home in a social way on several occasions, and I know him only slightly. I can only assume that upon leaving their office after work he was driving her home and that they were just taking a little longer drive when the accident occurred."

Mr. Henderson explained that he had spent the day in Baltimore on business for the Trew Automobile Co., the firm with which he is associated, and returned to Washington in company with E. B. Livie, a well-known automobile dealer, of 1501 Fourteenth street northwest.

Mr. Henderson has been in the automobile business in Washington for almost twenty years, during a part of this time conducting a subagency of the Trew Automobile Co., under the name of the Henderson Automobile Co., until last July.

Besides her husband Mrs. Henderson is survived by a 16-year-old daughter, Margaret, and a sister, Mrs. Stephen J. Murphy, of Washington.

Four Veterans Arrive In World-Girdling Auto

Francis Buzzacott, world traveler and veteran of four wars, his "cruiser car" and three American Legion companions arrived in Washington yesterday, on their 500,000-mile ten-year world trip. Buzzacott is on his way to Boston, where the party and car will embark for Europe for the seventh time, in order to add to the 187,000 miles that have been recorded on his speedometer in the last six years.

The car has all the comforts of home, including a roomy back porch, kitchenette, shower bath, radio, typewriter, electric lights, fans, and novel suspension beds. It is planned to turn the car over to the Chicago Exposition in 1933 at the conclusion of its wanderings. Buzzacott and his companions, James Robers, F. B. McQuire and Jack Nolan, all World War veterans, are defraying expenses on the trip by use of their combined pensions.

Man Leaps From Auto, Seizes Woman's Purse

Miss Betty Harrell, 22 years old, of 2815 Eighteenth street northwest, was robbed by two colored men of her pocketbook, containing about $6, last night at Twentieth and Biltmore streets northwest.

She was walking toward her home shortly before 9:30 o'clock, she told Detective Sergts. Thomas Nally and E. E. Thompson, when at a dark stretch on Biltmore street near Twentieth street, an automobile drove up beside her and a young colored man leaped out and snatched her purse He immediately jumped back into the machine, at the wheel of which was another man who had the engine running and started off. Miss Harrell gave a description of the men.

Two Alleged Gamblers Demand Trial by Jury

Accused of betting on the outcome of the Washington-Boston baseball game at the American League Park on Saturday, Charles C. Smithson and Bernard Reed demanded a jury trial when arraigned before Judge John P. McMahon yesterday at Police Court. They were liberated in $2,000 bail each.

Following complaints that wagering on ball games was being done openly at the park, a police detail was commissioned to investigate. Smithson and Reed were arrested by Detectives J. F. Flaherty, W. B. Laflin and William J. Dubuakey, who stated they overheard the wager.

DRY KILLING HEARING ON IMMUNITY SNAG

REPORT REFUSED QUIZZER

Plattsburgh, N. Y., June 24 (A.P.).—A coroner's hearing on the shooting of Arthur Gordon, alleged smuggler, came to a halt tonight, a few hours after it had started, while county authorities thumbed law books to determine the degree of immunity possessed by Federal officers summoned to an inquest.

The latest pause in Clinton County's activity against border patrolmen said by their superiors to have been involved in the shooting of Gordon resulted from the declination of two officers to testify on the grounds that it might tend to incriminate them, and from the refusal of John C. Tulloch, customs collector at Ogdensburg, to produce the report made to him on the shooting.

Collector Tulloch testified he received his first news of the death of Gordon by telephone from A. G. Hokenso, special agent for the Ogdensburg district, later talking with the agent at his office.

Tulloch declined to repeat what had been said between them, saying it was information given him as a superior officer by the agent.

Coroner Charles D. Rea overruled this contention and Tulloch repeat the statement made last week, which in substance said Gordon was accidentally shot by W. J. Cheatham while attempting to escape from Cheatham and F. L. Coveney near Mooers early on the morning of June 15.

Orders against the unnecessary use of firearms were issued by Tulloch on March 9, 1928, he said, and a second order against the use of rifles and amplifying earlier instructions was received June 15, he testified.

Stage Star Robbed Of $30,000 in Gems

Ethelind Terry and Husband Are Held Up by Two Chicago Bandits.

Chicago, June 24 (A.P.).—Two young bandits early today robbed Ethelind Terry, musical comedy star, of $30,000 in jewelry. Miss Terry, who a month ago married Benjamin E. Bogeaus, wealthy real estate man, was returning with her husband to their apartment from a cabaret when they were robbed. Nothing was taken from Mr. Bogeaus.

Bogeaus told police that he and his wife had just alighted from their car in front of their home, at 444 St. James place, when the robbers, accompanied by two young women, drove up behind them. The bandits drew pistols and forced the couple into the lobby of the hotel where they live. While one robber guarded Mr. and Mrs. Bogeaus and a hotel clerk the other stripped three bracelets and two rings from Mrs. Bogeaus. She told police they were valued at $30,000.

The men made no attempt to rob Bogeaus or the clerk.

Peace Through Art Urged By Russian Painter in City

Naturalized Citizen Pays High Tribute to U. S. Work.

NICHOLAS ROERICH.

"Not in one country have I seen so much spiritual and artistic striving; in no country do the people as a whole seek beauty and the truth of life, quest for new discoveries, evolutions and progress in all things, as in America."

This was the enthusiastic opinion of Nicholas Roerich, the Russian artist of world renown, now a naturalized American, as he expressed it shortly after being received by President Hoover yesterday morning. He has but recently returned from remote parts of Central Asia where he headed the American expedition for painting and scientific exploration. The party spent four years in Tibet, Chinese Turkestan, Altai, Mongolia and the Himalayas. In addition to painting some 500 canvases of pastoral life, members of the expedition believe they found evidences of a Gothic migration through Northern Tibet.

Underlying the artist's adoption of America is a story that bears out his theory that world peace can be brought about through the arts and mutual admiration of the works of the artists of all nationalities. Dr. Roerich has for some time been advocating such a plan. He was nominated this spring for the Nobel Peace award by the Department of International Law of the University of Paris, because of his efforts to bring about peace through the fountain head of art.

He points out that all culture, refinement, and in a great measure, all progress springs from the inspiration of art—all art—irrespective of kind or nationality. Corot is as well loved in America as in France; Pavlowa won the heart of the world with her dancing. Sarah Bernhart achieved immortality in every country in which she appeared.

Such artists and such art, Dr. Roerich believes, through interchange with countries, will bring about a condition that will make even the idea of war unspeakable. It was through admiration of American art that he became a citizen.

Dr. Roerich has visited 28 American cities with exhibitions and, he said, he finds the people hungry and eager for art—the art of the entire world—and that they are most generous in their reception of art of other nationalities and are becoming appreciative of their own art.

"I have just returned from charming countries, and I say charming in spite of the difficulties and hardships we experienced, ranging from being besieged by bandits in Tibit to living 15,000 feet above sea level.

"May I not tell you that I had a contract with a god? Yes, I had a water rights contract with the great Gura Saraha, witnessed and sealed by the representatives of the British government. It cost me nothing but recognized the Gura Saraha as all possessive and powerful, and pleased the natives; it is one of my most treasured possessions. I painted the idea given me by them of the great Gura Saraha With the Blessed Arrow. Gura Saraha is a friendly god, and with his arrow points the way to suppliants and gives them the godspeed of the swiftness of an arrow in flight to reach their desire. Charming. Isn't it?"

The pictures painted by Dr. Roerich will join the permanent collection now in his museum in New York, he said.

CANNON DEALS BARED IN BROKER'S QUIZZING

Churchman Was Not Partner, Says Head of Alleged "Bucket Shop."

BISHOP MAY BE CALLED

New York, June 23 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The stock deals Bishop James Cannon, jr., leader of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, had with Kable & Co., an alleged "bucket shop," were the center today of an examination of Harry L. Goldhurst, head of the firm, before Robert P. Stephenson, referee in bankruptcy.

Goldhurst and Charles W. Kable, a former stock clerk who lent his name to the company, are both under Federal indictment charging the use of the mails to defraud. The hearing today, the first since Kable & Co. went bankrupt fourteen months ago, was held for benefit of the firm's creditors.

The only witness of the day, Goldhurst was questioned by S. Edward Benoit and Mitchell Fring, attorneys for the Federal court trustee appointed to take charge of the company's assets.

Kable is scheduled to be examined tomorrow.

May Call on Cannon.

Benoit stated tonight that if Kable's examination is not satisfactory, he may find it necessary to question Bishop Cannon. Unless Bishop Cannon volunteers to come to New York, should he be needed, the lawyer said, then he would have to visit the churchman, either in Washington or Virginia, since the Federal law covering the situation extends for a radius of only 100 miles from New York City.

Replying to questions put by Benoit the witness denied Bishop Cannon was a silent partner in the firm, or that the bishop's extensive trading account was exhibited to prospective customers as a "lure,' and that Bishop Cannon had been paid commissions for "drumming up trade."

Goldhurst often hesitated in his answers, save in replying to the questions asking if Bishop Cannon was interested in the firm as a partner.

The broker could not recall details of his business with Bishop Cannon before the Kable Co. transactions. No books were kept on those deals, he said.

Kept Advised by Cable.

Once, said Goldhurst, he visited Bishop Cannon at his Washington office, the Antisaloon League headquarters in the Bliss Building.

During a trip the bishop made to Central America, he added, he kept him advised of market conditions by cable.

Just before his firm failed, said Goldhurst, he informed Bishop Cannon in a meeting here that the "company was in financial difficulties."

"Did Bishop Cannon offer any assistance?"

"No."

When the firm failed it owed the bishop $11,356, plus 200 shares of Hudson Motors stock ordered, or bought, at Goldhurst's discretion. Bishop Cannon never filed a claim for the money due him.

Asked if he had actually purchased the 200 shares of Hudson stock, Goldhurst at first refused to answer on the grounds it "would incriminate and degrade me," but eventually changed his mind and said, "He did not recall whether he had actually bought the shares."

Brothers, 9 and 10, Face Trial in Friend's Killing

Welch, W. Va., June 24 (A.P.).—Two brothers, one 9 and the other 10 years old, today were held for the McDowell County grand jury on charges of slaying a 9-year-old playmate. In holding the boys for the grand jury, Juvenile Court Judge I. C. Herndon said their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hamilton, had requested a jury trial for their children.

According to authorities, the brothers admitted they caused the death of Raymond Colley by drowning while fishing in Dry Fork River. The parents also have been held for the grand jury charged with being accessories after the fact in the alleged slaying. All four members of the Hamilton family will be released from the county jail on bond of $5,000 each. A State law prohibits publication of the names of minors involved in criminal cases.

TWO DIE AS GUNMAN ASKS PARTNERSHIP

Chicago Man's Demand to Be Let in on Gambling Plan Ends in Shooting.

THIRD WOUNDED IN DUEL

Special to The Washington Post.

Kansas City, Mo., June 24 (A.P.).—An attempt by a Chicago gunman, Ben Barretti, to force his way into a partnership with a group of gangsters, was held responsible by police tonight for his death and that of Arthur Hartman, of St. Louis, in a shooting fray in front of a hotel here Saturday night.

Neil Pumphrey, of Memphis, Tenn., who was wounded n both arms, is in a hospital, while two others who were in the group are still at large, having made their escape immediately after the fight. After making an investigation and questioning Pumphrey, police said the wounded man and Hartman were here seeking financial assistance in the promotion of gambling resorts at Linn Creek, Mo., where 3,000 men soon will be employed in the construction of the Bagnell Dam. Barretti, who lived at the hotel in front of which the shooting took place, was seeking to gain entrance into the ring over the objections of Hartman and Pumphrey, because of his police record in several other cities, police alleged.

Pumphrey is said to have told of a meeting in Barretti's room at the hotel and a quarrel. After leaving the room, more words followed and the men drew their guns and started shooting, resulting in the death of the two and the wounding of the other.

"Strongheart," Dog Movie Actor, Dies

Famous Animal Star Served in German Red Cross During War.

Hollywood, Cal., June 24 (AP).—"Strongheart," dog hero of the movies, died today at the home of his owner, Miss Jane Murfin. He was 13 years old. A complication of diseases, following an operation several months ago, caused his death.

Trained in the Berlin police kennels, Strongheart served with the German Red Cross during the World War. He was brought to America after the war and introduced to the silent drama by Miss Murfin and Larry Trimble, his trainer.

His first picture, "The Silent Call," established him as an animal star. Later film successes were "Brawn of the North," "The Love Master," "White Fang" and "North Star."

Boy Killed, Two Hurt By Rum Runners' Truck

Chicago, June 24 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—A large two-ton truck, which police believe was a Moran or Capone booze transport from across the Wisconsin line, came roaring out of the north just before dawn today, hogging the Waukegan road, and crashed into a car containing a family on its way to a fishing expedition in Wisconsin.

A 13-year-old boy is dead and his brother and father seriously injured. The speeding rum runners cursed the quiet Melrose Park family for being in their way and fired several shots in the air as they hastened toward Chicago.

Schoenhair to Try New Cross Country Flight

Dubois, Pa., June 24 (A.P.).—Lee Schoenhair, whose airplane was damaged yesterday in an attempted take-off in his flight from Los Angeles to New York, said tonight he would send the damaged ship back to Los Angeles by train and make another attempt at a nonstop flight from coast to coast later. The plane will be shipped tomorrow morning. The aviator said two weeks probably would be necessary to complete repairs on the ship.

Schoenhair will start his next flight from New York, he said, with Los Angeles as his goal.

HOOVER SEEKS DATA ON NEW FARM BOARD

Personnel to Be Announced Next Week After Series of Conferences.

STORY OF BUDGET BEGUN

(Associated Press.)

Refreshed by a week-end at his Blue Ridge Mountain fishing lodge in Virginia, President Hoover lost no time upon his return to Washington yesterday in getting to his desk to study the governmental problems confronting him.

Foremost among these is the appointment of the Federal Farm Board created by the agricultural relief bill, to which he affixed his signature hardly more than a week ago.

The President is expected to hold a series of conferences in the next few days upon the personnel of the Farm Board. Announcement of its selection is looked for either at the end of this week or some time next week. When he signed the bill President Hoover announced that the appointment of the board would require at least two weeks and possibly three.

It also developed that the President has been giving considerable attention to the problem of economy in government. The Budget Bureau made pulic a request submitted to the heads of the Government's departments and independent agencies disclosing that Mr. Hoover purposes to hold the gross Federal budget for the next fiscal year, 1930-31, to the amount appropriated for the present fiscal year, 1929-30. The budget allotments for the present fiscal year were made under the Coolidge administration.

Late in the day Secretary Hyde conferred with the President for about half an hour. Afterward the Secretary said that at least another week must elapse before the personnel of the Farm Board can be announced. He added that as yet no one has been definitely selected.

RADICAL TARIFF BILL CHANGES ARE URGED

Cuban Treaty Termination, Higher Wool Rates Asked of Senators.

(Associated Press.)

Radical changes in the House tariff bill, including provisions for termination of the reciprocal trade treaty with Cuba, higher rates on wool and levying of duties on agricultural imports from the Philippines, were recommended at hearings on the measure yesterday before three Senate finance subcommittees.

Chester H. Gray, legislative representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, suggested abrogation of the Cuban-American Treaty, under which each country grants the other preferential tariff rates on a long list of commodities. He did not detail the reasons, but said he would discuss the subject at later hearings.

Appearing before the subcommittee on agriculture, Gray said farm products coming into the United States from the Philippines, including sugar, should be dutiable. The House rejected the proposal for tariffs against imports into the United States from its possessions.

Indifferent on Debenture.

Questioned by Senators Smoot (Republican), Utah, and Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, Gray said his organization was neither for nor against the debenture plan sponsored by the National Grange as a part of the tariff bill.

Gray was one of more than a dozen witnesses heard by the agriculture subcommittee before it closed its hearings on that section. This finance committee group will rest today, and tomorrow will begin hearings on the controversial sugar schedules.

Before another subcommittee Frank J. Hagenbarth, of Spencer, Idaho, president of the National Wool Growers Association, sought a 36-cent a pound duty on raw wool, as compared with 34 cents in the bill and the present rate of 31 cents and substantially higher levies on all kinds of wool waste.

The witness declared 35,000,000 pounds of wool waste entered the United States last year at about half the duty on virgin wool and that this displaced approximately one-third the American production of raw wool. The principal reason domestic growers failed to receive the full benefit of the present 31 cents tariff, he said, was because of the wide differential between the raw and waste wool duties.

Hagenbarth's proposals regarding wool waste were supported by N. B. Brooks, of Boston, on behalf of the pure wool manufacturers of New England and Pennsylvania, and by J. Byron Wilson, McKinley, Wyo., representing the Wyoming Wool Growers Association.

Wool Wants 40 Cents.

Although the growers would be satisfied with a 36-cent duty on virgin wool, Hagenbarth said they were entitled to 40 cents protection based on actual differences in cost of production here and in Australia and South American nations.

Testimony for and against higher rates on various kinds of glass occupied a third subcommittee. The sundries schedule, embracing the controversial House duties on hides, leather and shoes, was to have come up yesterday but was delayed until today.

Man Smoked Out From Water Pipe

Policeman Arrests Tomfala Who Said He Was Taking Refuge From Wind.

Steve Tomfala, 74 years old, was arrested after being smoked out from a section of 14-inch water pipe, where he had taken refuge from the wind, and brought before Judge Gus A. Schuldt yesterday in Police Court on a charge of vagrancy.

Policeman J. R. Leach told the judge he found Tomfala Sunday afternoon in the middle of the pipe, which was to be installed on Sixth street. After coaxing had failed, Leach gathered some newspapers and "smoked out" the man.

Tomfala told Judge Schuldt he always climbed into pipes when the wind blew hard. He insisted that he had a pressing engagement with President Hoover and asked the judge to excuse him. The judge recommended hospital treatment and held sentence in abeyance.

Former University Head Asks Divorce

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 24 (A.P.).—Suit for divorce from Mrs. Katherine Andrews Little was filed here last week by Dr. Clarence Cook Little, resigned president of the University of Michigan, it was learned tonight.

Papers connected with the suit were withdrawn after being recorded and it was impossible to ascertain what grounds were to be made the basis of the action. Dr. Little left here Saturday for Mount Desert, Me., where he will conduct cancer research work, and Mrs. Little is believed to be in Boston.

Apparently not even intimate friends of Dr. and Mrs. Little here were apprised of the action. August 20 was set as the date for hearing on Dr. Little's motion, indicating the suit was filed on the same day of this month.

Dr. and Mrs. Little were married May 27, 1911. They have three children, all of school age. A daughter, Louise, is attending high school here and two sons, Edward R. Little and Robert A. Little, are at a school for boys near Boston.

The ambassador presented the department with a formal memorandum outling the results of the embassy's investigation of the incident and included a statement by Frank Thyson, who was accompanying Mr. Djenany at the time of his arrest. The embassy's action was not in the form of a protest and further action will depend upon the report which the State Department makes to Ambassador Mouhtar in the case.

The ambassador was absent from Washington at the time of the incident and several conferences have been held between officials of the embassy and State Department authorities regarding the matter.

STRESEMANN FAILS TO WIN NATIONALISTS

Foreign Minister Vigorously Defends Young Plan in Reichstag.

TAKES RAP AT AMERICA

Berlin, June 24 (A.P.).—Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German foreign minister, in a vigorous reply to severe Nationalist criticism, told the Reichstag today that Germany would not stand for the installation of a commission in the Rhineland as the price of its evacuation.

He answered Nationalist objections to the newly evolved Young plan by declaring the plan made Germany's burden definitely lighter than the Dawes plan, and this was the only question at issue.

Then, further to take the wind out of the sails of the Nationalists, he announced that President Von Hindenburg, as well as the cabinet, stood behind the manifestations this week against the treaty of Versailles, especially the clause acknowledging Germany's sole guilt for the war.

No Choice In Matter.

The foreign minister repeatedly declared to the Nationalists that when they were in power they also could not do otherwise than to fulfil Germany's international obligations.

The Nationalist policy of first proving that the Dawes plan was unworkable, he said, would have led to the destruction of the industrial middle class and would have been accompanied by consequences as dire as the Ruhr controversy of 1923.

Despite his recent illness, the foreign minister was in excellent condition oratorically and gave no impression of weakness, although a secretary, as a precautionary measure, placed a chair near him; he used a manuscrpt as the basis of his address, but frequently departed from it to reply to questions from the floor.

When the debate was finished for the day, the Nationalists introduced a motion of no confidence against the foreign minister, declaring that his five years in that post had been a failure.

Takes Rap at U. S.

Count Westarp, leader of the Nationalists, declared that the Young plan would enslave future generations and that what made it worse was the fact that it would be accepted by Germany instead of being forced upon her as he said the Dawes plan was. He charged the Government parties with Absolutist practices in choking off debate although the past months had been full of grave problems such as the minority question, the meeting of the reparations experts, and the resignation of Dr. Albert Voegler, one of Germany's chief delegates.

Dr. Stresemann's only reference to the United States, an indirect one, was his answer to the Nationalist charge that Germany was becoming a colony of France and England.

"No, we are not a colony of Frenchmen and Englishmen," he said. "To me it seems doubtful whether all Europe is not in danger of becoming a colony of those who are luckier than we. The fact that the colonists sat down together to work out amelioration for each other because others did not give them amelioration—that is something that can not be removed from the history of the Paris negotiations."

Lindbergh Starts Today On Final Air-Rail Survey

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—The Transcontinental Air Transport announced today that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, its technical advisor, would start tomorrow on a final air inspection of the company's plane-train route scheduled to open July 8.

It was said the flying colonel's first stop would be at Columbus, Ohio, but after that he has no definite plans except that he will fly all the way to the West Coast. He was expected to use his own Falcon plane, which is kept at Mitchel Field. It was not known whether he would be accompanied by Mrs. Lindbergh.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

THIS most recent effort of the Republicans—this effort to make the country believe that the Democrats are responsible for bunions is the most diabolical plot ever hatched in the political sphere. It will undoubtedly cause the Virginia Hoovercrats to realize just what kind of an enemy they are flirting with.

It would have been expected of nobody but Will Wood or Dr. Work. Yet a disclosure reveals Representative Frank Murphy, of Ohio, as the mainspring of it. One must wonder, under the circumstances, if the political cunning of the Republicans will ever end, if there is no limit to the resources upon which they may draw.

The present attack is most dangerous, because its real face is so well veiled. Its subtlety may well be the cause of grave alarm.

IT purports to be a campaign for the upbuilding of President Hoover's law-enforcement hand, the campaign to be carried on through the medium of the National Republic, a magazine published here. Variously, this publication has partaken of the Republican feed trough and then had to go it alone.

George Lockwood had it for awhile, and it was during this time that it was the accepted Republican organ. When Chairman W. M. Butler came along one of the first things he decided was that there was no need for this magazine. Whereupon he cut off the allowance it had been receiving from the Republican national committee and it was no time before Lockwood cut away from the magazine. About that time the word began to go around that as a chairman, Butler was not much.

Since then the magazine has been on its own, fighting the cause of Americanism against the radical elements that one does not realize are running so wild. Its editors insist, too, that it has been nonpartisan. They cite that only recently Senator Millard Tydings, of Maryland, wrote a story for it and, of course, he is a Democrat.

* * * *

BUT it has been out in the cold long enough. It is now bidden to come back to the feed trough in order that its days may be longer and its stomach fattened. Murphy has sent out appeals that $100 a quarter be subscribed to it, not just the $2 a year which subscription costs, but $100 every three months in order that it can help the President in his fight against the radical and lawless elements—the Reds. Murphy does not say that these influences are the Democrats, but he strongly hints that they are.

Senator Watson indorses his letter, so does Dr. Work and Will Wood. The Reds are multiplying at the rate of 1,000 a day, Watson says. Wood says the Republic is the journal of Republican orthodoxy, and Work says that its patriotic purpose and effectiveness can not be gainsaid.

* * * *

THE Democrats, when they heard of Murphy's appeal, were flattered, strangely enough, instead of frightened or outraged. It meant, in their opinion, that the Jouett Shouse activity here was getting under the Republicans' skin.

But the iniquity of the movement is yet to become apparent to them. It is true that throughout the magazine run stories of the Reds, their doings and the menace of them.

But the Republic has another crusade, one that is, at least, just as close to its heart as that of Americanism, and it is that one which the public will unconsciously associate with the Democrats.

It is the crusade against bunions, plain, old-fashioned corns. One has only to scan the Republic's advertising columns to hear the high note of this war. It is blatant, positive and unafraid.

LAXNESS IS CHARGED IN VETERANS' BUREAU

CONSCRIPTION LAW URGED

Detroit, June 24 (A.P.).—Recommendations for a more adequate national defense, civil military training camps, restricted immigration, a universal conscription law and increased allowances for National Guard units were indorsed today by 6,000 delegates to the ninth convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, at the opening business session of the convention.

The report of the organization's executive committe, adopted without debate, also suggested that the Veterans' Bureau regional offices establish employment agencies for disabled men and that there whould be a merger of all Federal offices for the relief of veterans.

It also was recommended that the Veterans' Bureau establish a system of home treatment for tubercular cases with a maintenance allowance for each patient.

Charges were made that the Veterans' Bureau functioned only when demands were made on it through a routine full of "red tape."

"It is most regrettable," said National Commander Millard W. Rice in his annual report, "that the administration of the Veterans' Bureau has been, and still is, such that he gets who demands, and that on the other hand, he who asks nothing gets nothing and those who are uninformed and inexperienced have to be penalized."

The resolution urging legislation for universal conscription in times of national emergency drew a storm of applause from the crowded floor and was approved unanimously.

De Priest Sees Need Of Political Unity

Negro Salvation Lies at Own Door, He Says at Knoxville.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 24 (A.P.).—Oscar De Priest, negro Representative from Chicago, tonight told an audience of 1,500 negroes that the negro would never gain his political and civil rights under the Constitution until he organized politically. De Priest was tendered an ovation by a throng of negroes who met him at the train. After his talk he was honor guest at a dinner for 50 at a negro tea room.

Discussing the question of social equality, De Priest said, "All that I want for the negro is white equality before the law. The American white people are not to blame for the economic, social, political or civil status of the negro," the speaker said. "His salvation is laid at his own doorstep.

De Priest told his audience that he was "not in Congress to put over any special legislation in behalf of the negro." Mayor James A. Fowler, former Solicitor General for the United States, introduced Representative De Priest.

VAN DEMAN RAISED TO MAJOR GENERAL

Brig. Gen McCoy Requests Promotion of Fellow Army Officer.

APPOINTEE RETIRES SOON

The promotion of Brig. Gen. Ralph H. Van Deman, commander of the Sixth Brigade at Fort Rosecrans, Calif., to major general to fill the vacancy created by the recent death of Maj. Gen. Harry A. Smith, was announced yesterday by Secretary of War James W. Good.

President Hoover recently requested that Brig. Gen. Frank R. McCoy be advanced to this rank in recognition of his distinguished services, but in view of the fact that Gen. Van Deman necessarily retires September 3 because of age, the War Department decided to wait until then to promote Gen. McCoy.

When he heard of President Hoover's action, Gen. McCoy asked that his promotion be deferred in order that Gen. Van Deman might receive the rank and retire as a major general. President Hoover then concurred in this view.

Col. George C. Shaw, of the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga., has been appointed to fill the rank made vacant by Gen. Van Deman's promotion.

Gen. Van Deman entered the Army in 1891. He served in Cuba during the Spanish American War and in the Philippines during the insurrection.

Gen Van Deman organized the military intelligence service of the Army during the World War and did special military intelligence work under Gen. Pershing. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal and decorated by the British, French and Italian governments.

Gen. McCoy is serving as chairman of the Paraguayan-Bolivian conference. He recently was ordered to Fort Houston, Tex., to command the Second Division.

Gen. McCoy served in Cuba and in the Philippines. Later he was military aid to President Roosevelt. During the World War he commanded the Rainbow Division in France. He was chairman of the electoral commission in Nicaragua and did much to bring about a harmonious close to a period of intense strife in that country.

Gen. Shaw is an outstanding rifle shot. He captained the American Olympic Rifle Team at Antwerp, Belgium, and before being assigned to the Infantry School at Fort Benning acted as executive officer of the national board for the promotion of rifle practice and director of civilian marksmanship. He holds the Congressional Medal of Honor, awarded for leading an assault against Fort Pitacus, Lake Lanao, Mindanao, Philippine Islands, in 1903. During the World War he served in the inspector general's department.

Four Chicago Gunmen Rob Theater of $5,748

Chicago, June 24 (A.P.).—Four gunmen robbed the assistant manager of the Oriental Theater, downtown motion picture house, at 9 a. m. today. They escaped with $5,748 from the safe.

The robbery was carried out by a ruse. The quartet informed the doorman, George Rosenthal, that they were a construction gang summoned for repair work. Once inside, they flashed revolvers and forced George Tabor, assistant manager, to open the safe. The Oriental is one of the two largest movie theaters in Chicago, situated in the heart of the Loop.

Two Youths Escape Death by Drowning

Maryland Pair Resuscitated After Washington Man Aids in Rescue.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 24.—After being submerged several minutes in the South River today Joseph Fink, 18 years old, of Otison, Md., and Frank F. Platner, 8 years old, also of Otison, Md., were rescued and resuscitated. Martin Eckels, a driver for a bakery, and an unidentified Washington motorist rescued the pair.

Frank Fink, father of Joseph, and a small daughter, Margaret, visited the beach for an outing with the two boys. The Platner boy waded into the water beyond his depth and shouted for help. The Fink boy waded after him but also got beyond his depth. Neither could swim.

Margaret screamed and attracted the attention of Eckels. Eckels swam out into the river, rescued the smaller boy, and brought him ashore.

The motorist, who was also attracted by the screams, swam out and grabbed the other boy and brought him ashore. After the rescue he hurried away.

Minister Among 30 Held in Dry Raids

"Marrying Parson" Denies Guilt; Says Arrest Due to Trickery.

Harrison, Ark., June 24 (A.P.).—A minister and 30 other persons today were at liberty under $1,000 bonds awaiting trial on charges of violating the prohibition laws, following a week-end raid in Boone, Searcy and Newton Counties by Federal agents.

The minister, the Rev. M. M. McEntire, has been prominent in the Baptist Church in this section of the State for 25 years and was known as the "marrying parson of Searcy County." He was charged with possessing, selling and transporting liquor.

Thad W. Bowman, assistant prohibition administrator for Arkansas and Missouri, who conducted the raids, said the drive would be continued.

The Rev. Mr. McEntire denied today he had engaged in the liquor business and attributed his arrest to an attempt to trick. He said no proof could be submitted to prove the charges.

ADMIRAL DIES

REAR ADMIRAL J. S. CARPENTER.

4-H CAMPERS TO SEE MRS. HOOVER TODAY

Delegates to Convention Will Close Meeting After White House Visit.

OTHER EVENTS PLANNED

A visit to the White House, where they will be received by Mrs. Hoover, is scheduled as the outstanding event on the program for the closing session today of the annual convention encampment here of delegates from 4-H Clubs throughout the United States and Hawaii.

The boys and girls already have inspected the White House grounds during their stay in Washington, but this will be their first opportunity to meet the First Lady, and it will also be their first visit inside the presidential mansion.

Another feature of the closing program is to be a talk by the Rev. W. S. Abernethy, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, who will address the campers in the National Museum Auditorium.

The clubs' annual pageant, "Hands Across the Sea," was presented last night, with members of various groups acting in scenes depicting numerous phases of 4-H work and illustrating how other nations throughout the world have contributed to the culture of the United States, making this a melting pot for the entire world.

Immediately preceding the pageant the boys and girls participated in an hour of recreational training at their encampment on the Mall.

Activities for the day began with a visit to the New National Museum, where Leonard W. Kephart, senior agronomist in the Bureau of Plant Industry, one of the explorers who collects rare plants from all parts of the world and sends them back to the United States to be put under cultivation, related his experiences during a recent trip to Africa, which he made chiefly to collect species of grasses from the high altitudes of that continent. Mr. Kephart's talk was illustrated with lantern slides showing the geographical features of Africa and the animal life there.

This was followed by conferences of club members and State leaders in the auditorium of the museum, after which the delegates visited the Natural History Building of Smithsonian Institution, the Capitol and Washington Monument.

At a conference of State club leaders during the afternoon, a design was approved for an official pin to be worn by the leaders. The design consists of a center of a four-leaf clover in raised cnamel, surrounded by a black circle, which, in turn, is surrounded by a border of white gold, the general shape of the pin to be octagonal.

Court Fines Youth Sailing Boiler Boat

Harris Forced the Macalester to Detour Because of His Queer Craft.

For causing the Steamer Charles Macalester to go off her course by paddling around the Potomac River in an antiquated iron boiler, Carl Harris, colored, 18 years old, was sent to jail for ten days in default of a $10 fine by Judge Gus A. Schuldt yesterday in Police Court.

With both ends of the boiler sealed up, Harris, clad in a bathing suit, launched out into the cool waters of the Potomac on Sunday while a dozen friends lined the river bank to witness the maiden voyage of the queer craft. As Harris reached the middle of the channel the "Charlie Mac" came on the scene, its whistles blowing a warning to the boiler-boat.

But Harris was not deterred from his course and forced the Macalester to go out of her way. Policeman W. J. Nalon, of the Harbor Precinct, then set out in a police launch, towed Harris and his craft to shore and placed the youth under arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Illegal Marriage Alleged in Divorce

Mrs. Emma L. Flattery, of 703 I street southeast, was granted an interlocutory decree of absolute divorce yesterday from John Francis Flattery, of Chelsea, Mass., by Justice Alfred A. Wheat in the District Supreme Court. The decree awarded Mrs. Flattery permanent custody of their minor son.

Mrs. Flattery instituted the suit through Attorneys Raymond Neudecker and William C. Ashford on grounds of misconduct and named a correspondent. The parties were married June 29, 1921, according to the bill of complaint, and Flattery deserted her in July, 1924. Mrs. Flattery charged that six months after the desertion, Flattery married again in Boston, Mass., without having first obtained a divorce.

Sudden Cloudburst Ties Up Ballston Road

Traffic along Lee highway in the vicinity of Ballston, in Arlington County, Va., was tied up for almost two hours by the sudden cloudburst yesterday, as motorists found it impossible to drive their cars through the torrents that poured down over the road, in some places reaching a depth of two feet or more.

Fuses in the power plant of the Virginia Public Service Corporation serving the Ballston district were blown out, leaving the area without lights or electric power for about two hours, before the damage could be repaired. The rain was accompanied by a high wind, but no serious damage was reported, and within a short time after the downpour stopped the water had soaked into the ground and traffic was moving normally again.

His length of continuous service was said to have been greater than any other officer who has served in the Supply Corps of the Navy.

During his lengthy career, Rear Admiral Carpenter served at numerous posts ashore and afloat and achieved prominence as the originator and developer of several efficient business methods employed by the Navy at the present time. During the Spanish-American War he was attached to the U. S. S. Texas and saw service aboard that ship in the battle with the Spanish fleet off Santiago. During the World War he was stationed at the Boston Navy Yard and for his services was awarded a special letter of commendation from the Navy.

Owen D. Young Confers With President Today

(United Press.)

President Hoover will turn his attention to the new European reparations settlement in a conference here today with Owen D. Young, American chairman of the commission which negotiated the settlement, and other American associates of Young.

The United States is directly interested only in the provision for reducing Germany's payments to this country, but indirectly this Government is concerned with the settlement in its bearing upon general European economic conditions. President Hoover will discuss the situation thoroughly at the luncheon conference at the White House with Young and his associates, who include J. P. Morgan, Thomas W. Lamont, and Thomas N. Parkins.

Salt Creek Leases Valid, Nye Advised

Senator Says Mitchell Ruling Will Close the Inquiry.

(Associated Press.)

Attorney General Mitchell advised Chairman Nye, of the Senate lands committee, yesterday that the investigation by the Department of Justice of the Salt Creek, Wyoming, oil leases had divulged "no legal basis" for the institution of suits attacking the contracts made by the Interior Department on this oil reserve.

The letter was accepted by Senator Nye as terminating the inquiry into the Salt Creek leases conducted by the lands committee last winter, and he said that unless new evidence is discovered a report to the Senate in line with the Attorney General's findings is expected to be made soon after Congress reconvenes.

Senator Nye declared, however, that he personally would not agree to any report unless it "scored the Democratic Payne-Tallman administration of the General Land Office for carelessness when the Salt Creek leases were originally entered into."

crocodiles and other representatives of the saurian division of the reptile tribe being at the other end.

It is pointed out that this will be the first time crocodiles, alligators and others of their type of reptiles have ever been exhibited in Washington in conditions comparable to those found in their native habitats; their section of the reptile house is to be constructed to reproduce a tropical swamp.

In order to accomplish this effect, Mr. Harris explained, it will be necessary to close off that end of the building so that tropical atmospheric conditions may be duplicated by artificial means. The public will glimpse this swamp and its denizens through heavy plate glass.

The new building will house the 400 reptiles now at the park, at present kept in the lion house, in the director's office, or wherever available space can be found.

Experiments are planned by Dr. Mann with vitra-glass, used in the present most modern reptile house in London, which admits violet sun rays. Consideration is also being given to the possibility of adopting arrangements for electric installations for heating, lighting and ventilation similar to those now used in the London reptile house.

The proposed reptile house is to be the second unit in the program of expansion planned for the park; it will follow the new bird house recently constructed and now declared to be the world's finest. In addition to the tropical swamp, it is also planned to reproduce in the building a tropical desert. A special exhibit of local reptiles is being arranged, and there will also be a section devoted to poisonous snakes, which will be segregated.

Dr. Mann brought back several new specimens from Europe and established many contacts there for later acquisitions. Among those he purchased are a horned frog from the Argentine, which he bought from a sailor who had brought it to Amsterdam; four spiney-tailed lizards of Indian origin; a brilliant green tree boa from northern Brazil; a sand-brown Arabian boa which Arab guides describe to tourists as a "two-headed snake," and a group of broad-tailed crocodiles from West Africa.

The itinerary included inspection of zoological gardens in England, Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Germany, Austria and Hungary, about half of these parks being municipally owned, while others are operated by private societies, often subsidized and all of which charge admission, Dr. Mann said.

Invariably, he explained, the reptile houses are the most popular exhibits, and a second fee is charged for admission to them. Unlike these European parks, the National Zoo here is open to the public without charge. At present it contains the largest reptile in captivity, a 26-foot Indian python, 6 rare Galapagos tortoises and a rare African black cobra.

After the proposed reptile house has been completed, it is planned to construct a $250,000 pachyderm and giraffe house, a $200,000 carnivore house, a $150,000 ape, lemur and small-animal house, a $100,000 antelope, buffalo and wild-cattle house, a $100,000 wing with aviaries and pheasant and game-bird runs added to the present bird house; an $85,000 high iron fence around the 175-acre park, an $80,000 open barless exhibition section for bears, lions and tigers, and a $10,000 monkey pit.

Dr. Mann and Mr. Harris plan to leave next week for St. Louis, where they will study a new reptile house and barless bear pit in the municipal zoo there.

Man Found Slain in Road Thought Boxing Official

Flushing, N. Y., June 24 (U.P.).—A man believed to be Frank Marlow, State boxing commissioner of Ohio, was found lying in a clump of bushes at the side of a lonely road tonight suffering from fatal revolver wounds.

Police said the man apparently had been "taken for a ride." Shortly after he was found, and before medical aid could reach him, he died. An automobile operator's license and other papers in his pocket tentatively identified him as Marlow, police said.

REALTORS GET BIG NOTE FROM HOOVER

Plane Carries Message Typed on Huge Typewriter to Conclave in Boston.

ETHICAL RULES DRAFTED

Special to The Washington Post.

Boston, June 24.—The arrival by airplane of a special greeting from President Hoover to President Harry H. Culver, of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, this afternoon featured the preopening day activities of the twenty-second annual convention of that body.

Said to be the largest communication ever sent out over the presidential signature, the message, as written by President Hoover, was sent by air mail from Washington, D. C., to Atlantic City, N. J., where it was written on a giant typewriter in letters six inches high on stationery 15 by 9 feet. From Atlantic City the message was brought to Boston by a special Roosevelt biplane, to which it was fastened in a 9-foot mailing tube.

The airport committee of the Boston Real Estate Exchange was at the airport to receive the message, which reads as follows:

President Hoover's Message.

"My Dear Mr. Culver:

"I cordially share your view that an outstanding opportunity for public service awaits the realtors on the field of stimulation of home ownership, which is so vitally related to the health, happiness and civic pride of our people.

"Yours faithfully,

(Signed) "HERBERT HOOVER."

The message will be unfolded and read at the general convention sessions tomorrow afternoon.

A delegation from Washington, accompanied by representatives from Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit and a few Southern cities, totaling 75 in all, arrived at the North Station this morning from Quebec, having toured eastern Canada before turning toward the convention here.

Ethical Regulations Drafted.

The board of directors of the association went into session this morning at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. The outstanding accomplishment of their deliberations was the putting of their stamp of approval on standards of practice for the appraisal of real estate. This set of standards, which has been two years in preparation, is considered likely to mark a great step forward in the real estate business.

The delegate body, the official representatives of the association's member boards, will pass upon the standards at the official business meeting of the convention to be held Friday afternoon at the Hotel Statler.

If accepted the standards of practice will become the recommended standards for use by real estate boards' appraisal committees and realty appraisers. The standards consist of detailed statement of how appraisals should be made to insure against malpractice and to safeguard the accuracy and soundness of appraisals.

Most of the delegates who already have arrived went on a sightseeing tour this morning and afternoon.

70 Million Miles Year's Air Record

Increase in Distance Flown Noted by Lamont in Review of 1928.

(Associated Press.)

Airplanes flew 70,500,000 miles in the United States last year.

This fact was announced yesterday by Secretary Lamont in connecton with the approaching third anniversary on July 1 of the establishment of the aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce. Secretary Lamont said that with the aeronautics branch completing its third year of service it was fitting to review aircraft development at this time.

"During this period," he said, "a number of historic flights have been made, both oceans have been spanned by aircraft, and the foundations have been laid for a great transportation system over which swift aerial carriers will bear their cargoes of mail, express and passengers to every corner of the globe."

The Secretary estimated that during the first six months of this year planes flew 8,000,000 miles over the air transport lines. This figure compared with a mileage of 10,500,000 for all of 1928 and 5,870,489 for 1927.

PROFESSOR DENIED CITIZENSHIP PAPERS

Scruples Against Bearing Arms in Time of War Block Naturalization.

INSISTS ON RESERVATION

New Haven, Conn., June 24 (A.P.).—Because of conscientious scruples against swearing to a question of taking up arms in the defense of his country, Prof. Douglas C. MacIntosh, Dwight professor of theology at Yale Divinity School, today was refused admission to citizenship of the United States by Judge Warren B. Burrows, of the naturalization court. In a preliminary hearing the status of Prof. MacIntosh had been marked as questionable. When he appeared before the naturalization court this morning he requested citizenship admission under reservations.

After Prof. MacIntosh was sworn by the clerk of court he was asked to answer question 22 on the preliminary papers, referring to the taking up of arms in defense of the United States, if it became necessary.

He replied he would take up arms with the reservation that the war in which he was asked to serve should be for what he considered a just cause. He said he could swear allegiance to the United States as well as he could to any country, and after his allegiance he would owe no other country no duty higher than to this country.

Judge Burrows, in refusing Prof. MacIntosh to citizenship, said that the President had the power to command the Nation's fighting units in time of war. To allow any citizens the use of his own discretion would open the way to presumption by every citizens as to the justness or unjustness of war, and would leave the President without any power whatever.

Prof. MacIntosh was born in Canada and was graduated from McMasters University in 1903. He joined the faculty of Yale in 1919. During the World War he saw active service in France as a chaplain in the Canadian army and later as a Y. M. C. A. worker with the A. E. F. He was represented today in court by Dean Charles E. Clark, of the Yale law school. Dean Clark announced after citizenship had been refused, that he would appeal the case of Prof. Macintosh to the United States District Court of the second circuit in New York City.

Saltis Sentenced To 30 Days in Jail

Former Beer Racketeer Is Given Stay of Execution Until July 9.

Chicago, June 24 (A.P.).—Joe Saltis may be through with the beer racket, but not with jails. Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward decided today the "Big Shott" should serve 30 days in jail for violation of the prohibition law, after Saltis pleaded guilty to a four-year-old charge.

Saltis and his chief lieutenant, Patrick F. Sullivan, were assured a good independence Day celebration July 4 when the judge considerately granted a stay of execution of sentence until July 9.

"That's fine," remarked Saltis, when told of his place of future confinement "I know that guy down there."

He proclaimed his departure from the beer-running game.

"I've been out of the racket some time," he explained, "but the racket would not let me alone. This is the last Federal or State charge against me."

The charge against Saltis and Sullivan was transportation of liquor from Green Ridge, Pa., to Chicago.

Australia Mill Strike Ended by Compromise

Melbourne, Australia, June 24 (A.P.). Protracted strike of timber mill workers in Australia has been ended by a conference which reached an agreement forming a compromise between the two previous awards of the federal arbitration court.

All union workers will be taken back. The 44-hour week has been retained in some cases, the 48-hour week being adopted in others. The strike resulted in a drastic tie-up in building operations.

Strain Upon Truth

The strain upon truth in advertising becomes too great when the public is told that other cigarettes enjoy the toasting process. It takes three years to produce Lucky Strike's flavor. This unrivaled cigarette is a blend of finest tobaccos from each of three consecutive growths—the cream of the crop. Then comes the secret toasting process which in the opinion of 20,679* physicians, makes Lucky Strike less irritating than other cigarettes. This exclusive heat treatment also purifies the tobacco and adds a touch of nut-sweet flavor—appetizing, delicious, different—the earmark of one of the world's most popular products.

THRONGS SEE BOOTH BURIED NEAR FATHER

Flags of Many Nations Float Over Simple Cortege of Man of Peace.

DAUGHTER LEADS SERVICE

London, June 24 (A.P.).—Gen William Bramwell Booth, second leader of the Salvation Army and its head until last winter, sleeps tonight by the side of the founder, his father, in a flower-decked corner of Abney Park Cemetery.

The funeral scene today will live in the history of the Army as the epitomization of all that religious-social organization represents. There was no evidence of sadness. There was regret, but no sorrow, for, as the Army phrased it, their general had been promoted to glory.

More persons witnessed the last journey today of the man of peace than had paid a final tribute to the great Duke of Wellington. The conqueror of men had drawn the plaudits of hundreds, but many thousands turned out today to see the conqueror of souls to his last resting place.

Many Flags Wave.

The funeral cortege, simplicity itself except for the bright colors of flags of many nations under which the Army has worked, attracted as much public attention as though he had been royalty. It approached the graveside to the tune of joyous hymns.

A platform covered with bright colors had been erected over the grave, while all around was a carpet of summer flowers whose odors permeated the surrounding atmosphere. Even the grave was lined with sweet peas.

The standard-bearers of the procession made a circle around the grave, raising their banners high. Ten thousand voices answered the request of Commissioner Catherine Booth, daughter of the general, to sing the stirring music of the army. Then followed a moment of silence and prayer.

His Bible on Coffin.

Speaker after speaker went on to tell of his love for the general and the greatness of his work. There rested on the coffin the peaked army cap and spectacles of the general and a Bible open at the place where he had last read.

During the ceremony Mrs. Booth sat motionless, her eyes fixed on the casket. Not until it was being lowered did her courage desert her for a moment. Then a tear trickled down her face, but she brushed it resolutely away and walked with quick firm steps to the platform.

"Our general," she said, "has entered into the joy of his Lord." She exhorted her hearers to follow the examples of her husband and then led them in saying the Lord's Prayer. Commissioner Catherine said the committal sentences.

Rites for Dr. Crossman Today.

Hines, director of the bureau, will be brought to Washington for burial at Arlington National Cemetery, tomorrow morning.

Wife's Housekeeper Role Makes Mate Suitor Again

Chicago, June 24 (A.P.).—For one year Mrs. John A. Speyer, receiving a weekly stipend of $10, acted as housekeeper for her husband and governess for her own children—four of them. Today Judge Joseph Sabath granted her a divorce. She will continue in her position which she claimed was vastly more tenable than the wifely status.

A year ago, Mrs. Speyer complained her husband beat her and otherwise treated her cruelly. Judge Sabath suggested the housekeeper idea.

Mrs. Speyer tried it. The "mean" husband again became a suitor. Even the children remarked the change in "Daddy." So Judge Sabath, in signing the divorce decree, made the arrangement permanent.

Mrs. Speyer admitted that if Mr. Speyer continued courting wedding bells might ring again.

CONTEMPT WARRANT HOLDS MAYOR HAGUE

political corrupton in the mayor's administration and leadership.

Today's action was authorized by chapter 1 of the laws of 1929, an act introduced by Senator Clarence E. Case, chairman of the original committee, after Hague attacked the power of the Legislature to cause his arrest last year. The maximum penalty he would face if the Legislature votes a conviction, would be six months in jail.

The mayor's arrest was not unexpected. The committee reported to the 1929 legislature that he refused to answer a series of more than 50 questions that sought the answer to the source of the mayors alleged wealth, the reason for his alleged purchase of a $65,000 home through a dummy, who was reimbursed in cash, and the amount of money he had on deposit in bank.

This afternoon the legislature in joint session, asked the questions again. Hague previously announced he would again refuse to answer, and he held to that assertion.

After a somewhat stormy session occasioned by the Democratic members defense of the witness, and during which the legislature formally voted the queries "proper and pertinent," both houses retired to their respective chambers to pass ten resolutions citing the mayor in contempt, each resolution was a warrant for his arrest.

Both houses thereupon adjourned until July 2, and Mayor Hague was served with warrants.

Body of Baby Girl Found In Sewer; Quiz Started

The body of a 7-months-old baby girl, fully clothed, was found yesterday afternoon in a sewer at Second and N streets northeast. The body was removed to the Morgue, where a superficial examination revealed that it was that of a white child.

Boys playing baseball in the vicinity made the discovery when they raised the lid of the sewer to find a ball which had been lost. Police of the Ninth Precinct and the headquarters homicide squad are investigating.

LABOR PARLIAMENT TO ELECT SPEAKER

Capt. Edward A. Fitzroy Will Probably Be Retained at Session Today.

VOTE POLICY TO BE TOLD

London, June 24 (A.P.).—The second parliament to sit under a Labor government in the long history of the United Kingdom will reassemble tomorrow, but the only business for the day is the election of a speaker.

The new government has decided in accordance with general custom, the speakership not being considered a partisan office, to reelect the speaker of the last parliament. Accordingly, Capt. Edward A. Fitzroy will be formally proposed for the office he held last year and undoubtedly will be unanimously elected.

Political observers thought that if the Labor party had a majority over all other parties in the House, they might have departed from custom and proposed a speaker from their own ranks. Having no definite assurance of continuance in office and being satisfied with the manner in which Capt. Fitzroy had conducted his office, it was felt to be needless to make a change.

Once the speaker is chosen, the House of Commons can proceed the following day to swear in its new members. This formality will occupy two days.

One of the most interesting things Parliament is expecting to hear is a statement from the premier on what he would consider a vital defeat for the government. As a general rule no public anouncement of this kind is made, all questions of conference being left to be dealt with as occasion arises.

The situation of the Labor Government is somewhat different. It does not command a majority of the whole house, and the question of what would become a vote of confidence is much more serious for such a ministry. In 1924 Mr. MacDonald, then being in even greater minority, announced that he would ignore defeats on minor questions. His first government was in fact defeated ten times on matters he declined to accept as vital. The premier is expected to make a similar announcement now to protect himself against possible defeat on a minor question.

BODIES DISINTERRED IN POISONING CASE

Dead Husband and Eldest Son of Mrs. Stone Exhumed for Examination.

FORMER BOARDER FREED

Havre de Grace, Md., June 24 (A.P.). Chemical analysis of the viscera of Edward Stone and Edgar Stone, husband and oldest son, respectively, of Mrs. Hattie Stone, whose bodies were exhumed early today, will take nearly two weeks, State's Attorney W. Worthington Hopkins said tonight, adding that additional charges, of murder would be filed against Mrs. Stone if analysis disclosed the presence of poison.

Mrs. Stone continued her denial that she had poisoned her younger son, George, 15, with whose murder she stands charged. She is being held in jail at Belair, awaiting action of the September grand jury.

Both Edward and Edgar Stone died under circumstances similar to those surrounding the death of George.

The body of Mrs. Mary Emma Stone, mother-in-law of the accused woman, whose death also resembled that of George, was not exhumed. Mrs. Stone died four years ago. Edgar died a year ago and Edward eighteen months ago.

The bodies were taken from their graves in the Angel Hill Cemetery at 3 o'clock this morning under direction of Sheriff Dewey Bowman. Edward Stone, the husband, died about eighteen months ago and Edgar Stone, the older son, about two years ago.

James Aberts, former boarder at the Stone home who had been held several days for questioning, was released today without bail. He promised officials he would return for questioning if wanted.

William P. F. Ferguson Dies.

GIBSON MAY RETURN HERE FOR NAVY TALK

that the two Ambassadors will have a general discussion of the international situation, although they have more particularly held the spotlight as agents of President Hoover in seeking solution of the naval problem. The visit of the Ambassador to Belgium will extend as long as Gen. Dawes wishes for complete analysis of issues faced by the American Government.

Mr. Gibson tonight thought it quite unlikely that the discussions would result in any immediate announcement of great public interest. "I came to see Gen. Dawes at his request and on instructions from Washington," he said. "Our talk will be a general one and I will be here as long as he wants me." He admitted that the naval program would be one subject of discussion.

Doubts Immediate Action.

Mr. Gibson was met at Victoria Station by Henry Dawes, nephew and secretary of the Ambassador, and driven immediately in the embassy motor car to the Dawes residence, where he will remain as guest. Mr. Gibson did not anticipate that he would have contact with the British foreign office "unless Gen. Dawes wishes."

British official quarters today indicated that they knew nothing of the visit of Ambassador Gibson except what they had seen in the newspapers. It was understood on the British side there were no new developments in the disarmament negotiations.

British Welcome Conference.

British public opinion welcomes the coming of Mr. Gibson as another significant move in the agitation for settlement of the outstanding issue between Great Britain and the United States. His activities and experience at Geneva were recalled and belief was in informed circles that the meeting of the two American Ambassadors should prove fruitful.

Some observers pointed out that when two such dynamic personalities and fearless negotiators as Gen. Dawes and Mr. Gibson get together their material progress is almost inevitable.

International problems, particularly those related to Anglo-American affairs, hold a big place in popular thought even though at the moment the attention of the country is centered upon the program of the new labor government which will be revealed in the king's speech at the convening of Parliament.

COED KILLER'S TRIAL IS SET FOR JULY 22

Snook's Attorneys Indicate They Will Seek Change of Venue.

MEETS GAZE OF FATHER

Columbus, O., June 24 (AP).—Dr. James Howard Snook, 49, dismissed University professor and confessed hammer slayer of Theora K. Hix, 25, Ohio State coed, will go on trial on charges of first degree murder in criminal court here July 22 unless he obtains a change of venue, which his attorneys indicated they might seek when Dr. Snook was arraigned today. Dr. Snook stood before a crowd that jammed the criminal court room of Judge Robert Duncan and entered a plea of not guilty to an indictment charging him with "malicious and premeditated" murder.

Snook looked around the room and caught the gaze of another man who stood erect and defiant. The other man was Melvin T. Hix, retired educator and father of the slain coed. Their eyes met for only a moment, then Dr. Snook bowed his head, moistened his lips and turned away. He spoke the words: "Not guilty," calmly and distinctly. Except for the moment when his eyes met those of Mr. Hix, he displayed the calm demeanor that he has exhibited most of the time since his arrest ten days ago.

County Prosecutor John J. Chester asked that the trial date be set for the week of July 22, and Judge Duncan acceded.

Dr. Snook confessed last Thursday that he hammered Miss Hix into unconsciousness on a darkened rifle range on the rim of the city a week before, then severed her jugular vein with his pocket knife "to end her suffering."

He said he killed her because she had threatened to kill his wife and baby.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney W. B. Bartels said today that the Federal investigation thus far had not brought to light any connection between the slaying and drug traffic.

Mrs Evelyn Bassidy

and throughout America a great assemblage of 14,761 leading beauty experts agree!

"THE first requisite to a smooth, fresh complexion is a clean skin," the beauty specialists of Hollywood agree. And they tell their patrons of the moving picture set and the social world that Palmolive Soap and water is the best way to keep the skin clean—"the best way to safeguard the most delicate complexion," as Hepner, of Hollywood, puts it.

Every beauty expert of any consequence in the whole movie colony—76 of the 80 shops—agrees with the leading beauty experts of the continent on the effectiveness of this 2-minute treatment.

Such a simple treatment, too!

Massage the smooth, creamy Palmolive lather gently into the pores. Rinse with both warm and cold water. Before going out use an ice water rinse as astringent. Then, make-up! This is the basis for the most elaborate beauty care of world-famous specialists. It explains the tremendous popularity of Palmolive Soap, which is today the second toilet soap in France, where beauty culture is an art; the very first soap in America and forty-eight other countries.

Since it is so very inexpensive it is used for the bath as well as the face. Millions enjoy its refreshing cleanliness. Why don't you?

MAN, 4 CHILDREN DIE IN TRAIN-CAR CRASH

Seven Other Youngsters Are Hurt, Two Seriously, in New York Wreck.

DRIVER OF AUTO, 35, DEAD

Sheffield, Mass., June 24 (U.P.).—Five persons, four of them children, were killed and seven other children were injured here this afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a New York bound train at a grade crossing.

Two of the children, who ranged in age from 6 to 14 years, were so seriously injured that they may die.

The only body which could be immediately identified was that of Hyman Melaned, about 35, driver of the car.

Melaned also owned the farm at which the children were boarding for the summer months.

Of the four others killed, two died instantly and two on the way to a hospital.

Melaned was on his way to the village with the children to get the afternoon mail at the time of the accident. A short distance from the boarding farm, on the way to the main road to the village, is an unguarded crossing.

The driver apparently did not notice the approaching train and drove directly into its path with the load of children.

night in the absence of Maj. W. L. Peak, superintendent. Sinclair, a drug clerk in his younger days, is a clerk in the jail pharmacy.

Deputy Marshal John J. Clarkson, with the necessary commitment papers, met Day at the jail door on his arrival. After answering questions for the record, according to Campbell, the second oil man to be sentenced for jury shadowing in the Teapot Dome conspiracy trial was taken to the dormitory, in a different part of the jail entirely, Campbell said, from the quarters occupied by Sinclair. Campbell added Day did not see Sinclair last night.

As he entered the jail Day handed a statement to newspaper men insisting that he is not guilty of any criminal activity.

"I say now, as I said then, that I am not conscious of having committed any wrongful act," Day said. "I emphatically deny that anything I did in connection with the trial of Mr. Harry F. Sinclair was done with improper, much less criminal intent.

"I don't want to dodge the real issue that is in the public mind. Some people think that Mr. Sinclair and I, through agents we employed, sought to approach or influence the jury that was to try Mr. Sinclair, my friend and employer.

"No such idea or intent ever entered our heads. On the contrary, our instructions were that no member of the jury was to be approached directly or indirectly, and no juror was approached. This is proven by the fact that all of the jurymen stated under oath on the witness stand that they were not even conscious of the fact that they were under observation.

"After I have served out my sentence I shall continue to live in New York. I am now and shall be able to look any man straight in the eye, as I have all my life. I have nothing to live down. I have something to live through for a time, and as a decent and law-abiding man I am sure that I shall come out of this experience with at least the measure of confidence and respect that I have earned by the way I have lived and acted in business, in war, and in private life."

Bingham Drive Open to Traffic

Bingham drive, in Rock Creek Park, which has been closed for about a month while undergoing repairs, was opened to traffic yesterday. The roadway was damaged by heavy trucks that were deflected off the Military road while a bridge was being erected.

1. He was an American.
2. He did not hold public office.
3. Several times he was a candidate for President.
4. He did not receive the electoral votes of any State.
5. He died since the World War.
6. He served a term in prison.

Shopping with Bab on Connecticut Avenue

DEAREST GENEVIEVE:

You said you were looking for some attractive beach logs which were not expensive, and so I must tell you that I have found just what you are looking fo. Drop me a line and I will tell you where they are. They are only one-fifty a pair, and you said six-fifty was the best you had been able to find.

Sun-back bathing suits are practically all you see at the fashionable swimming places, and so many of the girls are wearing gayly patterned overalls for lounging in the sand at the beaches, and big shade hats of coarse straw, that the scene suggests a farm scene in a musical comedy.

Further Reductions At the Betty Hanna

—are announced for this week. In the group which has been repriced are some darker frocks and suits, which will be valuable to you if you are planning to travel this summer. They would be fine to wear in the autumn, too. There are several evening gowns, and some evening wraps which should interest you greatly, particularly at the new prices in effect today.

The Betty Hanna Shop, 1613 Connecticut avenue, will close the 13th of July, so everything in the shop is to be sold out regardless before that time.

Dining in a Real Garden

—with your feet on the ground, and growing things all around you, has its advantages. The garden at the Huguenot is immensely popular, especially for dinner, although it is crowded every day for luncheon.

The Huguenot is at 1359 Connecticut avenue and serves luncheon, tea and dinner except on Sunday, when it serves only dinner, beginning at five-thirty. There are two floors and private rooms and everything to give you a pleasant time.

John Slaughter's Dance Orchestra

—plays on The Powhatan Roof for dinner and dancing up to closing. There is no better music in Washington, and every one agrees that there is something distinctive and individual in the performance of this splendid orchestra, which has played on this roof for a number of seasons.

The popularity of this roof this season exceeds anything it has ever known, and the tables are filled to capacity night after night. The dancing space is so large and roomy and the height so great that the breezes waft through from every direction.

Last Sunday night was the first night that the roof has been open for dinner. It will be open every Sunday night from now on. For week nights it is wise to call up and reserve your table.

The Sale Is On At Herron's

—the same sale I told you of last week. Not as many things left to select from as there were at first, but you will find a good selection of sleeveless wash silks and a few darker frocks which are good to have for certain days, now and later.

You will be pleased to find that there are some frocks as low as $8.50 each. All prices are extremely moderate, and if you want some additional frocks to fill your needs for the summer, do go in and see this selection, or what is left of it. Herron's, 1735 Connecticut Ave.

Speed Boats On The Potomac River

—have joined the ranks of things to enjoy in a Washington summer. You have heard me say for some time, that the speed boats at Hains Point, which are for the use of the public, are the greatest boon thought of yet. You may be interested to know that it was this same fleet of boats which won all the races in the events last Saturday. The Gar Wood is the boat used. It is so fast, so safe and so trim and smart-looking, it is no wonder that crowds visit this dock every day, to cool off on the river.

The fare is only $1 for a ride and you go for fifteen or 20 minutes. The men in charge are all experts in handling boats of every kind, speed boats in particular, and are qualified and experienced lifesavers, too, if that increases your confidence in them.

The Gar Wood boats at Hains Point are in great demand for private parties, by the hour or day. A group of people on a hot day recently chartered one of the boats and went zipping up the river to a nice cove they knew about, where they stopped for a picnic supper and came back in the moonlight.

The Potomac Flying Service, which owns Hoover Field, is responsible for this new activity. The same care and organization which have made Hoover Field such a success, characterize the operation of the speed boat service.

Always Remember When Choosing

—a place to eat, that there is The Cavalier Cafe, a delightfully cool and pleasant place. This little restaurant at 3500 Fourteenth street has a regular following of patronage, people who come two or three times a week for dinner or luncheon or even breakfast. They are so well pleased and like it so much, that it seems only fair to tell everyone about it.

The moderate prices are a definite attraction, although the surroundings are so agreeable and the service and food so satisfactory that one must admit everything about the place contributes to its success.

Such Stately Impressive Brides

—are featured in the window of Underwood & Underwood this week! Brides seem to get prettier and prettier, and pictures bigger and handsomer. Underwood & Underwood surely have a flair for bridal portraits, and make the most exquisite pictures, with the loveliest lighting and soft finish. Most of these pictures are made in the home, needless to say, and so do not come under the discount now in effect.

Yesterday morning I looked at the carved wooden frames, which have been marked down 50 per cent. They are extremely good-looking, and it is surprising to learn that the price includes framing for you, too.

The reduction on pictures includes reprints from sittings already made, and from negatives already in the studio, as well as new sittings, made, of course, in the studio.

Twenty-five per cent discount is quite considerable if you figure what that amount off from a large order will mean to you. No matter when you want to use your pictures, now is surely the time to have them made. It goes without saying that the same fine work is used in taking and finishing.

We All Had Tea At Plage Deauville

—at Wardman Park on Saturday. Gourley had invited some friends to bid farewell to Vera before she sails for Europe for the summer. If you had thought that no one is in town on Saturday afternoon, I wish you might have seen all the people you know enjoying the swimming in the pool, and sitting in gay beach coats afterward at the pretty tea tables.

Meyer Davis' Chantecler Orchestra played all afternoon and a great many people found it a cool diversion to dance to such music. The Plage Deauville is open for dinner and dancing. It seems the music plays until 10 or 10:30. The swimming pool is so arranged this year that water flows through it constantly.

If You Are Going to Europe

—and have not yet made definite plans, do go in to see about joining a little party which sails on the Albertic on July 6th. Miss Dorothy Williams, of the Spence School in New York, is in charge of the party. They will land in London, spend a week in England, go to Holland, Germany, the Swiss lakes, Italy, the Riviera, Rome, Paris, and home on the Majestic. This is the most gorgeous trip and at such a moderate cost.

To join a party of this kind is the pleasantest and most economical way to do Europe, and it is entirely unlike the old-fashioned idea of a traveling party.

Step in the Willard Hotel and find out more about it, at the C. C. Drake Travel Bureau, which is under the management of Miss Elizabeth Persons. I went to Europe with her party last year, and must say nothing could be better.

Cool Salads Are Delicious

—in hot weather. The Iron Gate Inn, 1734 N street, makes a specialty of green salads and chilled salads at this season. Next time you go there, order their cucumber boat salad, which is so good! They serve a cantaloupe full of fruit salad, which is appetizing, too.

Every one who enters The Iron Gate speaks about how very cool and breezy it is. It has a sweep of air right through and plenty of open space around it, so it could not be anything but cool. Luncheon, tea and dinner are served here every day.

Affectionately,

Bab

TUNNEY DENIES BID TO MARRY WOMAN

Retired Champion Answers $500,000 Suit by Mrs. Katherine Fogarty.

PAYMENTS ARE ADMITTED

Bridgeport, Conn., June 24 (A.P.).—James J. (Gene) Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, in an answer today to the $500,000 breach of promise suit brought against him by Mrs. Katherine King Fogarty, of Fort Worth, Tex., and New York City, denied that he had ever asked her to marry him, but said that he had paid her sums exceeding $35,000 to "relinquish all claims on him."

On the eve of the second Dempsey-Tunney fight, Billy Gibson, the retired champion's manager, paid Mrs. Fogarty $1 to sign a waiver to claims on Tunney, and on the eve of the Tunney-Heeney fight, $35,000 to sign another release, according to the answer, the payments being made as "a matter of good business judgment."

All her claims at the time, it was said, "were baseless," but Manager Gibson feared publicity that Mrs. Fogarty might give to them might hurt Tunney's prestige and result in lowered gate receipts and would so unnerve the champion as to jeopardize his chances of winning the bouts.

The answer asked that Mrs. Fogarty be compelled to abide by her waivers and that she be restrained forever from further annoying Tunney with law suits. The allegation was made that she has been seeking to exploit her acquaintanceship with Tunney for purposes of personal prestige and financial gain. No specific mention is made of the alleged marriage proposal, but general denial is made in legal phraseology: "The defendant denies the truth of the matter in the plaintiff's complaint."

Mrs. Fogarty charges Tunney with having proposed in 1925, shortly after her divorce from John S. Fogarty, of Fort Worth, and says she accepted him. He then married "another person"—Polly Lauder.

Knives and Hail of Stones Silence Nude Cult Leader

Speaker, Attired Only in Nature's Garb, Who Expounds New "Gospel," Is Rescued From Irate Mob by Police of Houston; Now Clothed in Bandages.

Houston, Tex., June 24 (N.Y.W.N.S.)—Europe's "back to nature" movement invaded a negro section of Houston yesterday, and today Dee James, 27, "preacher," who tried to expound the new "gospel" while clothed in strict conformity with his ideas, is in the City Hospital fully garbed in bandages.

Dee gathered a crowd around him on a sidewalk, set up on a box for a pulpit, dived into a house for a moment and came out sans clothes. There were yells, gasps and incoherent mutterings.

Dee began preaching on the glories of nature sans adornment and the health-giving effect of sun on cuticle. The audience grew as if by magic to around 1,000.

"You'd be surprised how delightful you feel without clothes," Dee exhorted. "The pure sunshine bathes your body in health-giving rays."

Then some one hurled a brick. Dee dodged, but a shower of stones and debris followed. Knives flashed. Dee tried to escape, but was hemmed in.

When the police got there with a speed that probably saved Dee from becoming a religious martyr, they found him bruised all over, and with a knife wound here and there.

The nude cult will not reinvade Houston's negro sections, police believe.

Texan Killed in Mexico, Believed From Ambush

Laredo, Texas, June 24 (A.P.).—Slain, apparently from ambush, as he sat in his automobile at the gate of his La Frances ranch in Mexico yesterday, the body of James B. Hazelrigg, 56, cattleman, was brought to Laredo today. Hazlerigg had gone to the ranch, four miles northwest of Nuevo Laredo, to engage in a roundup.

SPANISH FLIERS LOST, PREMIER BELIEVES

chanic who accompanied Maj. Franco on his 1926 flight, asked for a plane that he might seek his beloved commander. The Italian naval attache here offered the services of a large seaplane at Barcelona and a Spanish aviation officer, Lieut. Navarro, was immediately assigned to accompany the Italian crew on the search.

The Spanish government requested all merchantmen to keep a sharp lookout while traversing the areas in which the plane may have come down and the steamship Marques de Comillas, enroute from New York to Seville, deviated from its course to follow more exactly the supposed route of the aviators.

The four Spanish destroyers which left Ferrol at 8 a. m. today under full steam were the Alsedo, Velasco, Juan Lazaga, and the Sachez-Barcaiztegui.

It was considered unwise to order out a big seaplane stationed at Melilla, Morocco, and a second plane at Cartagena, from which Maj. Franco started, was not in condition to fly.

At the cabinet meeting tonight the minister of marine deplored the fact that a false message announcing arrival of the plane at the Azores which was made public by the government had delayed starting a search for 36 hours.

The premier telephoned the bad news to King Alfonso at Paris, who had left Spain when it was believed that all was well.

Lisbon, June 24 (A.P.).—The government today ordered the Monsanto radio station here to keep in constant communication with Horta and other stations in the Azores so that the Portugese gunboat Zaire when it resumes its search for the missing Spanish aviators may immediately transmit any information.

Lutheran Ministry Closed To Women, Asserts Leader

Bible Warns Against Their Having Active Voice in Church Guidance, Declares Prof. J. T. Mueller at St. Louis Convention; Sums for Education.

Riverforest, Ill., June 24 (A.P.).—The ministry of the Luthern Church is a closed field to women regardless of the modern tendency of some other Protestant churches to permit women to occupy the pulpit, declared Prof. J. T Mueller, of Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, today attending the thirty-fourth triennial convention of the Evangelical Luthern Missouri Synod.

"The Luthern Church is positive in its stand that women shall not have an active voice in church leadership," he said. "It is not through any prejudice against women or their ability, but simply that nowhere in the Bible can one find reference to a woman leading a church.

"We base our practices on the Bible, and the Bible expressly sets forth in Cor. 14: 'let the women keep silence in the church.' Further, when Jesus established the first church, he did not appoint any women to preach the gospel" he said. "However, women occupy positions of much influence in the church, for they can serve as deaconesses and great praise must be given their work as missionaries," Prof. Mueller said.

The convention today appropriated $1,039,258.51. Of this amount $256,000 annually for the next three years is to be given to home mission activities. The remainder was apportioned to colleges, including $105,000 to Concordia College, Conover, N. C., for a new building.

The Rev. F. J. Lankenau, Napoleon, Ohio, was named first vice president of synod.

A general view of the interior, from the entrance on Fourteenth Street Northwest

See what critics pronounce the most beautiful business interior in all Washington

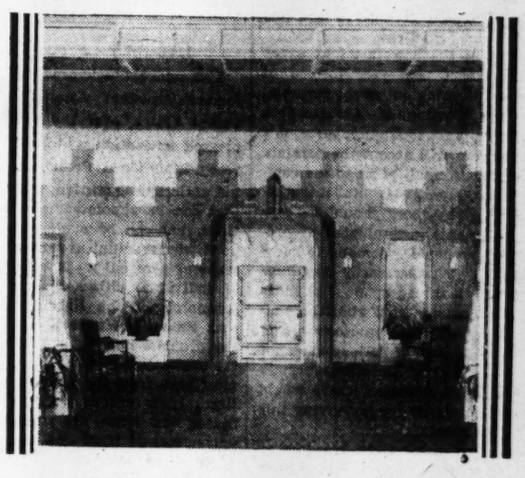
Attend the formal opening of our new Frigidaire display room June 25th to July 3rd

HERE is a long and spacious showroom tastefully decorated in the modern manner. Nothing has been left undone to make it the most beautiful and unusual business interior in all Washington.

The walls are finished in the sky-line silhouette motif. The soft diffused light comes from behind opaque glass in the ornamental mouldings. The floor is covered with rich carpetings . . . deep-piled and luxurious. The desks, the chairs, the tables, the clever wall sconces and desk lamps, were all especially designed by leading modernists.

It is a room refreshing in its newness yet dignified in its reserve. We believe this new showroom to be the perfect setting for Frigidaire . . . the truly modern electric refrigerator.

You are cordially invited to attend our Formal Opening. A special program has been arranged including a dessert making demonstration . . . a demonstration of the Frigidaire Room Cooler . . . an exhibit showing how running ice water can be furnished in the home. Desserts will be served to all visitors, and a souvenir book will be given. Open 10:00 A. M. to 10:00 P. M.



A view of the display case and mirrors at the rear of the showroom. Concealed lights make the handsome Frigidaire Cabinet sparkle and glisten like a huge gem. Critics say that this showroom typifies all that is good and intrinsically beautiful in modernism.

NAVAL REDUCTION SECRECY.

President Hoover's naval reduction program will be adversely affected in more ways than one unless a means is found for giving the public some little intimation of what the present and mysterious preliminary negotiations are all about. Secrecy, which Mr. Hoover doubtless dislikes, is beginning to enshroud the advance stages of the whole proposition and a reduction of the maze of unnecessary mystery now seems to be the prime requisite.

Ambassadors Dawes and Gibson are to meet in London today and the occasion seems appropriate for letting in a few rays of light. It will be generally assumed that Mr. Gibson will go over the results of the last Geneva Conference where the American yardstick for measuring relative fighting strength of navies was submitted for consideration in detail. It will likewise be assumed that the visit of Mr. Gibson means an effort to have discussion by the powers of the American yardstick resumed at an early date. But unless something authoritative is forthcoming after the ambassadors meet there is certain to be a resumption of rumors, speculation and conflicting reports. And the cup is already full to overflowing with unwarranted rumors of many sorts.

False hopes followed the conference between Premier MacDonald and Ambassador Dawes because the public was led to believe that some miracle was to be performed to initiate a warless world. The era of disarmament and lasting peace was to begin with the heralded speeches of MacDonald and Dawes. That portion of the populace which believes peace can be procured by waving a magic wand was not alone in its idealistic optimism. The executive secretary of the Commission on International Justice and Good Will of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America announced yesterday that a major movement is being formed to obtain ratification of the naval reduction treaty this fall.

Yet no responsible official here has even the faintest hope that there will be any naval reduction agreement this fall. The misguided idealists are basing their hopes on the false impressions which come through lack of reasonable understanding of what the naval powers are striving to do. Nothing is gained by permitting them to be misled.

Under the most favorable circumstances, the road to an agreement on naval reductions must be a long road, beset with obstacles requiring months of effort to remove. If Great Britain and the other naval powers agree to discuss the American yardstick at a resumption of the Geneva Conference, or at another conference, it will be only the first move in the direction of the naval reductions goal. It will mean merely that a common denominator has been found—as President Hoover phrases it—for measuring naval strength. The actual application of the formula to the navies concerned will await the calling of a further conference, and present indications are that this will be the Washington Conference which Mr. Hoover is pledged to call in 1931 under the terms of the five-power Washington naval treaties.

It is possible that the powers might agree to call this conference next year instead of 1931. The logical working out of the formula, evidenced by the meeting of Ambassadors Dawes and Gibson, and the administration's hope that the powers will accept the formula as a basis of negotiation, all point to the coming conference of 1930 or 1931. But it is difficult to understand why there should be continued secrecy over this general plan of procedure. There is no popular demand to know any of the details which necessarily may have to be kept secret until agreed upon. But there is Nation-wide demand to know what the general program is and what the prospects are of seeing it realized. If certain nations have not yet agreed to discuss the American formula but are suggesting other means, there would seem to be no valid reason for not giving this information to the people.

Likewise, the mystery over the freedom of the seas issue is difficult to grasp. Congress passed the cruiser bill which contained a provision requesting the President to call a conference on freedom of the seas and Congress expressed the hope that this conference would be called prior to 1931. When Ambassador Gibson received his instructions prior to representing the United States at the Geneva conference this spring, no mention was made of the freedom of the seas question as set forth specifically by Congress. The delegates of other powers sought to bring up the subject at Geneva but Mr. Gibson did not encourage them. Ramsay MacDonald, before he conferred with Ambassador Dawes, stressed freedom of the seas as the real controlling consideration in the matter of naval armaments. After the premier talked with Ambassador Dawes he became silent on freedom of the seas. It is freely conceded that some definite reason exists for the elimination of freedom of the seas at the present time from consideration, but whatever that reason is, it is shrouded in mystery.

Senators friendly to the President's program are frankly disturbed over certain aspects of the preliminary negotiations. Skeptical senators are more outspoken and say they are already losing interest. They refer to the "political disarmament issue" on the theory that the statesmen are maneuvering about secretly and mysteriously and without taking the people into their confidence. A general understanding of the present status of the negotiations would do much to remove the unfavorable impression that always accompanies prolonged secret negotiations.

KEEPING THE BUDGET LOW.

With the Bureau of the Budget call to heads of departments and independent establishments for preliminary estimates of their budgetary requirements for 1931, issued yesterday, it was disclosed that President Hoover opposes any increases over the 1930 totals. The policy was set forth by Acting Director of the Budget R. O. Kloeber, who said:

> The President asks me to say that he wishes to restore the full responsibility of the heads of departments and independent establishments in participation with him in maintenance of economy in Federal expenditure. It is his purpose to hold the gross Federal budget for 1931 to the same amounts as appropriated in the fiscal year 1930. It is realized that some divisions will need increased expenditure in order to accommodate the requirements of law and the proper development of governmental responsibilities, but it is hoped that each department will earnestly reexamine its activities with the view of reducing less important expenditures to accommodate the increases asked for in other directions.

Economy in government is a splendid thing and President Hoover is to be commended for the stand he has taken. But will it be possible to restrict the gross budget for 1931 to the figure contained in the budget for 1930? The appropriations for the fiscal year 1930 that are to be used as the measure of the 1931 budget, total $3,376,000,000. Can the new budget be kept to a figure not exceeding $3,376,000,000?

The Government has to go on. Its activities are increasing and there is no reason to believe that a period has been reached, or, indeed, ever will be reached, when the usual, routine activity of the Government can be diminished. It is possible, as is suggested in the Budget Bureau call, that certain establishments will be able to curtail their activities somewhat, saving comparatively small sums that can be applied "in other directions," but these savings will be so infinitesimal as compared with the total of the budget as to have little or no effect. In the meantime, Congress has put the Government into certain activities involving large expenditures.

There is the Mississippi flood control project for which an expenditure of $325,000,000 has been authorized but which ultimately will cost probably between $500,000,000 and $700,000,000. The cruiser building program will involve an expenditure of many millions. There is the Federal housing program that has only been got under way, and there is farm relief, which will cost no one knows how much, and the construction of Boulder Dam. The Government has been pledged to a program of improvements that will cost a staggering sum and the yearly expenditures will bulk large. It may be found possible to maintain the ordinary departmental expenditures at their present figure, but it seems likely that the gross budgetary figure must be increased.

Another matter that demands consideration and that promises to play an important part in fixing the total expenditure for 1931, is that Congress, when it comes time to consider appropriations, may be found to have developed a bad case of itchy fingers. The June tax payments that have poured into the Treasury are extremely heavy and they swelled the total receipts of the Government for the year up to June 18, to $3,790,141,997, with a budget surplus on that date of $101,975,855. With heavy payments of income taxes to be received before the end of the fiscal year, some experts are forecasting a budget surplus of not less than $200,000,000, and although there is little reason to believe that the surplus will be that large, the fact remains that there is money in the Treasury. If Congress and the country gets the idea that there is any extra money lying around loose, even though the sum may not amount to much in comparison with the cost of running the Government, it will be most difficult to forestall the inclination to spend generously.

LARGELY UP TO THE STATES.

The address delivered by Wade H. Ellis, former Assistant Attorney General of the United States, over the radio last night, expressed a sentiment which is gaining wide recognition since President Hoover initiated his anticrime campaign. All the commissions that can be appointed, and all the investigations that can be made, he said, will do no good whatever unless they arouse to a deeper sense of personal responsibility the conscience of individual citizens. It is evident at the beginning of the Nation-wide crime survey that President Hoover's commission can treat the problem only in a general way, and that the application of remedies must come, for the most part, from the States and local communities. It is encouraging to note that some States and cities are undertaking anticrime movements of their own.

Mr. Ellis discredited the theory that the problem of lawlessness is an outgrowth of the World War and prohibition. He says there has been a steady, progressive increase in crime and disrespect for law in this country for the last 30 years. First among the causes he places the tremendous growth in wealth, which has brought about wastefulness, extravagance and display, tempting the weak to easy acquisition of money. The second and third causes he names are the "stupid increase in the very number of our laws," and the growth of inventions which make the accomplishment of crime and escape more easy. Other causes cited include the concentration of population in cities, the inefficiency of the judicial system and the disinclination of the American people to seriously consider the dangers which threaten their country. Citizens, he said, have been so busy amassing wealth and giving their time to frivolous enjoyment that they have passed the responsibility for good order in their communities to the police, judges and prosecuting attorneys.

A long list of remedies was suggested by Mr. Ellis. They are concerned chiefly with larger law enforcement bodies, supervision of the manufacture and sale of firearms, deportation of alien criminals, better detection of crime, judicial reforms, and the creation of public sentiment in favor of law enforcement. Proper emphasis was put upon the thought that "the people themselves, in every State and community, must get into this fight for orderly government." The forces of lawlessness, he said, constitute only about one-third of 1 per cent of the total population. United action of the people could "crush them as if they were an eggshell."

Law enforcement is largely a problem for the States. The Federal Government may point the way and reform its own judicial system, but it will remain for the States, which have the police power, to make the greatest contribution.

A CHALLENGE TO JUSTICE.

A movement is under way in Philadelphia to free "Scarface" Al Capone from his sentence of one year in prison for carrying a concealed weapon. His attorneys are reported to be preparing habeas corpus proceedings, and it is rumored that an application for parole will be filed. Capone went to prison on his own admission that he was carrying a concealed deadly weapon.

When the notorious Chicago gangster was arrested and promptly jailed in Philadelphia, a question arose in the minds of the people as to why he had not been behind prison bars before. It was rumored that Capone had deliberately got himself in prison because he feared underworld enemies. Whatever the reason for his incarceration, the action of the Philadelphia police met with general approval. The public knows little about the technical rules on which the fight to free Capone will be made, but there is a general demand that he serve out his full term.

The whisperings among the gangster's following in Chicago that "Al will be out next week" constitute a challenge to the courts of Philadelphia. If the rumor that Capone went to prison to protect himself is true, it reflects little credit on the officers who arrested him. But if he is allowed his freedom now that he has tired of prison and thinks the langer over, the whole affair will appear as a disgraceful farce. To the laity it would seem that the police and the courts conspired to protect a notorious gangster from the vengeance of his enemies. The law would be made a plaything of criminals. Public justice demands that when such a character is caught violating the law the maximum penalty should be imposed.

RELEASING CANADIAN LIQUOR FOR EXPORT

From the Manitoba Free Press.

It has been maintained all along on behalf of the Dominion government that, technically and from the standpoint of departmental administration, there is no irregularity in the sanctioning of liquor exports to the United States. It is said, also, that the government can not refuse clearance papers for boat loads of liquor that is billed for the United States without the passing of new legislation. But serious doubt is cast upon these claims and upon the government's authority for releasing liquor from bonded warehouses for export across the line, by the discussion in Parliament on one of the last days of the session.

In reply to a question, Hon. Mr. Euler, minister of national revenue, explained that the sale of liquor and beer by the Canadian distillers and brewers is closely restricted. Their products go into bonded warehouses. It is not open to the general public to go there and buy them. They can be sold only to the provincial liquor commissions if they are to be consumed in Canada, and, if they are to be exported, the general practice is to release them from the warehouse upon the receipt of a bond representing twice the amount of the excise tax, or $18 a gallon. This bond is canceled upon receipt, by the customs branch, of a certificate showing that the liquor was actually landed in the country to which export clearance had been granted. In the case of shipments to the United States, where the liquor can not legally be imported, the Canadian government simply recognizes that no official certificate of landing can be obtained, and, instead of requiring the bond for twice the amount of the excise tax, it imposes the tax itself of $9 a gallon and lets the liquor go to its declared destination across the line. This is the situation as explained by Mr. Euler.

But has the government any authority at all to release the liquor from the bonded warehouses for export to the United States, even though the excise tax is paid, when it can not obtain landing certificates and therefore can not be sure that all the liquor actually goes to the United States?

When allowing exports to the United States the department clearly violates two of its policies. It lets the liquor go without any guarantee that it will be exported, and it collects the tax on liquor which is declared to be for export. That tax brings the government a revenue of some $9,000,000 a year. It is plain that the duty of the department is not done when it collects the tax on the liquor, because as the minister admits, it is important to have clear proof that the liquor is landed in another country.

The government, we believe, has really no right to release liquor from bonded warehouses for export to the United States when, under the conditions as they are, it can exact no guarantee or assurance that it is going to that destination.

On grounds of public policy there is the strongest reason for discontinuing the issuing of the clearance papers. But we think it is also clear that the department had no right to begin the practice and base its justification on the collection of the excise tax. If the government can not refuse export clearances after the liquor is out of bond, it can effect the same result by refusing to release the liquor from bond when it is known to be for export to the United States. That is entirely within its jurisdiction.

THE BLAMELESS MAN.

That he has never done a wrong
He proudly boasts to all,
And yet among the neighboring throng
His figure seems so small.

Within the law his deeds are done
No blame of him is told.
Yet strange it seems to everyone
That good can be so cold.

For none has seen him step aside
To serve another's need,
The cleanliness which is his pride
Seems pitiless, indeed.

And he must answer later on,
Where all is understood,
"I did no wrong the earth upon,
But likewise did no good."

To do no wrong is not enough,
No growth of soul it brings.
Give me the men of warmer stuff
Who do the kindly things.

The Law Needs No Whip if It Reflects Man's Inborn Sense of Right.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

A GREAT many people think virtue a commodity in trade. They practice virtue as a physician practices medicine—that is, they surrender their liberty of action and do certain disagreeable duties in expectation of a reward.

The fault is not in themselves but in their training. As children they were bribed to be good. They took their medicine or refrained from howling to win a promised nickel.

They were taught to expect a reward for virtue here and hereafter, and taught to expect punishment here and hereafter if they were bad. Inevitably they learned to regard virtue as a somewhat disagreeable means of winning a prize, and wickedness as an enjoyable business that everybody would delight in if it could be practiced without fear of the lash.

People of this type frequently say: "If I thought there was no hereafter, I wouldn't try to be good. I would turn loose and enjoy myself."

They mean, of course, that they would enjoy doing the immoral things they now are afraid to do.

But morality is not a means of winning eternal awards. It is an exercise of common sense, and all moral laws were products of common sense.

The first unit of government was the family, and the family head was the first lawmaker. He saw that certain practices, such as theft, lying, promiscuous mating and disobedience to authority resulted in confusion, quarrels and suffering. He prohibited them because their results were unprofitable. Children were taught rules of conduct designed to keep them out of trouble.

These rules, inspired by good sense and expediency, were sanctified by custom and in time became a code of morals—a definition of virtue—but their purpose and effect was and is to avoid the penalty of folly. Immorality is to be avoided, as a child avoids playing with fire, because the results are painful.

So much for the rules man has made to save his skin. The rules change as customs change, and the morality of one land is immoral in another.

But the virtue a decent man practices for its own sake is born in him. He is born with a love for equity, for justice and for freedom. Without teaching and without hope of reward or fear of punishment—as naturally as the duck takes to water and the cat stalks its prey—he hates the tyrant, abominates that which is unfair and jealously guards his liberty.

The whole of honor is in equity and fairness, and decent men practice honor for its own sake and scorn dishonor.

Laws made to uphold honor never are despised, for they reflect man's nature. He would obey them if they were unwritten.

Laws that invite controversy and tempt men to disobedience are mere definitions of morality—temporary opinion or local prejudice, unsupported by the universal conscience.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE STRANGE CASE OF SIR THOMAS

"I think you'd better come over and at once," said Wymess over the telephone.

"What's wrong?" asked Sir Crombie Iverness, the tea magnate's personal physician.

"He's acting that way again, sir," said the man servant.

"Let me see; how long is it since he had his last spell?" asked the physician.

"Ten years, sir. It was back in 1919."

"Dear me! I thought we had him cured. Just how is he acting?"

"Well, sir, he has a faraway look in his eyes, and he goes about the house looking tenderly at the old photographs of all the Shamrocks and muttering about garboard strakes, halyards, gaffs and sail areas. Last night he talked in his sleep and I heard him mention Sandy Hook several times."

"I'll be right over," said the doctor. "This is truly alarming."

* * * *

Sir Crombie Iverness arrived presently at the home of Sir Thomas Lipton and was shown to the sportsman's room at once.

"Well, how are you feeling?" asked the physician.

"Pretty terrible," said Sir Thomas hoarsely. "It's the old weakness. I've felt it coming on for a long time. I've tried to fight it off but it's no use."

"What're the symptoms this time?" asked the doctor.

"Same old symptoms," said Sir Thomas, toying with a pair of binoculars. "Constant uneasiness, inability to concentrate on important business matters, dull headache."

"Irritable, impatient and easily annoyed by trifles?"

"I'm afraid so."

"Can't sleep nights?"

"Hardly a wink. I just lie abed tossing and thinking. Sometimes I fall into a brief doze and have the most startling dreams. It's always the same dream; that's the astonishing part."

"What is it?"

"Well, I seem to be journeying overseas at first * * * then I'm in some sort of water event * * * I see a lot of boats. * * * Always there are two sailing vessels that seem greater than the rest. * * * One of them is an American yacht. * * * The other, it seems, belongs to me. * * * I see a race between these two vessels and always my boat is away out in the lead. * * * And then I wake."

"It's probably just as well you wake up," suggested the physician.

* * * *

"It leaves me limp and lifeless. I just can't go on this way. I've tried to fight it off but——"

"No use trying to fight it off," said the physician. "It's one of the old spells. You've a challenge coming on, that's all."

"I think you're right, doctor. Maybe some pills would——"

"Nope. You've been immune a full decade. It's in your blood. You'll just have to have these spells every decade or so. The thing to do is yield."

"Yield?"

"Yes," commanded the physician "Give in. Don't suppress your challenge. Issue it to the New York Yacht Club at once. I could use cold water packs to keep it down, but it would be folly. You'll feel better as soon as you get it out of your system."

"I suppose so," said Sir Thomas, calling for pen and paper.

And so it came to pass.

WHO CAN TELL?

President Hoover, expressing himself for the first time on the border murders, says he deplores the killing of any person and says the solution is cooperation by all the border community in a war on international bootleggers. Is Mr. Hoover speaking as an old feud commissioner?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Colors of the Flag Are Red, White and Blue; Yellow Fringe Constitutes a Vulgar Boast.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Comparing the United States and its flag to the world-wide ancient custom of having battle flags gold trimmed, is impossible. The United States was not in existence at the time of the Norman Conquest. Times have changed; so have governments. The pomp and ceremony of heraldry finds no place in our Government or in the activities of the Army in a republican form of government.

Why should our country feel justified in boasting of its wealth and generosity to the extent of displaying these qualities and endowments in the national flag by trimming it with yellow fringe? Do we admire an individual who boasts of his generosity and makes a display of his wealth? Can the flag that symbolizes the blood of its heroes be adorned with symbols of material benefits or strange colors?

I believe that no person has the right to take from or add to the original enactments of Congress regarding the flag. The flag is planted on as firm a foundation in these enactments as the Constitution itself.

Some one suggests the yellow fringe is for parade flags. There is no such flag as a parade flag. We have only one national flag and it is red, white and blue, nothing more or less.

England Catches Her Few Murderers and Punishes Them; America Should Give Capital Punishment a Trial.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have before me two clippings, one from an American newspaper and the other from an English newspaper. The clipping from the American paper is headed "A New Murder in Chicago" and the introductory words read: "Another murder—the third in 36 hours and the most brutal of the three—was done last night . . ." The clipping from the English paper is headed "Three Capital Charges" and the introductory sentence reads: "Three murder charges are down for hearing in different parts of the country today." They seem able to catch them in England, the few they have, and when they catch them, they hang them.

There is a movement in this country to abolish capital punishment. But capital punishment is practically abolished now. Suppose we try capital punishment for a while and see how it works. The swift apprehension of murderers, and their prompt execution by due process of law, would go a long way toward reducing the number of murders in this country. Such a course would soon awaken a salutary fear of the law as representing justice. Justice is the moral power of law. Without justice law is only a bully, and deserves and receives the contempt that bullies deserve and receive.

Citizen Commends Local Health Authorities for Taking Quick Action to Clean Up Following the Heavy Rain and Suggests That the Alleys Be Attended to Quickly.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I note with approval that the local health authorities have put on an extra force to clean up the city following the deluge of last Friday night. The situation, in my opinion, is menacing. The streets have been cleaned up in good shape, but the alleys do not seem to have been touched. Several alleys in my neighborhood are covered with a deposit of silt such as is left by any flood and it is a well-known fact that disease germs lurk in such deposits. It is to be hoped that the alleys will be cleaned out forthwith, before the city is visited with a scourge of disease such as generally follows inundations.

The Army-Navy Game.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Secretary Good approaches Secretary Adams with the view of compromising the West Point-Annapolis football breach. One would think that the playing of that game was the most important matter confronting the two branches of the service. Playing of the game should be renewed because the American people want it, but negotiations are not necessary. Let the Secretaries of War and the Navy issue orders to the commandants of the academies that the game be scheduled. That will put a stop to the controversy.

ALL STATE.

DAYS OF THE WEEK.

Among the Romans of the first day of the week was the Dies Solis, which the Saxons called Sunnan-daeg, and that became our "day of the sun," or Sunday. Monday was the Roman Dies Lunae and the Monan-daeg of the Saxons, which became our "day of the moon," or Monday, writes Frank H. Vizetelley, in the Argonaut.

To the Romans the third day of the week was Dies Martis or the "day of Mars," their god of war. This day we call Tuesday from Tiu, the son of Odin and the god of war of Norse mythology, plus doeg, day.

Our Wednesday we drew from Woden, the Saxon form of Odin, and Woden's-daeg became our Wednesday. Woden was the chief god of both the Norse and the Teutonic mythologies. Because he was the patron of agriculture, the day Wednesday was formerly considered a propitious day for farmers to engage in any enterprise. To the Romans this the fourth day of the week, was assigned to Mercury and was known as Dies Mercurii—the "day of Mercury."

To the god Jupiter the Romans devoted the fifth day, which was known as Dies Jovis or the "day of Jupiter," and the Norsemen dedicated it to Thor, their god of thunder and strife, so Thor's-daeg became our Thursday. Friday figured in the Roman week as the day of Venus and was called Dies Veneris, and in honor of Freya or Frigga, the Norse goddess of marriage, the Norsemen gave her name to the sixth day which became Friday.

Dies Saturni, or the "day of Saturn," was the name given by the Romans to the seventh day. In Anglo-Saxon this became Saeter-daeg for a corresponding deity in Teutonic mythology—Saeter, whom modern scholars describe as an old man; but this can not be reconciled with the vigorous god of seed time and harvest—born on a Saturday, work for a living—or with the annual festival of the harvest, observed by days of unbridled license, known as the Saturnalia.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Diplomats Go To London by Success Here

Envoys of Several Nations Quit This Capital for St. James Court.

By JEAN ELIOT.

NOWADAYS Washington seems to be a stepping stone to London, probably the most sought after diplomatic post in the world. Not only is former Vice President Dawes now United States Ambassador to Great Britain and in residence at our embassy in Hyde Park Gate, but Belgium's Ambassador to the Court of St. James is Baron de Cartier, who until recently was on duty in Washington, and Japan's envoy is Mr. Tsuneo Matsudaira, who was detached from his post here just as he went home for the marriage of his daughter, winsome Setsu Matsudaira, and the heir apparent to the Japanese throne.

Diplomats from a dozen other countries are now accredited to London after a period of service in Washington, and are prepared to give a warm welcome to visitors from the U. S. A. Among them are the former Minister of China to the United States, Dr. Alfred Sao-Ke Sze, and charming Mme. Sze; Mr. Timothy Smiddy, one-time Minister of the Irish Free State, now High Commissioner in London; Mr. Kazys Bizauskas, formerly Minister of Lithuania, and Mme. Bizauskas; the Seyas, of the Latvian Legation; the Steens, of the Norwegian Legation; Dr. Dieckhoff, of the German Embassy, and his handsome wife, and Count and Countess Rogeri, who were so popular with the younger diplomatic group in Washington while Count Rogeri was attached to the Italian Embassy.

Representative and Mrs. Sol Bloom and their daughter, Miss Vera Bloom, who are leaving tomorrow to sail Saturday on the Leviathan, will spend the first few weeks of their summer holiday in London, renewing acquaintance with many of this group of foreign diplomats. As Mr. Bloom is a member of the House foreign affairs committee, they have been thrown into close contact with the Diplomatic Corps and, moreover, they are confirmed globe trotters, with friends in most of the capitals of Europe.

Representative and Mrs. Fred Britten, who also are to be passengers on the Leviathan, probably will be in London for a while before the summer is over.

Mrs. William H. King, wife of Senator King, and her children will sail on the same ship, but they are to go to Brittany for the summer months. In the autumn, Mrs. King will place the children in school abroad and will travel, paying visits at times to the youngsters.

From London, Representative and Mrs. Bloom expect to go to Scotland for a while and then to the continent. They are due in Switzerland by August 23, as Mr. Bloom wants to attend the meeting of the Interparliamentary Union at Geneva. If memory serves, Representative Britten is a member of this international assembly of lawmakers and attends its meetings annually.

Ambassador of Germany Returns to Washington.

The German Ambassador, Herr Friedrich von Prittwitz und Gaffron, has returned to Washington after passing the week-end in Hot Springs, Va., with Frau von Prittwitz un Gaffron and their daughter.

The Minister of the Netherlands and Mme. van Royen will go to New York Thursday and on Saturday will sail for Europe to pass several months in Holland. They will be accompanied by their son, Mr. Robert van Royen, and Mr. Herman van Royen, who is now traveling in the West, will join them later in the summer.

Mme. Wu, wife of the Minister of China, will leave Washington on Friday for a trip to China and will not return until early autumn. She will sail from Vancouver, B. C.

Senator and Mrs. Charles Waterman have motored to Hot Springs, Va., to pass several weeks. They are accompanied by Miss Emma Barth, of Denver, Colo.

MISS VIRGINIA PETERS, who makes her home with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Jordan, at Silver Spring.

Colorful Japan Is on Itinerary Of Mrs. Wilson

Widow of War President Going First to Paris; Buys Estate.

Although Mrs. Woodrow Wilson has purchased Tarover, a picturesque old place in Halifax County, Va., for use as a country home, she will not take possession this summer. She will sail Saturday on the Leviathan for Europe and will join friends in Paris, preparatory to taking a trip to Japan with them.

The party is not due to reach the Orient until autumn, but presumably will set forth too early for the widow of the war President to attend the session of the League of Nations assembly in September.

Tarover, which is to be reconditioned and made ready for its new owner during the summer, is a simple old colonial homestead. However, it has historic interest. It was built more than 100 years ago by James Bruce, member of a distinguished Virginia family. The rock with which it was built is said to have been imported from England, as well as several marble mantles. There are about 200 acres with the homestead, which is a subdivision of the original old Bruce home, Berry Hill.

Cards will be a feature of the garden party to be given tomorrow afternoon and evening by the board of lady managers of Casualty Hospital on the grounds of the new portion of the hospital, the tables being in charge of Mrs. Bernard Walin. There also will be fortune telling, under direction of Mme Lola Arnold.

In case of rain the fete will be held indoors. The money raised will be used to purchase furniture for the new wing. Supper will be served from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Miss Hamilton Becomes Bride Of Dr. Alfaro

Notable Company Attends Reception in Pan-American Union Building.

The skies smiled upon pretty Miss Nancy Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hamilton, who was married yesterday to Dr. Victor Ricardo Alfaro. Prolonged showers ceased just before the ceremony, held in St. Matthew's Church at 4:30 o'clock. By the time the company assembled for the reception in the Pan-American Union Building, the sun was peeping through the clouds, and guests could wander out onto the broad terrace overlooking the Azteo garden and stroll on the box-bordered paths.

Invitations to this wedding had been issued in the European fashion, with the names of the bridegroom's parents, the Minister of Panama and Senora de Alfaro, appearing with those of the bride's parents on the cards. And it was because of Dr. Alfaro's position as a member of the governing board of the Pan-American Union that the reception was held in the picturesque setting.

The Minister and Senora de Alfaro and Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton received with the bride and bridegroom, the bridesmaids being grouped with them at the head of the stairway. There were lavish and lovely decorations of summer flowers in tall vases and behind the receiving line ferns and palms were massed as a background for great clusters of pink peonies and gladioli.

The British Ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, who is dean of the Diplomatic Corps, was present, with Lady Isabella Howard and among the several hundred guests were glimpsed such distinguished officials as the Secretary of State, Mr. Stimson; the Cuban Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara, the Spanish Ambassador and Senora de Padilla, Secretary Mellon, of the Treasury, and the Minister of Uruguay and Mme. Varela. The British Ambassador and the Cuban Ambassador wandered out into the garden together in earnest converse, which ended in a burst of laughter at some bon mot or Senor Ferrara's, Lady Isabella Howard holding court the while on the terrace. Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of Vice President Curtis, was also among the guests at the wedding and the reception afterward.

Wedding Punch Served To Guests on Terrace.

Fearful perhaps of inclement weather, long buffet tables, flower bedecked, had been laid in the map room and the corridor adjoining. But punch was served on the terrace and there were several umbrella-shaded tables there, about which guests grouped themselves after they had been served, the bright colored gowns of the women present giving the effect of a gigantic flower bed. On a small table indoors stood the bride's cake, elaborately sculptured in snowy sugar, with lillies of the valley at the top. The knife which stood ready to the hand of the dainty bride had a wee cluster of orange blossoms attached to its handle.

The church was effectively decorated with white roses, palms and ferns. Standards of white blossoms marked each pew and tall white tapers burned among the lillies and roses on the altar. A string orchestra played softly during the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Father Thomas J. Walsh, of St. Thomas' Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin, with long sleeves and a yoke of old lace quite low in the back and high in the front. The skirt was fashioned with a deep flounce of rose point lace longer on the sides, which joined the lace veil and formed a train. The veil was arranged about the face with orange blossoms, and the bride carried a white prayer book, from which fell a shower of lillies of the valley.

Miss Margaret Mitchel, of Cincinnati, was maid of honor. She wore a frock of heaven-blue chiffon, made with a cape falling over the arms to simulate sleeves. The skirt was a series of wide circular flounces falling to the floor in the back. The hat and shoes matched the frock, and she carried an arm bouquet of delphinium and talisman roses tied with long streamers of peach-colored satin.

The bridesmaids were Miss Adelaide Henry, Miss Exilona Hamilton, Miss Elma Binns, of Uniontown, Pa., and Miss Jessica Holton, of Bethlehem, Pa. They wore frocks like that of the maid of honor, in peach color, with smart, rather small blue hats and slippers, and carried roses and delphinuim tied with blue satin ribbons.

Dr. Phillip Caulfield Best Man for Dr. Alfaro.

Dr. Phillip Caulfield was best man for Dr. Alfaro. The ushers were Mr. Hugh Weston, of Detroit; Mr. Robert McNeil, of New York; Mr. Louis Peak and Mr. Gordon New, of Washington, and Mr. John Louis Hamilton and Senor Ivan Alfaro, brothers of the bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Hamilton, mother of the bride, wore a gown of beige lace, appliqued with roses of chiffon, and a lace hat to match. Senora de Alfaro had on a peach-colored chiffon gown, trimmed with ecru lace, and a large ecru straw hat.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. Charles Kerr, of Cincinnati, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Mitchell, of Cincinnati, uncle and aunt of the bride; Mrs. Joseph Kerr and Miss Joan Kerr, of Covington, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Goodhue Smith, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Robert Pogue and Miss Russell Pogue, of Cincinnati; Seno: Luis R. Alfaro, Senorita Abigail Alfaro, of New York; Dr. and Mrs. Nicholas Solano and Senorita Benilda Arias, of Panama, and Senora Carlos Berguido and Senor Carlos Berguido, jr., of Philadelphia.

On their return from their wedding trip, Dr. Alfaro and his bride will occupy her parents' house while they are away, and in September they will take an apartment. They are to make their permanent home in Washington, where Dr. Alfaro will practice medicine. For her going-away gown Senora de Alfaro wore a smart ensemble of wood violet chiffon, with a peach-colored satin blouse, and accessories of the wood violet tone.

Dr. Alfaro's father is not only his country's envoy at Washington, but vice president of the Republic of Panama. He has been stationed in Washington for several years and his sons have grown to manhood here; while the Hamiltons are lifelong residents of the Capital.

Mr. and Mrs. Will C. Barnes entertained a number of their Forest Service friends at dinner in the gardens of the Arts Club on I street Saturday evening, it being Mr. Barnes' birthday.

Post Model Home Seen Despite Rain

Sansbury Residence on Kalmia Road Visited by Many Persons.

Despite the rainy weather, more than 200 persons yesterday inspected the model furnished home of N. L. Sansbury Co., Inc., at 1335 Kalmia road northwest, sponsored by The Washington Post.

Many took advantage of the morning's sunshine to visit the residence, complimenting its tasteful and convenient arrangements and ideal location. A number of the visitors said they intended to follow it as a model when they built a home of their own.

Not a word of criticism has been offered by any visitor. The exhibit home is in Northgate, the company's development running from Thirteenth to Sixteenth streets, adjacent to the north entrance to Rock Creek Park, which will eventually contain 25 such habitations. The Post-Sansbury model home is furnished by W. B. Moses & Sons. It is open daily until 9 o'clock in the evening.

Under the trees with the white cloth spread

When the urge to motor somewhere sets the fingers itching for the wheel—whither away! Just across the state are hills and mountains, quiet valleys, verdant forests. Quiet towns, white and green amidst the trees. Wide farms with streams to follow down. Fishing or loafing, what does it matter? There's the sun overhead and long hours of blue clear skies. But sun or rain, out of doors. Dull care forgotten. Creditors—perhaps even debtors forgotten in the joy of being out of doors! One hour or one whole summer, with simple food to eat beneath the wide-flung oak. Studying the map for new roads to conquer, new lands to find. New health and happiness for all the family. Come, let's go the "Standard" way. Start today.

Write to the "Standard" Touring Service, 26 Broadway, New York City, for free, accurate, up-to-date information and road maps. They will direct you over the most convenient routes. Philadelphia, Pa.—"I always use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before and after childbirth. I am a mother of three children—two little girls and a baby boy. BEHIND THE SCREENS

—With NELSON B. BELL—

It just goes to show the power of mind over matter!

In last Saturday's column, owing to confusion of dates, high temperatures and any number of other alibis I could probably drum up if I tried, the new refrigeration plant at the Metropolitan Theater was put in operation at least a week too soon. The statement was that "beginning tomorrow"—meaning Sunday—it would function in its own peculiarly frigid way and probably necessitate calling out the rescue squad to thaw out such of the customers as might be frozen to their chairs.

As you, of course, know from Mr. Ewing's ads in The Post, I had the icy blasts penetrating to the farthest recesses of the theater what you might call prematurely.

Now then, the funny part of it is that three people have remarked to me since yesterday morning how much cooler the list is since they've put in the new plant!

If imagination will do that, just think what is apt to happen when the thing is actually turned on!

Georgie Shute, press agent and inveterate gagster of the Little Theater, is no more than through the door from confiding that the tiny Ninth street playhouse will close Friday night of this week to remain dark until Labor Day.

Due to this fact, the customary preview showing of next week's nonexistent feature will not take place Friday evening at 9:30. Instead, "Simba" will be presented continuously on Friday from 1 to 11 p. m.

If this young Mr. Shute doesn't stop his clowning, the first thing he knows he will be writing black-outs for the revue makers—and what a tough break that would be!

There is a noise afloat, too, to the disquieting effect that the current week's presentation of "Scandal" at the Rialto will be the last until fall.

This has not been positively confirmed, but I understand that Jimmie Carrier has already departed for New York to take over the managerial direction of the Colony Theater there, and that the proscenium curtains will be drawn for the last time at Ninth and G Friday night—that is, until late August or September.

The motion picture newsreel has always been a reasonably accurate barometer of public favor. When a popular figure has been flashed upon the screen, it has been customary for the assembled multitude to break into violent handclapping and sometimes even into a right roistering round of huzzas.

President Coolidge in the White House never received so much applause as he has as Calvin Coolidge, of Northampton, former President; the Dempsey fellow as champion rated a ripple, but now gets a roar, and so it goes.

All of which is merely by way of working up to the fact that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh seems to have shot his bolt as a popular idol. Whether it is his persistent refusal to take the public into his confidence, his marriage or his jolly practice of spattering mud on his admirers that has brought about the difference I, of course, am unable to say, but it is a palpable fact that when he and Mrs. Lindbergh, the former Anne Morrow, are flashed before the audiences in this week's Movietone News, they are greeted with vast volumes of silence.

The glory of an achievement that was something more than courageous can never be taken from Lindbergh, but he has finally succeeded in taking from himself a large portion of the blind public idolatry that was his as long as he was willing to undergo the martyrdom of tolerating it.

Jack Osterman, featured comedian in the "Wall Street Blues" revue, current at the Palace, comes honestly by his yen for the stage. His mother, Kathryn Osterman, whose name he assumes for his own professional purposes, was one of the most distinguished of American actresses and his father, the late J. J. Rosenthal, familiarly known as "Jake" to his associates, was for years one of the theater's best known managers and publicists.

Except that it would be silly to drag up all those years, I would confess that it was "Jake" Rosenthal who took me backstage and introduced me to Julian Eltinge fro the first time, when that daddy of all the female impersonators was playing at the Columbia Theater in "The Fascinating Widow," his first "legitimate" stellar vehicle.

That was on the evening of the musical comedy's metropolitan premiere and "Jake" further honored me—and saved himself a little work—by making The Post's review and Sunday comment a part of his publicity material for the subsequent life of the piece, in which, as I remember it, Mr. Eltinge flourished for two or three years.

I don't see why all these showers couldn't have held off at least until I'd had a chance to sprinkle the lawn!

Girls' Training School Enrolls in 1930 Chest

Application of the National Training School for Women and Girls for membership in the Community Chest for the 1930 campaign has been received at Chest headquarters, 1418 I street northwest, according to an announcement yesterday by Elwood Street, director of the Chest.

This is the third organization not in the 1929 campaign to apply for membership in the 1930 drive, and if all are accepted, will swell the total to 60 organizations.

Next Monday, July 1, marks the closing date for accepting applications for the 1930 drive, which begins in November, the fixing of this date being necessary to allow adequate time for preparation of the campaign.

IN THE PLAY HOUSE

—By JOHN J. DALY—

Intermittently, it rained nearly all day yesterday. In keeping with the mood of the weather, the National Theater Players last night produced John Colton and Clemence Randolph's missionary masterpiece, "Rain," out of the short story, "Sadie Thompson," by the English dramatist and novelist, Somerset Maugham. And how it rained.

In the character creation made famous by Jeanne Eagels, Miss Edith King, leading lady, turns in a dandy performance destined to prove her high-water mark in a season that comes to a temporary halt Saturday until after the dog days are over. In make-up, in study, in poise and personality, Edith King is the Sadie Thompson of stage convention, now that the piece has come to be a classic of the latter-day theater.

Was a time when "Rain" came under the ban, when there was lifted brows at the mention of the goings-on in the little Pacific island, Pago-Pago. Especially were the censors wrought up over the verbal epithets that Sadie slings so promiscuously into the face of the Rev. Davidson, the psalm-singing soul savior of the tropics; but, in the language of the market place, "them days is gone forever." Nowadays, "Rain" is a pretty tame piece of stage property compared with some of the red-hot mamma drama that came, in the past season or so, to startle the street called "Bawdway."

At least one of the objectionable lines has disappeared from the script directed by Addison Pitt; but Miss King sticks close to reality in her famous fade-away of the second act when she looks the reverend gentleman straight in the eye and tells him, in her own charming way, just what he amounts to in her estimation. She is probably the only actress in a parade of Sundays who enunciates so clearly that her words reecho to the far corners of the house. And she has a reason to be mad; boiling mad; for, playing opposite her is a man, William E. Blake, imported for the occasion, who would make any lady forget herself. Blake makes his "Rev." a personification of all the mean, narrow, little-minded men that ever walked the green earth—and if he keeps on this way for a week there is liable to be bloodshed in the National, for not only Sadie Thompson and her marines will be on his neck, but the populace as well.

John Colton and his collaborator did a magnificent job of playwrighting in "Rain," whatever school reviews it. Looked upon as straight drama, it has all the elements that make for success—a contrasting of characters and a conflict that never loosens, nor eases up, until the Rev. Davidson goes to make an end of it all in the Big Drink. Surrounding these two central characters, about whom all the fuss rages, are others of proportionate importance, and the National Theater Players are perfectly cast in them; Mrs. Hibbard as the missionary's straight-laced wife; Ed Arnold as the shambling inkeeper; Charles Hampden, as the doctor; Helen Wallace as his wife; Billy Phelps and Freddie Sherman as part of the marine contingent; Arthur Rhodes, as the drunken quartermaster, and Roger Pryor, as "Handsome," the marine sergeant, in love with Sadie.

A wise man selected "Rain" for presentation this week in the National. That constant falling of water on stage, with the cool and refreshing suggestion of far-away places, with the breath of fresh air and life on an island, offsets not only the humidity of the city but even the profanity of the play; if it must need an apology.

Alleged Bootlegger Fired First, Officers in New Mexico Declare.

Silver City, N. Mex., June 24 (A.P.).—J. J. Thompson, alleged bootlegger, of Hanover, who was shot by prohibition officers during a gun fight at Pierro Station, on June 11, died here today.

Thompson, for two weeks, had hovered between life and death, but complications developed in the bullet wound in his lungs.

Prohibition Officer Hill and Deputy Sheriff McSheery, in reports to Federal Administrator Charles Stearns, at Albuquerque, and Commisioner Doran, in Washington, alleged that Thompson had shot first when they surprised him while he was making a delivery of two kegs of whisky.

Planes Topic Of Summer Radio Talks

Herbert Hoover, Jr., Will Give One of Addresses in Series; Adventuress Scheduled to Speak in Another Feature.

In an endeavor to maintain a year-round schedule of programs which will hold interest, the National Broadcasting Co. has just announced two new series of summer features. The first, "Roads of the Sky," will be inaugurated Tuesday, July 2, under the auspices of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

Herbert Hoover, jr., Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont, F. Trubee Davison, Assistant War Secretary for Aeronautics; Capt. Frank Hawks, transcontinental record holder; Lieut. Apollo Soucek, who recently took a Navy seaplane up 7 miles, and the veteran air mail pilots, Wesley Smith and Hamilton Lee, head the list of speakers.

The feature will be broadcast from several different points in the country. Incidental music calls for a 25-piece orchestra and full male chorus under a well-known radio director.

"Radio, Magic Guide for Airplanes," will be the subject of young Hoover's talk, scheduled for August 20. This address will bear the stamp of authority, since he speaks as radio expert for the Western Air Express, of Los Angeles, Calif.

Two well-known adventurers and story tellers will relate their experiences in various parts of the globe in the next series of programs to be presented Monday, July 8. Floyd Gibbons, war correspondent, novelist, chevalier of the Legion of Honor and world wanderer, will be presented at that time. The program title will be "Floyd Gibbons—Headline Hunter."

Edward "Tex" O'Reilly, a real soldier of fortune, who has taken an active part in nine revolutions or campaigns in seven foreign countries, will be the main character in a presentation to be called "The Soldier of Fortune," on Saturday, July 13.

Both men will relate their own experiences in the broadcasts, and both have a number of stories to tell that shed new lights on events of international interest.

Eminent scientists of two continents will employ radio to augment their audience for a significant event when the American Institute of Electrical Engineers broadcasts its award of the first Lamme medal to a distinguished British colleage over a network, Wednesday evening, June 26. Allan Bertram Field, of Manchester, England, will receive the first Lamme gold medal and bronze replica. The medal was established by the late Benjamin G. Lamme, chief engineer of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co.

Wedding bells are to claim two of radio's stars. James Melton, tenor of the "Revelers," and Henry M. Neely, the "Old Stager," of the Philco Theater Memories program, both of whom are familiar to Washington listeners, are to be married within three days of each other.

Melton is to be married to Miss Marjorie Louise McClure in Akron, Ohio. Miss Gertrude Jones is to be Neely's bride, and the wedding will be celebrated in Beverly, N. J. The first wedding is scheduled for June 29 and the latter for June 26.

All of the other members of the Revelers will take part in Melton's wedding, either as soloists or ushers. Neely's wedding will be equally replete with radio personalities. The ceremony is to be held in the First Presbyterian Church in Beverly. Miss Jessica Dragonette, Colin O'More, Harold Sanford and others of the Philco program will participate.

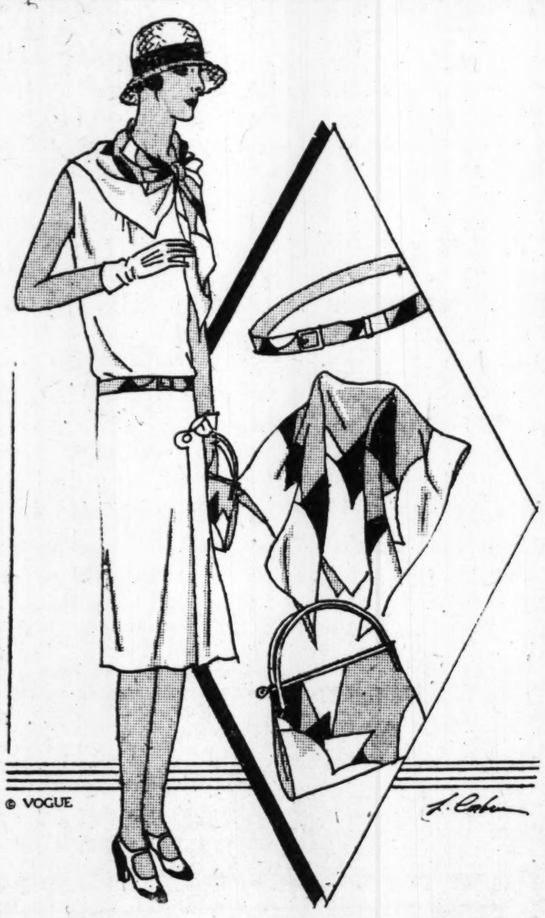
Simple-Dress Accessories



THE very simple dress—that costume which enjoys the interest of both the great dressmakers and the home seamstresses—may be made or marred by the accessories chosen to wear with it. Nondescript or inappropriate accessories will diminish the charm of the perfect lines of a simple dress by an important couturier, and, conversely, well chosen, smart accessories will raise to disctinction a plain model made at home.

For instance, the dress in the illustration, of white linen, is delightful in itself, with its slashed and tucked trimming and its buttoned tabs at the neckline and the waistline, but a belt, bag and kerchief of brilliant silk add greatly to its final appearance upon an exclusive beach. The bag is a pouch with a slide fastening, the belt a stitched affair with a buckle, and the scarf a triangle. A hat of rough straw is a chic way to top the costume.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

New York's Mayor Will Talk on Air

Vaudeville Celebrities to Appear With Walker Tonight; Orchestra With 102 Instruments to Play; "Sky Ghost" Story.

Although the atmosphere was cooled and somewhat cleared by showers, there was still too much summer static last night for distant reception. Outside stations could be tuned in with considerable volume, but the current programs were those of the local stations.

Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, is scheduled to appear in the R-K-O Hour to be broadcast over a Nation-wide hook-up of the National Broadcasting Co. stations.

He will be surrounded by a host of vaudeville celebrities, with Sophie Tucker and Eddie Leonard among those listed to attend.

A special feature will be an R-K-O Orchestra of 102 instruments, the largest to perform in one of the regular studios at NBC headquarters in Fifth avenue.

Other highlights of the hour include Gus Arnheim's Cocoanut Grove Orchestra, known as the "Whiteman of the Pacific Coast," and the University Collegians, another ensemble of the high-temperature type.

The hour is 10 o'clock and the local station is WRC.

A progam of light concert and dance music will constitute the Eveready Hour program at 8 o'clock. The selections will be played by the large orchestra as follows:

"Carnival Overture," Dvorak; "Estrellita," Ponce; "Snowflakes," Virges, flute and clarinet; "I Hear a Thrush at Eve," Cadman, trumpet; "Caprice," Kohlta, violin; "Dance From Nell Gwyn," German; "First Time," Berlin; "Sunrise to Sunset," "Slippin' Round," trombone; "Louise," "Blue Hawaii," sax quartet, and "Heigho, Everybody, Heigho."

A program replete with new songs, and featuring "Washboard Blues" will be broadcast by the Prophylactic Orchestra under the direction of Gene Rodemich. Among the new songs are "Spring Is in the Summer," "Happy Humming Bird," "Dreamy Spanish Eyes" and "Lonely Little Cinderella."

A new broadcast entitled "Flying Stories-Aviation News" will make its debut over WMAL as a Columbia Broadcasting System offering at 7:30 o'clock. The program will be a varied one and will be made up each week of subjects of particular interest to aviation fans, while incidental music will be furnished by an orchestra under the direction of Bob Haring.

The first part of the broadcast will consist of the dramatization of some thrilling story about aviation. William Tucker, as master of ceremonies, will direct a large cast who will present as their first drama a tale entitled, "The Sky Ghost." This will be followed by a talk by Seth Low, former Mayor of New York, now president of Roosevelt Flying Field. The third part of the program will be made up of answers to questions on aviation topics that are sent in by the listeners to this hour.

A classical group will introduce the Old Gold Hour to be heard nationally from the Los Angeles studios of the Columbia Broadcasting System from 8 to 9 o'clock tonight via WMAL. This will be followed by a spiritual medley of "Every Time I Feel the Spirit, "Get on Board," and "Joshua Fit de Battle of Jericho." A waltz medley will include "Song of Songs," "Love Here Is My Heart" and "L'Amour, Toujours L'Amour." A medley from Blackbirds of 1928 will be "Gotta Have That Man," "I Can't Give You Anything But Love" and "Digga Digga Do." Other numbers selected are "Nobody But You," "Got a Feelin' for You," "Vilma, "Anything to Hold You, Baby," and "Button Up Your Overcoat.'

The overture to Glinka's "Ruslan and Ludmilla" will open the program that the Voice of Columbia will present at 9 o'clock. Operatic selections will include the Goodnight Quartet from Flotow's "Martha" and the "Ride of the Valkyries" from Wagner's "Die Walkure." Rubinstein's "Kammenoi-Ostrow," Mendelssohn's song "I Am a Roamer Bold" and Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2" are other selections to be heard.

"Artists' Short Recital" is the title of a program scheduled from WOL at 7:45 o'clock. This will be preceded by several short entertainment features.

Assistant Surgeon General R. C. Williams will be a speaker from WJSV at 8:30 o'clock this evening. There will be a short National Patriotic Council presentation at 9 o'clock, followed by the World Bookman and the Columbia Trio.

Jane C. INTERPRETS the MODE

A delightful bathing ensemble of gray crash with appliqued bright red design. Bathing suit of gray and red jersey. (Courtesy of Marynowitsky, Paris.)

HOW does a couturiere dress? Is she like a doctor who never takes his own medicine and the bald-headed hair-tonic salesman—or is she the chic and alluring figure she has every opportunity to be?

To which we may reply, with more truth than precision, "Yes—and no." There are those who dress most simply and even plainly, but for the most part the feminine creators of Paris fashions are distinctly elegantes.

Take Madame Ardanse, who is really the Baroness Accurti but who prefers the name that has brought her fame as a couturiere. At work, ever the perfect elegante, Madame Ardanse wears a simple and practical frock of black crepe de chine in a wrap-around effect, tied about the waist with a bow of the same material, sleeveless and with a plain turn-over collar.

But the evening is another story. One of her recent dinner gowns was a smartly simple but stunning affair of black taffeta and black tulle. The bodice, entirely plain, was very tight and without shoulder-straps. The skirt had two tiers of taffeta, both very full and slanting in opposite directions, with two tiers of tulle beneath the lower and one beneath the upper.

At the theater, she was seen on another evening, in a gown of pink chiffon, embroidered in strass in triangular motifs and tinted here and there by hand in a soft gray known as "Fumes of Opium."

One could not do more than follow the lead of this lovely lady of both the social and business world.

One yard of material—one bloomer. No sir, not a child's bloomer nor even one for a hipless version of modern femininity—very much the contrary, in fact! For it is cut specially to allow for hips when they must be allowed for, and to deny them when they should be denied!

They're very hard to explain, so you had better send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet which tells you how to make them!

Bolt de Jewelry.

The topaz is a profound stone. One has to learn to know and love it, and thus only can one appreciate its quiet beauty.

There seems to be quite a vogue at the moment for topaz. Its golden color enables it to match dresses of all shades except grays, but is is best worn with the colors of the first half of the rainbow.

Having once seen a Marynowitsky bathing suit, one has a way of feeling that life isn't just worth living unless one can wear a Marynowitsky bathing suit—and incidentally go to the beach.

Ah, Well! Here we are about as close to a beach as a snake is to wearing corsets, yet can get a certain satisfaction from sketching this delightful bathing suit ensemble of gray and red jersey, with its coat of gray crash toweling appliqued in a bright red design.

The Sunday Post contains the weekly fashion letter which is well worth looking for.

IN the above hand with South the Declarer the contract at Auction Bridge would be two or three Hearts, and at Contract Bridge four Hearts.

When the hand was played, West led the King of Spades and then, to trick 2, the Ace of Spades. Seeing no more Spades in the dummy, West led the Jack of Clubs to trick 3. With three Clubs in each hand, Declarer finessed by covering the Jack with the Queen; East won the trick with the King and returned Clubs. Dummy won with the Ace and led trumps. West's Ace took this trick and he then cashed a Club trick so that the adversaries of the Declarer took two Spade tricks, two Club tricks and one trump trick—five in all—Declarer making only two-odd.

Was there "something rotten in Denmark?"

THE CORRECT PLAY.

The Declarer played the above hand atrociously. After losing the first two Spade tricks which he could not save, he could see that he must lose a trick to the Ace of trumps; consequently he must take every other trick to make game.

It was possible that West's lead of the Club Jack was from King-Jack-Ten, but the probability was that East had the King. Declarer should not have taken the unnecessary risk involved in the finesse, but should have played the Ace. Then he should have led dummy's Ace, Queen and Jack of Diamonds, playing closed hand's Diamond King and two losing Club on those tricks. In the way Declarer makes all the remaining tricks except the Ace of Trumps, and consequently wins his game.

What Today Means to You

"CANCER."

IF June 25 is your birthday, the successful hours for you on this date are from 6 a. m. to 7 a. m., from 1 p. to 2 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12 noon, and from 3 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Planetary aspects on this day indicate many changes and a great deal of activity. There will be an opportunity to launch new enterprises as well as a development of those interests which engage your attention at the present time.

Children born June 25 will be light-hearted, happy-go-lucky, and when they get into trouble their friends will always help them out. They will be rather impulsive, but always tolerant and charitable.

Leadership is your forte, as you were born with great determination and strength of character. You also possess a charm all your own, as well as a striking personality. Underneath all this delightful exterior, there is an inflexible purposefulness, and this succeeds in achieving the results you desire You never resort to bullying measures. You are a living example of the advantage of a make-up which can best be characterized as "suaviter en modo, fortiter en re."

Your disposition is, unfortunately, rather a selfish one, and "Number One" actuates you in all you do. You have yet to learn the perfect happiness that is to be found in self-sacrifice, and doing for others what you would that they would do for you.

Gratitude is also missing from your composition and you accept favors and service from others as though it were a right, and not a privilege. In this respect, you have also yet to learn that "it is more blessed to give than to receive." Your emotions are powerful, but not enduring. You are more likely to become the victim of an infatuation, rather than a "great lover." Your fancies soon die—burned out by the intensity of their own fires. You are erratic, and, so far as affection is concerned, unreliable.

Successful people born June 25:

Edward Holyoke — Congregational clergyman.

John Langdon—Statesman.

Oliver Thorn Miller—Author.

McLintock Young—Inventor.

BRISK SELLING WAVE HITS STOCK MARKET

SOME LEADERS HOLD UP

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—The mid-year money pinch began today when the call money rate was marked up from 7 to 10 per cent, and the stock market, which had opened with another display of strength, ran into a heavy wave of selling which left final quotations irregular. Most of the early gains, which ran from 2 to 8 points in many instances and much higher in a few specialties, were cut down or wiped out, and a rather long list of stocks closed with net declines of 1 to 4 points.

Trading started off at a brisk pace, several blocks of 5,000 to 10,000 shares changing hands in the early trading, but it slowed down later, and the day's total just crossed the 3,000,000 shares mark.

Estimates of loans called during the day ranged from $50,000,000 to $80,000,000. Some of this represented the withdrawal of funds by corporations and others in preparation of midyear settlements, and some of it the usual "window dressing" by banks in anticipation of a comptroller's call on June 30. Call money renewed unchanged at 7, but advanced to 8, 9 and 10 as loans were called.

Highest Since May 15.

This was the first time that the official rate has been 10 per cent since May 15, and some "outside loans" were reported to have been arranged as high as 12 per cent, indicating that a further rise in the official rate was likely this week. Time money rates also were somewhat firmer.

Except for the higher call money rates and reports of another substantial increase in California crude oil production last week, most of the day's news developments were favorable. Wheat rallied about 3 cents a bushel, but lost about half its gain.

Youngstown steel plants were reported to be operating at practical capacity, a better demand was noted for copper, refined sugar prices were advanced, and stockholders of the International Mercantile Marine Co. approved the recapitalization plan.

Again Whirled Upward.

Some of the high-priced industrials and rails were again whirled upward in rather spectacular fashion. Auburn Auto, which sold as low as 221 this year, soared 17¼ points to a new high record at 324¼, and closed at the top. New York & Harlem jumped 16 points to 327 on odd lot sales. Allis-Chalmers ran up more than 7 points to a new high at 252 and retained all but a point of its gain. Adams Express soared 35 points to 625.

Curiously, General Motors and Radio Corporation common, which had been the subjects of "bear" attacks on the theory that they would be among the first to sell down in a money pinch, made their best prices of the day after the maximum call money rate was posted, closing with net gains of 1¾ and 2½ points, respectively. American Can also was heavily bought in the late trading, closing 2½ points higher at 148¾, or less than 2½ points below the year's high.

Copper shares, with the exception of American Smelting, were under pressure on the theory that distribution was taking place in those issues. Anaconda opened with a block of 10,000 shares at 118¼, sold down to 114¾, and closed at 115¼, off 2¼ net.

Buying in Rails Dies Down.

Mexican Seaboard opened nearly 3 points higher on the announcement that its new Kennedy well showed such a tremendous volume of gas at 6,410 feet that extreme measures were necessary to control the flow. Other oils were sluggish, Skelly selling down 2 points.

Rails, in which a big summer market has been predicted, started upward at the start, but the buying movement died down when money rates went up. Atchison, New Haven, Norfolk & Western, Union Pacific and Pennsylvania all attained new high prices for the year, the last named selling at the best price in about twenty years.

Baldwin Locomotive, which is reported to be considering a four-to-one stock split up and the declaration of a stock dividend this week, sold down 9 points on a few transactions. The Fisher & Cutten interests, which control Baldwin, are reported to still have in mind a merger of Baldwin, Westinghouse Electric and other companies.

Foreign exchanges drifted within a rather narrow range, Sterling cables holding steady around $4.84⅛, making further gold imports likely.

The rise in wheat was attributed to reports of frost in Canada and a decrease in the domestic visible supply. Corn eased slightly on forecasts of better crop weather. Cotton closed unchanged at 50 cents a bale higher.

BOND PRICES REACT AS MONEY STIFFENS

Trading Is Most Active in Weeks; Convertibles Again Leaders.

FOREIGN GROUP IS FIRMER

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—The bond market displayed the best activity in several weeks today, but prices moved irregularly lower in the face of tighter credit conditions.

Although convertibles accounted for their usual large proportion of the day's total business, railroad and oil company obligations, as well as a few utilities, enjoyed a broader market. Up to noon trading in three or four of the popular stock option issues absorbed virtually three-fourths of the volume as American Telephone 4½s, International Telephone 4½s and Atchison 4½s changed hands in large blocks, but after midday other sections of the list drew considerable attention.

The International Telephone bonds and the Missouri Pacific convertible 5½s reached new high ground, closing at 134½ and 111, respectively. The former sold as high as 135¼ and the later at 112 in the early afternoon. The American Telephone issue showed a net advance of ¼ on its closing price of 132 after a turnover of nearly $2,750,000, par value.

Selling of stocks after the sharp advance in the call money rate caused a net decline of ½ in the Atchisons, while Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4½s sold off by a smaller fraction.

Rails were mixed. Atchison general 4s, one of the old-time standbys, receded ½, to 90½, where it was within half a point of the year's low. Losses appeared on fair-sized trading in Chicago & Northwestern 6½s and 4½s, Pennsylvania gold 4¾s, Rio Grande, Rio Grande Western 4s, St. Louis & San Francisco 4½s, and Big Four general 4s.

Seaboard Air Line 5s moved up more than a point in the speculative rail group, which found Ulster & Delaware 5s advancing 4½. Other rails to improve were Boston & Maine 5s, Rock Island 4½s, Northern Pacific 6s and Erie 5s.

Considerable activity appeared among the oils, but price changes were only nominal. Shell Union 5s, Sinclair Crude 5½s and Skelly 5½s receded slightly, while Standard of New Jersey 5s, Sinclair consolidated 7s and Sinclair Pipe Line held to the previous close on fair trading. Humble Oil 5s were slightly firmer.

Interest in the New York tractions centered around Brooklyn-Manhattan 6s, which traded within a 2-point range for a net fractional gain. The Interborough issues were weak.

Irregularity in the utilities resulted in losses in American Telephone 5s, Duquesne Light, 4½s, New York Telephone 6s, Utilities Power 6s. Montana Power 5s and Utah Power & Light 5s were stronger.

A rise of 2½ in Pierce Arrow 8s to the new 1929 high of 109 was a feature of the industrial section, where new lows were made by National Radiator 6½s and Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron 6s.

United States Government securities ruled a trifle higher on small transactions. Foreign bonds maintained their recent firmness, with French Republic 7s, the Mexicans and most of the Brazilian issues advancing fractionally, the first two on moderately substantial turnovers.

ARMY AND NAVY HEADS MOVE TO HEAL GRID BREACH

Washington Is Second, Beaten 3 Lengths by New Yorkers.

the lead from Washington and the Navy, the early pace setters.

The order of those that finished this amazing battle with the river was: Columbia, Washington, Penn, Navy and Wisconsin.

All were waterlogged and Washington's shell all but sank as the Huskies, after surprising everybody, especially their own coach, youthful Al Uibrickson, had rowed a spectacular race all the way down.

Penn, occupying the No. 1 lane and profiting thereby from whatever shelter there was under the lee of the Hudson Highlands, rowed forward steadily to take third place. Eight lengths behind Washington, but two lengths in front of the badly waterlogged Navy shell, which lost all of its early advantage in the last mile. Wisconsin was another three lengths behind Penn. The Badgers, trailing from the start, nevertheless stuck to their oars to finish, while more favored rivals were going down under the buck-jumping influence of the river.

Columbia's great victory in the classic varsity race under such astounding and unprecedented conditions brought to a climax an all-New York sweep in the historic regatta for the first time since 1920.

Syracuse's freshmen crews, leading from start to finish, beat California and Cornell, as well as four other rivals, in the opening race at two miles, after which Cornell's junior varsity eight came from behind with a smashing finish to beat Columbia and four others in a thrilling race over the three-mile route.

The order of freshmen finish was Syracuse, California, Cornell, Navy, Columbia, Massachusetts Tech and Penn. In the "Jay Vee" race, they finished in this order: Cornell, Columbia, Navy, Washington, Syracuse and Penn.

Both preliminary races were rowed in somewhat rough seas, but nothing like the swells that broke over the varsity boats. But for the succession of false starts that marred the getaways of all the three races, the final event probably would have escaped the treacherous turn of the river. Due to five faulty starts, two each in the freshman and varsity events, and one in the junior varsity contest, the big eights did not finally go off together until 8:15 p. m., exactly an hour after it was scheduled.

Navy and Washington Set The Early Pace.

Even so, there was little warning of the disappointing as well as tragic spectacle to come as Referee Julian Curtiss, of Yale, fired the gun that sent the big fleet of nine crews down the river, already shrouded in dusk as a southwest wind rolled up heavy clouds and kicked up the surface of the river.

There was a surprise from the start as the Navy took an early lead over Columbia and then was followed by Washington in a revival of the ancient Middie-Husky duels that lasted until near the 3-mile mark. M. I. T., splashing badly, gave the first danger signal as the Engineer boat began to sink before the half-way mark was reached. Already trailing and hopelessly outdistanced, they stopped rowing and were taken out of their shell by a coach's launch.

With eight crews left in the running, at the 2-mile mark, it was a three division affair, with Columbia in striking distance of Washington and the Navy, then Cornell, California and Penn well bunched, with Syracuse and Wisconsin trailing.

California Drops Back as Columbia Gains Lead.

Nearing the high railroad bridge, the 3-mile mark, other crews began to settle lower in the water, California, after holding fifth place for about a mile, dropped back to sixth and never was able to improve that position. With

Tilden, 6 Other Americans, Victorious at Wimbledon

Allison, Hunter, Lott, Hennessey, Coen and Van Ryan Other Winners, With Chandler Only Loser; Miss Wills Plays Today.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 24 (A.P.).—Sans thrills and major upsets, the Wimbledon men's singles championships got under way today. Seven of the eight Americans entered won their way past the first round, along with 57 others of the world's best court artists.

Big Bill Tilden, the ace of Uncle Sam's invaders, danced through a straight set victory, 6—1, 6—1, 6—2, with H. V. S. Dillon, of Ireland, to set the pace for his fellow countrymen. And all but E. G. Chandler, intercollegiate champion in 1925 and 1926 while attending California, followed suit. Chandler lost to the hard-hitting Texan, Wilmer Allison, who succeeded him as intercollegiate title holder in 1927. Qualifying for the second round along with Tilden and Allison were Francis T. Hunter, George Lott, John Hennessey, Wilbur Coen and Johnny Van Ryn.

Tilden's session against the Irishman served to give the lanky American the pace of the center court on which, during the coming two weeks, he must mainly wage his campaign for the Wimbledon title he gained in 1920 and 1921.

Lott Scores One of Day's Most Popular Victories.

J. C. Gregory, the only Englishman to be seeded in the draw, and Jean Borotra, one of France's leading hopes, in turn won matches on the center court, while scattered over the other sixteen courts the outcome of the matches was as expected except, perhaps, for the defeat of the Scotsman, I. G. Collins, by Nigel Sharpe, of England.

Francis T. Hunter, second ranking American player, put an early end to the Wimbledon hopes of the Japanese, R. Niki, who had won many tournaments in England this year. Hunter won in straight sets, 6—1, 7—5, 6—3.

John Hennessey, the smiling youngster from Indianapolis, appeared to have a hard task before him in Roy Malcolm, the South African. Hennessey was down 1-3 in the first set before he found his game, then steadily he outplayed and outraced his sturdy opponent to win, 6—3, 6—0, 6—3.

George Lott, third ranking United States player, scored one of the most popular victories of the day in beating the Frenchman du Pal in straight sets, 6—4, 6—3, 6—2. Lott arrived in England Saturday and had only short practice sessions at Roeampton and Queens Club yesterday.

Van Ryn's Play Impresses British Tennis Experts.

J. A. Wright, the Canadian Davis Cupper, had Wilbur Coen, of Kansas City, down one set before the American youth hit his stride. After dropping the opening set 2—6, Coen got back to work puncturing his opponent's defense with fine volleying and finally won out, 2—6, 9—7, 6—4, 6—2.

Making a spectacular first appearance at Wimbledon, Johnny Van Ryn defeated the Frenchman, A. Gentian, without a struggle, 6—2, 6—0. No American in recent years has brought out such favorable comment from British experts as the Orange, N. J., star. The former Princeton net ace outclassed Gentian, who is one of the ranking players in France, in every department of the game. The prediction is that the American youth should go far in the tournament.

Miss Helen Wills, who is generally conceded the women's title, makes her debut tomorrow against Miss G. E. Tomblin, but not on the center court, where three Americans will play. Lott meeting the Belgian, L. De Borman, Hunter angling with Bunny Austin and Van Ryn with rugnon, of France.

Tilden Meets Campbell, British Star, Today.

Senorita De Alvarez, the Spanish threat to Miss Will's crown, follows the United States ranking woman player on court one with Mrs. Bruce as her opponent. Miss Helen Jacobs meets Mrs. A. Neave, of South Africa, as her first round opponent, while Elizabeth Ryan plays Miss D. Anderson, of Great Britain.

Other matches will find Hennessey against J. S. Worthington; Tilden against C. H. Campbell, of England; Coen against C. J. Robbins, of South Africa, and Allison paired against Hon. Cooper, of Great Britain.

Cubs Win Series Final From Pittsburgh, 4 to 3

Chicago, June 24 (A.P.).—The Cubs finally won a game from the Pirates, taking the final of the series today by a 4-to-3 count. Home runs by Cuyler, Wilson and Hornsby provided all of Chicago's runs, while Ervin Brame, the Pirate pitcher, accounted for two runs and gave Pittsburgh a temporary lead with his drive over the fence in right center in the fifth inning. Both pitchers, Brame and Charley Root, went the entire distance.

Giants Drop 4th Game In Row to Robins, 5-2

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—Brooklyn won its second game from the Giants in two days and its fourth in successive meetings today by trouncing New York, 5 to 2 in the opener of their series at the Polo Grounds.

The Giants played a slipshod game while William Watson Clark held them to four hits in the first seven innings. One of them was a homer by Lindstrom which gave New York its only runs.

Tigers Pound Faber; Beat Chisox, 13 to 4

Detroit, Mich., June 24 (AP).—Urban Faber, the red-thatched veteran spitballer who in his last start against the Tigers held them to one hit, today was the victim of a ferocious battering as the Bengals defeated the White Sox, 13 to 4. Five Chicago errors contributed heavily to the Tiger score.

Yde, although wild and hit ten times by the Sox, including a home run by Faber, weathered the game without serious trouble. Danny Dugan, who succeeded Faber, was as bad as his predecessor.

Nats, Meeting Yanks, Seek 5th in Row

Hayes to Be Kept in Line-Up to Preserve Winning Outfit.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

FOLLOWING a day's rest, during which the weather man took the opportunity of getting some rain out of the way, the Nationals resume play at the Clark Griffith Statdium this afternoon with the world champion New York Yankees as their guests. Johnson's team has beaten the New Yorkers in five of eight starts and on their last visit here, took three out of four, and the Nats are not worrying over this abbreviated series, which calls for but two games, one today and one tomorrow.

Johnson's team, which has received exceptional pitching of late, has won four games in a row, its longest streak of the current season, and, with Fred Marberry on the slab, hopes to extend this another game today. The fact that Babe Ruth has returned to the line-up is causing no particular worry, for it must be remembered that the "King Kleagle of Klout," was doing business at his regular stand in all of the games which his team has played against the natives this season.

Marberry, Opposing Hoyt, to Seek Fourth Straight.

Marberry has developed into the Nats' most dependable starter and although he was hammered in one of his recent starts he has a record of three successive victories to his credit, including one against the champions here at the beginning of the present home stand. Miller Huggins is expected to use Waite Hoyt and Herb Pennock in the two games here, with the latter probably being held over for tomorrow. The pair tolled against the Athletics Friday in a double-header and the two are due, with the southpaw likely to draw the extra day's rest, as Hoyt is the stronger and can work more often.

Manager Johnson has had in mind benching Second Baseman Jack Hayes in favor of Buddy Myer and would have done so Saturday had not the latter suffered an injury to his throwing arm in pregame batting practice. However, skippers are loath to break up winning combinations, and Johnson stated last night that he planned to leave Hayes in the starting line-up, although if he shows up particularly poor at bat the switch may be made during the game. No other changes are likely.

In tomorrow's contest, which will end the present home stay except for a single game with the leading Athletics here on the Sabbath, either Adolph Liska or Lloyd Brown will get the call. The latter performed brilliantly against the Red Sox in Saturday's doubleheader, and unless he proves that this effort was simply a flash in the pan, he will be considered as a regular from now on.

Braxton, Rested, to Rejoin Nationals Today.

Pitcher Garland Braxton, who has been enjoying a week's vacation without pay at his North Carolina home, is due to rejoin the Nationals today. This layoff was made at his own request in order that the quietness and serenity of Alamanse County would benefit his shattered nerves and worn-down physical condition. It is to be hoped that the vacation did this, for Braxton led the American League in effectiveness last season and is a first-class pitcher when right. And the Nationals have shown lately how well they look when they get at least an even break on the mound.

While it must be admitted that a .277 batting average is not becoming to Capt. Joe Judge and, for this reason, many of the scribes are doing their annual stunt of recent years in singing the veteran's "swan song," the fact must not be overlooked that the Nat first-sacker is fielding as well as he ever did and has turned many an apparent hit into a putout by fancy fielding.

More and more have home fans been impressed with Sammy West's ability as an outfielder of late. In addition to roaming to both sodes, back, and in toward second, West has made a number of brilliant pegs. If he were a consistent .300 hitter, he would rate well up among the best fly-chasers in the majors today. At that, although his present stick mark is but .246, he has driven hmoe 33 runs, one more than has Sam Rice, who is hitting .354, and two more than has Goose Goslin, with his .304 average.

Macks' Double Play Beats Boston in 9th

Philadelphia, June 24 (A.P.).—The Athletics increased their lead over the Yankees to nine games by winning a close decision from the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 4, while the New Yorkers were idle. Eddie Rommell won his own game in the eighth inning when he broke a 4-4 tie with a long double that scored Joe Boley from first base.

A double play with full bases in the ninth inning saved the day for the Athletics after Rommel had weakened and Shores was called to the rescue. Rommell got credit for his seventh straight victory of the season with no defeats.

McCarthy Second in College Golf Qualifying; Pare and Mangin, G. U., Score in Net Tourney

By BRIAN BELL
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

DEAL, N. J., June 24 (A.P.).—George T. Dunlap, jr., of Pinehurst, N. C., playing for Princeton, led a field of 95 starters over the first 18 holes of qualifying play for the intercollegiate golf championship of the United States today with a sparkling 72, par for the difficult course of the Hollywood Golf Club. The qualifying test extends over 36 holes, with 18 remaining to be played tomorrow, the low 32 entering match play Wednesday.

The team championship will be decided in the two qualifying rounds, the low four each day of six nominated as a team, counting in awarding the group laurel. After the first 18 holes, Princeton led Georgetown by a margin of 4 strokes, 310 to 314. Princeton might have had a longer lead if William R. Pond had been nominated for the team of six from which the four low scores daily are selected. Pond's name was not included in the select half dozen, but he turned in a score of 75. Princeton won the team championship and the Maxwell cup last year.

Only Thirteen Break 80 on Well-Trapped Course.

Scores on the whole were high for the day, only 13 of the best the colleges could offer managing to break 80. It was suggested tonight that 36-hole totals of 165 probably would qualify. Last year there was a play-off for qualifying places among the players with scores of 163.

The well-trapped and long Hollywood course caused scores to mount, especially at the twelfth hole where there were eights and nines on some of the cards.

Par for the lay-out is 72, just Dunlap's figure in leading the pack home at the half-way mark. The Princeton boy, however, had to get under even fours on the second nine to get a stand-off, as he took 37 for the first half of his journey.

Maurice McCarthy Jr., son of a pro and a great golfer in his own right, rallied to play great golf today to sustain his reputation as defending champion. McCarthy, a husky Georgetown student who lives in Brooklyn, had a shaky first nine, using 39 strokes, but he came rolling home with a 35 to count 74 for the 18 holes. Two great putts at the last two holes were helpful.

Dick Wilson, Georgetown, Scores a 77.

With Pond at 75 was Charles D. Hunter, of the University of Washington, and four were grouped at 77, Bob Goldwater, University of Illinois; Dick Wilson, Georgetown; E. E. Wilson, Ohio State and Charles F. Sheldon, Lehigh.

Francis W. Ryan, long-hitting star from the University o. Detroit, who defeated McCarthy, the champion, when Georgetown played Detroit, scored 78, and four stood at 79, Phil Finlay, Harvard; Fred Bannerot, Yale, and F. P. Hersey and John G. Jones, both of Princeton. Jones, president of the Intercollegiate Golf Association, was the last starter, and his score sent Princeton into the lead as a team.

Three well-known players, Al Brodbeck, of Pennsylvania; Lester Bolstad, Minnesota, the Big Ten champion, and Tommy Aycock, the Yale sharpshooter had scores of 80. Mark Flanagan, Georgetown, and J. A. Rcberts, Yale, runner-up last year, took 83.

30 Colleges From Every Section Compete.

A score of 85 by Don Moe, University of Oregon, who gave Phil Perkins a great battle in the amateur at Braeburn last year, was a surprise. The West-

Browns Bow to Tribe; Drop to Third Place

St. Louis, Mo., June 24 (AP).—The Yankees went into the undisputed American League runner-up position today when Cleveland defeated the Browns, 10 to 4, on the New York open date. Crowder and Ogden were ineffective, allowing 12 hits, two of them homers by Averill and two circuit walkops by J. Sewell and Falk, whose drive in the first brought in two other Indians.

Parley to End Sports Break Announced

Resumption of Gridiron Classic Next Fall Possible.

THE first step toward healing the athletic breach between West Point and Annapolis has been taken, it was learned yesterday when Secretary of War James Good announced that he had conferred with Secretary of Navy Francis Adams with a view to reestablishing the relations which were broken off after the 1927 football game.

As yet the two secretaries have not proceeded far with negotiations and it is problematical that relations could be resumed by next fall, Secretary Good said.

If a conciliation is effected as early as next fall the institutions would have to alter their schedules in order to meet in a football game, as their gridiron lists now are filled for 1929, 1930 and part of 1931. A post-season game or a substitute for one already listed would be the only means of actually resuming relations next fall. Neither team might find it desirable or possible to cancel a game already scheduled, Secretary

PANUCO, ADDED STARTER, WINS AQUEDUCT FEATURE

Byers' Horse Scores at 7 to 1

Mi Vida, Choice, Pulls Up Lame After a Poor Start.

By GEORGE DALEY.

NEW YORK, June 24 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—All the work of the handicappers and the figuring and fingering of the form charts for the Speculation Claiming Stakes at Aqueduct today went for nothing. Panuco, an added starter running in the colors of J. F. Byers, won it and the prize of $4,400.

Added starters are unpopular with racing fanciers and the bane of those who spend hours over the dope sheets. In the Middle West there are no added starters. The rule provides that all in stakes must be made through the box the day before. Here in the East, however, owners and trainers have more leeway in this irritating practice.

Panuco had No. 13 on his saddle cloth, carried 107 pounds, was quoted at 7 to 1 and, when it came to racing, smothered his field for speed.

McCoy took him right to the front and there he stayed to win easily from Coin Collector and Valorous. Back among the also rans were the favored ones—My Vida, Distraction and Recreation.

My Vida, the choice, went to the post bandaged rather tightly in front and pulled up lame as if on the point of breaking down. Recreation, an uncertain mare at the barrier, broke slowly and practically was left at the post.

Yucatan in Hard Drive To Win at Latonia.

Latonia Race Track, Ky., June 24 (A. P.).—The card here was an ordinary Monday one with little to choose from. What might be considered as the feature, the fifth number, the La Grange purse for 3-year-olds and up, maidens, over a mile and 70 yards, was captured by R. W. Clark's 3-year-old Yucatan. Peggy Mac from the H. P. Headley Stable was second and Peter Dixon from the J. D. Doyle string was third. Ten started.

Yucatan, away fast, but racing in eight quarters to the turn into the home stretch, responded stoutly to urging and in a long, hard drive, finished first by a head.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

—BY BERT E. COLLYER—

THE wopsey tiger.

Out at Washington Park the Nevada Stable will cut a rare old-fashioned melon. It is none other than CRUCERO. No, darling, you do not pronounce it, rather you gargle just as you would a mess of spaghetti. Also when this speed marvel turns on the juice it will be Katy bar the door. I know something. All this happens in the second spasm. OTILLA and FANCY STAR for what is left.

ALTAVAR is given one more chance to deliver the goods in the day's opener. It is pretty close between PORT GAR, TABBY CAT and THEO ROCHESTER for the balance of the purse. Tab the ring action closely.

BRUNO, which now runs very kindly, is taken to kop all the kale in the third. I know the stable is shooting. Enuf.

The sixth promises to be a corking contest, one mile and 70 yards out of the chute. This way rigged I am forced to string along with PATRICIAN MARIAN, with MALLY JANE and MAXIVA heads apart.

The latter won rather impressively last time. The clockers' special goes in the closing dash, none other than SUITOR, which has been showing keen speed in recent private trials.

Over at Hamilton the good word is the consistent CONTEMPLATE, which goes in the fifth. This one runs equally well in any going, hence let your conscience be your guide.

KAURI is another standout in the fourth, while betting on FLAMINGO in the closing dash is like getting money from home. Ye wekkum.

Down at Latonia there is no reason to believe that COL. SHAW will not repeat. He is a big, strong healthy hide capable of running all day.

ENERGY seems to have a 5-point call in the third, though MICKEY D is simply poison right now. The latter must have mud for his best effort.

Toss out GEORGE McCRANN'S last; it goes for Mr. Sweeney, the gent who manicures the morgue. More anon.

RECORD ENTRY EXPECTED IN D. C. TITLE NET EVENT

Advanced Date Is Expected to Attract More Entries.

Army-Navy Leech Cup Players Will Add Class to Field.

THE District of Columbia's thirty-fifth annual men's tennis championship tournament, which opens July 4 on the courts of the Edgemoor Club, is going to be a record breaker from the standpoint of the number of players entered, Bob Newby, chairman of the Middle Atlantic Association sanctioning committee, predicted last night.

Newby has several sound reasons for his prediction. It is his opinion, as well as that of most of the tennis leaders, that tennis is just coming into its own here. The number of players of championship caliber has increased remarkably during the past two years, and, after 35 years, the District championships are just beginning to assume their rightful place on the sports calendar.

The principal reason that the largest entry list is expected this year lies in the fact that the tournament has been moved forward more than a month. In recent years, District title events have been listed in August.

Earlier Date to Boost Field, Officials Believe.

It has been learned from experience that many of the court devotees are away from the city at that time. Only last year Tom Mangan and Gwynn King had to forfeit a semifinal doubles match for that reason after they had been acclaimed the favorites to take the title.

Newby and his cohorts believe they have made a move favorable to the development of tennis here in obtaining an earlier date for the tourney. They are also elated to start the title competition on July 4, a holiday, when one or more of the early rounds of single play can be completed. Opening on the holiday also serves to strengthen Newby's predictions for a record entry list.

Although entry blanks for the tournament have just been distributed to local sports stores, tennis shops and country clubs, the tournament committee has been informed by many of the leading players that they will compete.

Army-Navy Leech Cup Teams to Enter Event.

Clarence Charest, the 1927 singles champion, who was unable to defend his title last year, will be among the select group when play starts next week. Since his remarkable comeback in the City of Washington tourney, when he swept aside many of the stars to reach the final, the chief counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau has been showing even more consistent play. He proved a big help to the local team in retaining the Hotchkiss Cup.

Practically every member of the Army and Navy Leech Cup teams, including Maj. Robert C. Van Vliet, who won the District singles crown last year over Tom Mangan, will be entered in the tournament. It was thought at first that Maj. Van Vliet would be unable to compete in the Leech Cup matches and consequently the District title events, but the Army officials have given their assurance that their ace will arrive here next week to begin training for the service net classics. Competition in the local tournament is welcomed by both of the rival service teams.

Mangan, Considine Seen As Threat in Doubles.

The southpaw doubles team, comprised of Hal Fowler and Maurice O'Neil, will be on hand, brandishing the familiar steel racquets, in defense of the doubles title. Some other formidable combinations will be entered from the Army and Navy teams, and it is probable that Tom Mangan and Bon Considine will pair. Dooley Mitchell will likely team with his partner, Bill Buchanan, and Clarence Charest may select his partner from among the many young stars fast stepping into prominence.

Entries will close one week from today. Joseph Rutley, chairman of the tournament committee, will receive entries and fees at 4722 Davenport street northwest. Drawings will be made after 6 o'clock of June 2.

After defeating Walter Usher, of Lehigh, 6—0, 6—0, in a first round match, E. B. Avory, of Cambridge, returned to the courts to triumph over George L. Frost, of Bucknell, 6—0, 6—0, in the next round.

E. O. Mather, of Oxford, drew a default in the first round, but in the second round he defeated E. B. Ward, of Harvard, 6—4, 6—4. R. R. T. Young, of Cambridge, also drew a default in the opening round. In a second round match he eliminated Morton Baker, of Pittsburgh, 6—2, 7—5.

Thirty-one players were left in the tournament at the conclusion of competition today.

Winner, Revealed as Pro, Is Stripped of Golf Trophy

THE golf committee in charge of the recent National Press Club Building golf tournament yesterday afternoon settled a question which has been causing discussion ever since the event occurred last Friday.

When the cards had been turned in the low gross score, 78, was credited to James M. Powers. It was later discovered that Powers is a golf professional, although for some time he has not been connected with any club, but has been engaged in the advertising business with a firm located in the building. When called before the committee he admitted that he had not been reinstated as an amateur, but claimed that the official announcement of the tournament placed no restrictions upon entrants other than that they must be occupants of the building or members of the National Press Club, and that he was, therefore, fully eligible. He added that he was not now acting in the capacity of a golf professional and protested against being deprived of the prize for low gross score.

His arguments were, however, overruled by the committee for three reasons: First, that in the Press Club Building tournament, as in club invitation affairs, it was expected that only amateurs would participate; second, that he had not played his qualification round with the partner assigned to him, but had been accompanied by golfers who were not entered in the event and that his card was not properly attested; and, third, that the tournament was played under the rules of the United States Golf Association, which would further bar him.

The committee decided to present the replica of the trophy to P. S. Ridsdale, managing editor of Nature Magazine and a member of the Chevy Chase Club, who had the next lowest score, 82, and to have his name inscribed upon the original.

Smales Still Leading Johnson in Cue Match

E. C. Johnson last night gained 18 points on W. M. Smales when he took the third block of their pocket-billiard challenge match at Elmer's parlors, 145 to 127. Smales is still leading, however, 379 to 335, with the final block listed for tomorrow night.

Johnson had high run last night of 18, while Smales' largest cluster was 15.

the proud world's champions losing their terrific battle with the river, Syracuse and then Cornell began to lose distance. So did the Navy, but Columbia, seeming to thrive on the conditions, set out to overhaul Washington.

Nearing the railroad bridge Columbia and Washington were on even terms, but as the prows came out from the shadows the New Yorkers were in front by six feet and gaining with every punch of their oars into the choppy waves. Washington hung on gamely for the next half mile, but the Huskies were a length behind, with a half mile to go. The race, so far as its competitive features were concerned, was all over. It was just a question of Columbia's margin, and the Glendon-schooled youngsters made it three good lengths in a dazzling finish.

Syracuse Sinks Suddenly After Passing Bridge.

Disaster trailed them. Syracuse was forced out just after passing the railroad bridge. Their boat sank suddenly beneath them and nine heads bobbed about in the water, where a moment before they had been pulling manfully, even if slowly, on. California's final downfall came at the three and a half mile mark, where the heavy Golden Bear array gave up the losing fight. Their weight, a factor in so many of their great victories, proved their undoing this time, for they shipped water all the way down and quickly became sluggish.

Cornell's boat, which cracked with less than a half mile to go, was the last to sink below the surface and bring the rescue squad into action once more. The Ithacans stuck it out until their slim cedar craft finally broke under the strain, adding the final episode to the strangest and most disconcerting boat race the Hudson has ever seen.

There have been rough days on the old river before but nothing to approach the effect of the high running seas this evening. They were in sharp contrast to the ideal and record-breaking conditions under which California rowed to victory last year over Columbia. What made them worse was a southwest wind that came up to hit the backs of the oarsmen and send them splashing high after every dig of the oars.

Winning Time 4 Minutes Slower Than Record.

Under these conditions, nothing even approaching record times was possible. The varsity race, in which the main contest was with the river instead of the racing opposition, Columbia's winning time was nearly four minutes behind the record of 18:35 4-5 set by California last year.

The most exciting race of the regatta was the junior varsity struggle, in which Cornell came from behind to win with a finish that saw four of the six contenders blanketed at the end of the three miles. The Itahcans cut down Columbia's margin to a bare quarter length at the two-and-a-half-mile mark, then jumped into the lead to win by a good length in 15 minutes, 21 1-5 seconds. Navy was a scant third of a length behind Columbia, while Washington was only another half length in back of the middies.

Syracuse wound up fifth, three lengths behind Washington, but three more lengths ahead of Penn.

Three hitherto undefeated crews—Cornell, Columbia and California—took the wash of Syracuse's speedy freshmen eight in the first race. The Orange boatload fought off Cornell in the first mile and then withstood California's fine closing challenge to beat the Golden Bears from the Far West by a length. California was two lengths ahead of Cornell, which led Navy's plebes by another length. Columbia, M. I. T. and Penn were from one to five lengths behind.

Potomac Yards Scores; Game May Be Protested

Garrison's double with two on in the ninth won for Potomac Yards over Washington Terminal, 3 to 2, yesterday in a Terminal Morning League game. The win gains the first half title for Potomac Yards, but a protest of ineligibility of C. Watkins, catcher, who played under an assumed name early in the schedule, may cause a forfeit and a three-cornered deadlock for first place in the league between Potomc Yards, Washington Terminal and Capital Traction.

GOLFERS TEE OFF TODAY IN EVENT

More Than 200 in 2-Day Medal Round at Congressional.

THE annual invitation golf tournament of the Congressional Country Club will begin this morning, the field of over 200 entries being divided into qualification rounds today and tomorrow. At 8 o'clock the first pair, F. T. Mitchell and O. U. Singer, members of the home club, will start a procession which will continue without intermission until 3:50 o'clock this afternoon.

Among the players scheduled for today are Miller B. Stevinson, Columbia, District amateur champion, who is paired with John C. Shorey, Bannockburn, District junior champion. Harry Pitt, Manor, former Middle Atlantic champion, and Page Hufty, champion of the Congressional Club, are also on the list for this afternoon.

Women in Miniature Event On Indian Spring Course.

About 50 golfers went out to the Congressional Club yesterday afternoon to play a practice round, but owing to the heavy rainfall it was decided to close the course until late in the afternoon, so that only a few players were able to avail themselves of a preliminary circuit.

Women golfers will this morning participate in a miniature tournament on the Indian Spring course under the auspices of the Women's District Golf Association. In the afternoon the golfing members of the Washington Typotheta will hold their annual tournament on the same course.

Capital City Junior Nines Meet Tomorrow

Teams now hopelessly lost in the race for championship honors in the junior section of the Capital City League, may get another chance at the title when the managers of the ten teams meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Municipal Playground office in the District Building.

The managers will decide whether a second series will be played when the present race is completed—the middle of next month.

Managers of the Vic Sports Shop and Lionel teams, undefeated to date and tied for first place far in front of the remainder of the field, have agreed to play a second series, the winner of each series meeting in a championship series in September. Managers of nine of the teams are favorable to the plan.

Proctor Loses Decision In Atlantic City Bout

Special to The Washington Post.

Atlantic City, June 24.—Joe Proctor, young Washington light heavyweight, dropped a close decision to Joe Seltzer, of Philadelphia, here tonight in the ten-round feature bout at the North Side A. C. Proctor fought back gamely after having taken a count of six in the first round but the Philadelphian's strong finish in the ninth and tenth sessions proved decisive.

Seltzer floored Proctor with a terrific right hand in the opening round and Proctor found it difficult to last the session after regaining his feet. He did not completely recover until the fourth round, but then launched a hot attack that plainly had Seltzer in trouble. The two have been rematched for a bout here on July 15.

ST. THOMAS' WILLING.

The St. Thomas Nine, which plays the Immaculate Conception tossers Saturday in a Holy Name League encounter, would like to schedule Wednesday, Thursday and Friday games with midget teams. The St. Thomas' have the use of Friendship diamond. Phone Adams 1515 or Cleveland 1705.

TO ORGANIZE LEAGUES.

Teams of Northeast Washington interested in joining the Boys Club Peewee and Insect Leagues are requested to have representatives at a meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Noel House.

LIONELS TO REPORT.

All members of the Lionel Junior Nine will report today at 5 o'clock on No. 10 diamond in uniform. Manager Koerner requests all players to report early.

CLASSY FIELD FOR TAKOMA HIKE

Agee Will Head Large Baltimore Delegation July 4.

By RICHARD S. TENNYSON.

THE modified marathon to be conducted in conjunction with the Takoma Park Chamber of Commerce, Citizens Association and playground, has assumed such proportions in the last few days that it has virtually taken the lead in importance on a program that originally listed the 7-mile run as a minor activity of the Fourth of July celebration.

The marathon has the official sanction of the A. A. U., a fact that has caused nationally known athletes to send their entries to David Adamson, chairman of the athletic program for the day.

Heading the list is William Agee, sensational Emorywood Club, of Baltimore, runner. With Agee will come fifteen club members to vie for the marathon title, and Adamson is inviting runners from the Naval Academy, Cross County Club, of Baltimore, and the Baltimore Policemen.

Haskell Clark, the well-known Knights of Columbus, of Washington, athlete, has entered, as have many other District of Columbia harriers. This last fact is one that is most pleasing to the committee in charge, as it is hoped to bring out one of the largest District entries in the history of marathons here.

Other Events to Be Staged on Turf Course.

It is the opinion of the committee that there are many runners of ability here who are anxious to compete, and it is hoped that all will try for the honors in the 7-mile stretch July 4.

As an inducement to the Washingtonians, arrangements have been made to present medals to all who finish the grind which will start in front of the District Building at 1:30 o'clock and finish at the Takoma Park Playground, Fifth and Whittier streets northwest.

From the District Building to the Takoma Playground, the distance is 6½ miles, giving the runner a half-mile jaunt around the playground to complete the 7-mile run.

The races will be handled at the playground under conditions unique in this section. All events will be run over turf instead of the usual cinder path. In the old country, turf meets are common and records made are as enviable as those made on the cinder paths.

Aside from the marathon, the events will be: 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, half-mile run, mile run, running broad jump and running high jump for the seniors, while the youngsters will be entertained with novelty races and relay races for Boy and Girl Scouts. Horseshoe pitching for both men and women also will be a feature.

HISERS DRILL TOMORROW.

In preparation for Sunday's game with the Kennedy A. C., the Hiser's All-Star Nine will practice tomorrow on the Riverdale diamond at 6 o'clock. Because several members of the team have become ill and will be out for the remainder of the season, Manager Hiser would like to sign one or two players. Those interested, report for tryout tomorrow.

G. W. "FROSH" DUE FOR BIG PROGRAM

New Coaching Staff to "Bear Down" on Yearlings.

GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY'S new coaching staff, headed by James E. Pixlee, former coach and athletic director of Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., will concentrate its energies on the Colonial freshmen athletes next term.

Realizing that there are few capable athletes now available for varsity teams during 1929-30 and also mindful of the fact that without capable talent strong teams can not be produced, the G. W. coaches will start building for the future, hoping to develop from the freshmen of the coming year a crop of stars for the teams of 1931 and thereafter.

This policy is reflected in the announcement by Pixley that he will devote most of his time to the freshman football team in cooperation with his chief assistant, Max Farrington. The coaching of the varsity will be done by two Eastern men whose selections as yet have not been made public.

Three Major Football Games Among Seven Scheduled.

What appears to be a strenuous undertaking has been lined up in football for the Colonial yearlings. Seven games have been scheduled and three will be with teams of higher ranking; namely, Navy "B" Squad, a team which serves as a sort of sparring partner for the Navy varsity; the Maryland University junior varsity and the St. John's (Annapolis) junior varsity. The other contests will be fought with the freshmen teams of Catholic University, Western Maryland University, Johns Hopkins and Georgetown.

By "bearing down" on the freshmen, the Colonial mentors do not mean that the varsity teams will be slighted. Nothing will be left undone to produce the strongest possible varsity combinations.

According to Farrington, who is now on the scene ahead of Director Pixlee, who will arrive here to take charge on August 15, efforts will be made to schedule Georgetown, Maryland, Catholic, American and Gallaudet in all varsity sports within the next two years. He expressed the hope that games with these institutions will be listed for 1929-30 in basket ball and baseball.

Gymnasium Work Compulsory For First Two Classes.

With the advent of a large and entirely new coaching staff, George Washington seems determined to climb to a higher level in intercollegiate athletics. For years the G street school has virtually been shackled in the depths of mediocrity as far as athletics are concerned.

As a means of achieving that end, Pixlee will institute in September an intensive course of gymnasium work to be compulsory on freshmen and sophomores, and an intra-mural competitive program, thereby bringing an increased number of students into athletics. By enlarging the group interested in athletics, Pixlee expects to find eventually an increase in the number of athletes of varsity caliber.

The intra-mural program will be placed in charge of Jean Sexton, former star football and track performer under Pixlee at Westminster. The gymnasium work will be handled by another coach as yet not named.

Miss Josephine Dunham and Miss Frances Walker were the Capital City representatives who triumphed. Each won easily. Miss Dunham lost two games to Miss Val Penrose in the first set but then swept through the second set without the loss of a single game. Miss Walker disposed of Miss Mary Clare Cottman by 6—1, 6—1.

Other winners today were Miss Reba Clarkson, who defeated Mrs. Morton Fisher, 6—1, 6—1, and Mrs. Charles H. Boehm, ranked third among the seeded players, who won by default of Miss Margaret Porter.

Industrial League Nines In Postponed Contest

The Washington Gas Light and Thompson's Dairy nines clash today in a postponed game of the Industrial League, on the South Ellipse at 5:15 o'clock. The first half schedule of the circuit closed last Friday with Washington Gas Light on top with eight games won and two lost.

Thompson's Dairy, in second place, with six victories against four losses, has a chance to overhaul the Gasmen, however, and create a tie for the league leadership as they have two postponed games to play with the Gasman, one of which is today. Should Thompson's Dairy win these two contests a playoff for the first half title will be arranged.

The Return Of OLD KING BRADY

Revived by MERLE W. HERSEY.

(Copyright Protected. Reproduction in Whole or in Part Prohibited.)

In the second chapter Old King Brady tries psychology on Jack Dutton, who is apparently in a stupor from which he will never rouse. Through will power Old King Brady forces him to reveal the location of the Belle of Bolton. The man then dies. Mr. Whigmore arranges to leave immediately and engages the Bradys to attend to all necessary details, but the plans are rudely interrupted by an accident in which Mr. Whigmore is fatally injured.

The Search for the Lost Frisco Liner.

CHAPTER III.

The Tables Are Turned.

Next morning the papers announced that Mr. Whigmore was dead. The cause was given as apoplexy—nothing mysterious about it at all. The Bradys called at the house on Nob Hill during the morning, but were not admitted. They were informed by a young man who met them at the door that their services were no longer required.

Old King Brady took it coolly. "That ends the Whigmores," he said to Harry as they walked down California street hill. "We will lie quiet and see what Dr. Stoppinham has to say about it. Meanwhile, let's see what the captain is about."

They strolled on down to the wharf where the tramp steamer Ox lay moored. Old King Brady addressed a sailor who came forward, asking for the captain. He was informed that the captain was engaged just at present with a young man.

"Let Capt. Pollock know that I want to see him," instructed the detective. "My name is Brady. He will remember me."

"Oh, I remember you quite well, sir, but Capt. Pollock left orders that he was not to be disturbed."

Here were hard lines. Old King Brady acted impulsively. Pushing the young man aside, he strode toward the companionway. Capt. Pollock was just coming up. He gave a start as he saw the detectives.

"Mr. Brady, I—really——" he began, in a stammering voice.

Old King Brady was angry clear through, but he restrained himself. "Speak out, Pollock! Are we barred off this steamer by order of Willy Whigmore?"

"Well, sir, I understand the old man is dead. I was informed by you that I was acting in his interests. Mr. Whigmore, junior, has given special order that you are not to be admitted on board the OX."

"Very well., Good day, Capt. Pollock!" and the Bradys withdrew without further talk.

They returned to the Lick House, and there Dr. Stoppinham joined them a couple of hours later.

"Well, Mr. Brady, it seems that we are down and out, and Willy has taken charge," he said.

"It seems that we have been sidetracked by the young man. What do you say?"

"Something which will put an entirely different face on the affair. Read the contract, please." He proffered a legal document to the detective.

"Well," he said, after reading the document, "this puts an entirely different face on the affair. I see you have a half interest in the treasure of the Belle of Bolton."

"Yes. Before I went to San Bernardino to get Dutton, Old Whigmore drew up this agreement. You will see that I am to bear half of the expenses of the expedition and have half the profits. It was all understood. Mr. Whigmore was sole owner of the gold, as he was the last surviving partner of the old house of Whigmore & Company, and he bought out the interest of his partners when they died."

"Which leaves you fully qualified to act in this matter."

"Yes. Willy seems to have seized our property and to have completely won over the captain. What do you suggest doing?"

"Well, here comes Harry. What is the report, young man?"

"I have a call on the yacht, sir," replied Harry, who had just bustled into the room. "She can be made ready to sail at noon. I have engaged a captain and he can get a crew in a couple of hours' time. I have two divers ready if we decide to go. There is nothing to hinder us if——"

"If Dr. Stoppinham says 'Go!'"

The doctor, while intensely excited over the matter, appeared to hesitate. "Why, the fact is, Mr. Brady, I can't meet these expenses just now. I haven't the cash."

"Enough. I am good for it. I'll meet all bills. You can give me a six months' note for the amount. Now, what do you say?"

"It's a go!"

After arranging an agreement by which the Bradys were to get 20 per cent of the treasure they parted.

The yacht was to sail for San Lopez at noon the next day.

Down the California Coast.

"There we go, doctor. That's the last of the Golden Gate!"

Old King Brady and Dr. Stoppinham were sitting on deck of the Yacht Emerald, under command of Capt. Harding. Harry had retired.

"It is really remarkable how you have put this thing through, Mr. Brady. I knew that Willy Whigmore hated me and was bound to make trouble."

"It is my business to sweep away trouble," replied the detective.

"It is wonderful how you have managed everything. It is a great thing to have money enough to do things."

"Well, my dear sir, I have enough to keep me. But come, let us change the subject. You have heard nothing further of Abe Miranda?"

"Nothing."

"I have not neglected that part of the case. It occurred to me that he might have moved about a bit among crimps and captains to see what he could do on his own account. I found that he was seen in the company of Capt. Pollock, the very man I engaged to take command of the OX. I found that the captain had shipped him as cook."

"It looks bad for Willy, Mr. Brady."

"Indeed it does. It looks as though he would have to face a crooked captain. There will likely be trouble with Whigmore's executors if we are fortunate enough to find the Belle of Bolton and raise the gold."

"Do you know who they are?"

"No. But I shall leave no stone unturned to make a success of this venture."

Next morning found the yacht off San Luis Obispo. They steamed on down past San Diego and soon found themselves running along the coast of desolate Lower California. An endless range of towering mountains and bare trees formed the shoreline. In some places their black, seamed sides came straight down into the ocean, and the waves dashed against them with wild force. At other points the mountains lay back for a mile or so, the intervening space being covered with white sand. Such was the sight that greeted Young King Brady's eyes as he came up on deck early in the morning.

"Well, young man," said the captain. "What do you think of this country? Not very inviting, is it?"

"I should say not. It is the strangest looking country I have ever seen," replied Harry. "Does any one live here at all?"

"Not at this point. There is no fresh water. Further down there are a few settlements."

"An ugly coast to be wrecked on."

"The worst in the world. Several of the old 'Frisco liners have gone ashore here. There was the Rising Star and the Golden State, and then there was the Belle of Bolton which went down in November of '51."

Harry had a feeling he was being pumped. The captain was sailing under sealed orders and he was to ask no questions. The pay was liberal enough to make it an attractive proposition anyway. Not a member of the crew knew the destination of the Emerald, nor did Old King Brady intend for them to until the proper time. That time came that morning, right after breakfast.

Old King Brady ordered all hands on deck where he addressed them. "Now, captain, and you too, men, the time has come when you should all be told the nature of the cruise we have undertaken. Briefly, it is a treasure hunting expedition. We are out after the wreck of a steamer known as the Belle of Bolton, which went down along this coast a half a century ago. And now," continued Old King Brady, "I wish to say that there will be an equal division of one-sixteenth of this treasure between all of you men. As the gold is supposed to be considerable each one of you will come into a snug little sum if we are successful. That is all. Captain Harding, you will now come to the cabin where Dr. Stoppinham and I wish to consult with you further."

The captain and the engineer appeared at the cabin a few minutes later. Here they were told the story of Jack Dutton and a few more details.

Old King Brady finished the interview with a few words. "While we are under no obligation to you or your associates more than regular pay, we realize this is no regular cruise and therefore, if we find the treasure, you and Mr. Tubby will receive one-sixteenth, divided equally between you, of the treasure. Is that satisfactory?"

"Entirely so," they both agreed.

"And now, do you propose to stand by us through thick and thin?"

"You have my word for that," said the captain.

"And mine, too," said the engineer.

"Settled," said Old King Brady. "And, now, captain to try and locate our lost liner. Bring the chart of this coast which I gave you before we started out, and we will see what can be done."

Another chapter in this enthralling serial is in tomorrow's paper—watch for it.

WEEK'S BANK LOANS DISCLOSE INCREASE

Federal Reserve Board Also Reports Big Expansion in Investments.

STOCK TRADING IS HEAVY

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Increases for the week of $194,000,000 in loans and investments, $214,000,000 in Government deposits, $18,000,000 in time deposits and $46,000,000 in borrowings from Federal Reserve banks were shown yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board's condition statement of weekly reporting member banks in 101 leading cities on June 19.

There was a decline of $170,000,000 in net demand deposits and loans on securities which were $175,000,000 above the June 12 total, increased in all but one district. The principal increases by district were New York, $92,000,000; San Francisco, $18,000,000; Boston, $17,000,000; Chicago, $14,000,000; Philadelphia, $13,000,000, and Cleveland, $10,000,000.

"All other" loans decreased $10,000,000 in the New York district, and advanced $10,000,000 in the San Francisco district; $5,000,000 in the Chicago district and $4,000,000 at all reporting banks.

Holdings of United States Government securities increased $8,000,000 in the district of San Francisco, $7,000,000 in that of New York and $29,000,000 at all reporting banks. Holdings of other securities, however, declined $11,000,000 in the New York district, $6,000,000 in the Boston district and $15,000,000 at all reporting banks.

Net demand deposits which at all reporting banks were $170,000,000 below the June 12 total, increased $10,000,000 in the San Francisco district and decreased in all other districts, principal recessions being: New York, $66,000,000; Chicago, $32,000,000; Cleveland, $20,000,000; Philadelphia, $19,000,000, and Boston, $14,000,000. Time deposits gained $24,000,000 in the New York district and $18,000,000 at all banks reporting.

Principal changes in borrowings from Federal Reserve banks for the week comprised increases of $33,000,000 at the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, $27,000,000 in New York and $14,000,000 at San Francisco, with decreases of $14,000,000 at Cleveland, $7,000,000 at Atlanta and $6,000,000 at Dallas.

Advertising Campaign Planned.

With the most successful convention in its history just closed, the District of Columbia Bankers Association will devote first attention to the most important advertising campaign it has yet launched at a special meeting to be called by President Wilmer J. Waller in the near future.

Discussing this plan in which radio, newspapers, literature and essay contests will be used to make Washington "bank minded," members of the advertising committee emphasized yesterday the fact that Calvin Coolidge says advertising was the greatest single factor in creating the prosperity of this country and Merle Thorpe, business editor, declared in turn that group effort was the means which major lines of business had successfully used in creating a market for their products through advertising.

Committee members said it was certain that banking had made vast development after discarding the tradition that banks, like doctors and lawyers, should not advertise. They showed that Washington had been leading the country in the cooperative advertising campaigns of the local bankers' association; that Christmas Savings Clubs had increased their membership from 30,000 to 87,000, and deposits from $2,000,000 to nearly $8,000,000.

The educational campaign of 1926, they recalled, brought direct profit to the banks in one year that many times exceeded its cost, one bank alone reporting that the following year netted to it a profit exceeding twelve times the amount of the subscription.

Trading Heaviest in Weeks.

The stock division showed unusual activity on the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday, volume of turnover being 816 shares, highest in weeks. Bonds were only in mild demand at recent figures.

Four hundred and forty shares of Real Estate Mortgage & Guaranty preferred at fractional recessions from 7⅝ led the trading. A hundred shares of National Mortgage & Investment preferred moved at 4, last sale price, and 100 of Miller Train Control at 1 in the unlisted department. Sale of 92 shares of Capital Traction at fractional advances from 91 were recorded.

Bridge Work Is Hastened.

Within seven months after letting the contract, all concrete work for the $6,000,000 Columbia River Longview Bridge at Longview, Wash., has just been completed, establishing what is said to be a record in subaqueous construction of the kind, according to a progress report received yesterday by J. & W. Seligman & Co., underwriters of the project.

The report indicates that construction work is now almost at the halfway point, despite the fact that unusual difficulty and extreme hazards attended the erection of the piers in the swift-moving waters of the Columbia River.

Erection of the steel superstructure is to begin immediately. This will consist of seven steel spans, one of which will be more than 1,000 feet long. Because of the great height of the bridge, new methods of construction are being developed and unusual devices provided to safeguard the workers.

The bridge will be the highest in the world over navigable water, except the Hudson River Bridge, now under construction in New York. The deck of the spans will be 195 feet above the water, which is 65 feet higher than the deck of the Brooklyn Bridge, and the top of the towers will be about 300 feet above the water.

New Share Offering.

Offering of 250,000 shares of Insull Utility Investment Inc. at market price is announced today by Waggaman & Brawner Inc., of this city and other firms. This company now owns, among other securities, substantial blocks of stock of Commonwealth Edison Co., Peoples Gas Light & Coke Co., Middlewest Utilities Co., Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois, and also the entire capital of Insull, Son & Co., Inc. Officers of the corporation are Samuel Insull, president; Martin J. Insull and Samuel Insull Jr., vice presidents.

A Try Out Before WILLIAM FOX

George Fawcett, veteran actor, says, "There isn't a hamlet but what has an embryonic picture star."

How many film stars now drawing thousands of dollars per week and the idol of movie fans had an opportunity to try out before one of America's greatest producers?

It is absolutely impossible for directors and producers to personally interview all the motion picture applicants when casting new pictures. But, through the medium of screen testing, they are able to readily judge and pick their "types," and have such descriptions on file for casting as occasion arises.

There is no definite procedure that one can follow to enter the portals of one of the most fascinating workshops in the world—THE MOTION PICTURE STUDIO—but in all cases the primary requirement is A MOTION PICTURE SCREEN TEST.

VIRGINIA CHERRILL, a 20-year-old Chicago girl, who never before appeared before a camera, was chosen by Chaplin to play the lead in "City Lights."

A Motion Picture Screen Test Will Be Made of Washington Boys-Girls-Children-Adults by The Washington Post and The Fox Theater

You may be one of the winners in this great city-wide movie talent quest! Here is a lifetime opportunity to bring yourself to the direct attention of motion picture magnates whose great cry today is for new faces, different "types" and distinctive characters.

DISTRICT'S BUDGET ESTIMATES FACING CUT OF $5,000,000

Commissioners Will Resume Study of Departments' Needs Today.

POLICE SUPERINTENDENT SEEKS ADDITIONAL MEN

Fire Chief Wants Site for New Engine and Truck House in Downtown Area.

With police, fire, playgrounds and public buildings and grounds still to be considered in detail, the District Commissioners today will resume their study of the tentative estimates of expenses for the District for the fiscal year 1931.

Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, together with his assistants, is to go over the estimates for his department with the Commissioners this morning.

Pratt has recommended an increase of 100 men in the personnel of the Police Department. This will permit important and radical changes in the administration of the department, which will make for improved efficiency, the police chief believes, and he is eager that the Commissioners give their approval to the full increase asked.

Pratt believes that policemen should be given a period of careful training in all branches of their duties before they are assigned to the actual work of law enforcement. He believes, too, that good and efficient detectives are the result of proper training and experience and he proposes to increase the number of detectives, but establish grades, with increased compensation for each grade. Detailed attention to all complaints now received by the detective bureau is impossible because of the limited number of detectives available to assign to general investigation, Maj. Pratt said.

May Affect Some Items.

The beginning of the new municipal center may affect some of the items in the estimates of both the police and fire departments for new buildings to replace station houses which eventually must be abandoned because they are located within the Government building triangle, and it may be that a proposal for a new station house in the downtown section will not be approved, the Commissioners planning to care for such needs in the municipal center development.

Fire Chief George S. Watson is especially concerned, however, with getting approval for a site for a new combination engine and truck house in the downtown section, near Pennsylvania avenue and west of Ninth street, to replace the engine and truck house on D street near Twelfth and on Fourteenth at Ohio avenue, which must be abandoned.

What new apparatus will be approved in the estimates for the Fire Department, it was said, will depend on the result of a careful check-up of the amount and condition of fire-fighting equipment which will be available at the end of the next fiscal year, beginning July 1.

Wants Equipment Kept Up.

Commissioner Dougherty is anxious that equipment be not permitted to run down, believing that means false economy and the necessity of purchasing a large amount of equipment in a later year.

Inasmuch as the Playgrounds Department, of which Mrs. Susie Root Rhodes is the head, has asked no more than it did last year, the estimates for this department are expected to be generally approved, but such is not the case with public buildings and grounds. Col. U. S. Grant 3d has asked an increase of 66 per cent over the appropriations for his department for 1930, exclusive of $1,000,000 for purchase of park lands. Faced with the task of cutting $5,000,000 from the estimates submitted by department heads, the Commissioners are expected to cut down these estimates considerably.

Alleged Attack Raises 2 Old Murder Charges

Dosier Baltnight, alias Maj. Wiggins, colored, 50 years old, of 2372 Eighth street northwest, is said by police to have slashed the neck of James Cicfey, colored, of 218 Bryant court northwest, during an altercation in front of 2372 Eighth street last night. Cicfey was removed to Freedmen's Hospital, where he was treated for severe cuts about the throat by Dr. D. A. Butler. His condition is said to be serious by hospital attaches. Baltnight is held for investigation at the Eighth Precinct, pending the result of Cicfey's injuries.

Baltnight's stepdaughter, Gladys Henderson, who rooms at 218 Bryant court, and who police say is the sweetheart of Cicfey, told the police last night that six years ago her stepfather killed a sheriff and another man. Detectives of the Eighth Precinct are investigating this charge.

Liquor in 'Hearse' Causes Arrest of 2

Mournful Looking Vehicle Arouses Suspicion of Police Squadron.

Accused of violating the Jones liquor law by transporting 60 half gallons of liquor, James Caparrotta, 36 years old, and Leo Bessela, 29, were bound over to the grand jury in $2,500 bail each yesterday by Judge John P. McMahon in Police Court. Caparrotta was also charged with failing to show a registration card and driving without a permit.

The two were rumbling along Bladensburg road northeast Saturday night, police reported, in an unsuspecting hearse-like motor truck and would have escaped detection but for the shrewd eye of Sergt. George M. Little, commander of the police flying squadron.

Little said he recognized Caparrotta as he and his squad passed the "hearse" and decided to "look things over." When Caparrotta admitted he had no driver's license, the police searched the truck and said they found the liquor.

Father of 10 Wins Traffic Judge's Favor

It pays to have a large family, William Frank Cannon, of 413 Ninth street southwest, learned yesterday at Traffic Court. Cannon was hailed before Judge Ralph Given on a charge of speeding. Policeman C. P. Cummings testified he arrested Cannon Saturday night on Bladensburg road northeast for driving at an excessive rate of speed. Eight children were in the car with Cannon.

The defendant told Judge Given he needed all his money to support his family. In addition to the eight children in the car, he said he had two more at home. The magistrate released Cannon on his personal bond and ordered his collateral of $10 returned.

WASHINGTON BOYS WIN PLANE EVENTS

MODEL 10 MINUTES IN AIR

Flying a rubber-motored airplane of his own design which remained aloft for ten minutes in the annual model plane contest conducted by the Model Airplane League of America and the National Aeronautical Association, Herbert Grove Dorsey, jr., 16 years old, returned to his home at 3708 Thirty-third place northwest, yesterday, winner of the national championship in the senior outdoor division of the event, which was staged this year at Detroit.

This was his second consecutive year of victory. Last year he won the District championship in the contest sponsored by The Washington Post, and later, in the finals at Atlantic City, he won the national championship.

For his success in competition last week at Detroit, against more than 450 boys from all parts of the United States and Hawaii, he was awarded $200 in cash by the American Boy Magazine and a gold medal and a silver cup by the Detroit Board of Commerce.

The plane which young Dorsey designed and built is a monoplane with a 15-inch wing spread and an 8-inch propeller, and uses twisted rubber bands for its motive power.

Another plane, also designed by young Dorsey and identical with his except in that it has a 12-inch propeller, was flown in the junior indoor event to take third place, entered by Frank M. Salisbury, 14 years old, and also a Washingtonian, his home being at 6500 Sixteenth street northwest.

Herbert Dorsey, jr., who was graduated from Central High School at the close of the last term, is planning to make aeronautical engineering his life work. Because of his youth he is undecided now whether to continue studies during the coming year in a post-graduate course at Central High School or to enter Harvard Preparatory School. When he is 17 years old, he and his mother both explained, he intends to enter Harvard, where he will specialize in the study of aviation.

Young Salisbury, whose entry in the Detroit contest won third place, with a sustained flight indoors of six minutes and thirteen seconds, is 14 years old. He has just been graduated from Brightwood Grammar School and is planning to enter high school in the fall.

Both boys entered in the Detroit contest entirely on their own initiative and made the trip without outside aid or support.

Man Given 15-Day Term After Failing to Swim

James C. Fleet, colored, who was arrested Saturday and charged with intoxication and disorderly conduct after he had been saved from drowning twice at the Francis municipal swimming pool, was sent to jail yesterday for 15 days by Police Court Judge Gus A. Schuldt.

Witnesses testified that no sooner had Fleet plunged into the pool Saturday than he began to sink. He was rescued by Clarence Pendleton, life guard, and resuscitated by Montague Cobb, pool superintendent. A few moments later Fleet plunged in, again sank, and again was rescued and revived, witnesses said. After that the police were called. Fleet denied that he was drunk or disorderly and stated he went to the pool to challenge Pendleton to a water race.

J. P. Tumulty's Pet Pomeranian Vanishes

"Toppy 3d," pet Pomeranian dog of Joseph P. Tumulty, former secretary to the late Woodrow Wilson, is believed to have become impatient in waiting for his master last night, and to have strayed from Mr. Tumulty's automobile, parked in front of the Fox Theater at Fourteenth and F streets northwest.

In consequence, police all over the city have been asked to keep a lookout for Toppy, who is silky black and was wearing a tag which bears his name and Mrs. Tumulty's address, 16 Kalorama circle northwest.

Siren Announces Passage Of Brentwood Fire Tax

Members of the Brentwood Volunteer Fire Department were so elated last night at the passage of the town fire tax measure by the people of the town who voted in the annual elections that they turned on the fire siren and "told the world." The new law provides for the collection of a tax of 10 cents on each $100 personal and real property for the maintenance and equipment of the volunteer fire department.

The measure has been recommended for some time by the firemen, who have canvassed the town in favor of the tax, and the passage of the law in the face of a large amount of opposition thrilled the firemen so that they just had to blow off steam. Firemen who were not at the house when the news was learned soon arrived in answer to the siren to hear the good news.

James E. Sampson was elected mayor in the town elections, with a ballot of 165. His opponent, Raymon S. Czarra, was given 130 votes. Elmer C. Helm was reelected treasurer, with a vote of 234. He was unopposed. There were no candidates for the several vacancies in the town council, and these will be appointed at a meeting of the mayor and town council tonight.

Policeman Made Court Defendant

Is Placed Under Arrest on Disorderly Conduct Count After Row.

Policeman Sherlock Harrison, of the Second Precinct, was placed under arrest yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct for appearance in Police Court this morning, because it is alleged he "cussed out" Inspector Albert J. Headley while being questioned with regard to complaints made against the policeman by his angry wife. Capt. Ogden Davis, of the Second Precinct, will appear as the complaining witness. The arrest followed suspension of Policeman Harrison by Inspector Headley.

The policeman's wife, his mother-in-law, and others who have anything to say in the matter have been instructed to appear at police headquarters at 11 o'clock this morning to put their charges in writing.

Dry Fund Refusal to State Lacking Enabling Act Urged

Wade Ellis, Attorney, Speaking Over WJSV, Deplores Wasting of Resources in Unappreciated Enforcement; Says Denial Would Stir Public.

The Federal Government should withhold money for prohibition enforcement from those States which do not have liquor enforcement laws, Wade Ellis, Capital attorney, declared last night in a radio address over Station WJSV.

"In my judgment," Ellis said, "such a bold stroke would have an immediate and electrical effect all over the country. The people of every State in the Union would realize for the first time that the enforcement of prohibition is primarily their business. It would set them to thinking, as no other experiment would.

"We, as a nation, would then perceive that something has got to be done about prohibition. There are five or six States which either never passed an enforcement law, or repealed or invalidated the law they had passed. There are several others which, while they have enforcement statutes, make no serious attempt to observe them. Why should the Government of the United States spend millions of dollars or hundreds of millions out of the national Treasury to enforce prohibition locally in New York or Wisconsin or Maryland?"

NONSMOKING GIRLS MEETING IN CAPITAL

Sigma Iota Chi Sorority Holds National Banquet and Visits Annapolis.

DANCE SLATED TONIGHT

Sixty-five nonsmoking girls, members of Sigma Iota Chi, national junior college sorority, yesterday opened their eighteenth biennial convention in Washington, with headquarters at the Raleigh Hotel, where they will meet for the next two days.

The entire delegation from junior colleges throughout the United States yesterday visited Annapolis, Md., where they inspected the United States Naval Academy. Last night they attended a banquet in the oak room of the Raleigh Hotel. Short speeches were made by the club officers, Mrs. Ethlyn Hopkins, of Columbia, Mo., president; Mrs. H. A. Hillman, St. Louis, custodian; Miss Martha Ragsdale, New York City, editor of the quarterly, and Miss Mary Printup, Augusta, Ga., treasurer. Twenty-five active chapters were represented and alumnae from the Washington region attended.

Sigma Iota Chi is noted as one of the national sororities which forbids its members to indulge in tobacco in any form by a national regulation. Business meetings will be held today and tomorrow, with an election of officers tomorrow.

This afternoon the delegates will be taken on a sightseeing tour of Washington and later will go to Mount Vernon for a short visit. A formal dance will be held tonight at the Raleigh Hotel ballroom, and the convention will be concluded with an informal luncheon Wednesday afternoon.

4 Children Cut Off In Merchant's Will

Two Sons, Two Daughters Get Only $1 Each of $50,000 Estate.

Benjamin Berman, a merchant, of 1200 T street northwest, who died recently, left his four children only $1 each of his $50,000 estate because of their alleged incivility, and bequeathed his son-in-law, Simon Berman, $1,000 for his kindness in his will, which was filed for probate yesterday at the District Supreme Court.

The will directed the entire estate shall go to the merchant's widow, Mrs. Eva Berman, and at her death shall be distributed among five charitable organizations, the Jewish Old Age Home, the Hebrew Relief Association, the Jewish Foster Home, the Jewish Ladies Aid Society of Washington and the Jewish Consumptive Home of Denver, Colo.

At the death of his widow, the merchant's will directed payment of $1,000 to his son-in-law. The will also provided that $1 each be given his four children, Samuel L. Berman, David Berman, Naomi Berman and Annie Carpel, and stated the four failed to accord their parents the respect due them. William H. Labofish was named trustee. The probate petition was filed by Attorney Richard E. Wellford.

Dog Mascot Strayed, Sailors Scouring City

Sailors attached to the Naval Air Station turned out last night and scoured Anacostia in an effort to locate "Aviatrix," the station's dog mascot.

The dog, a female wire-haired fox terrier with white, black and brown spots, disappeared yesterday. She is the property of Charles Moffett, son of Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Navy Department.

Husband Is Cruel, Artist's Wife Says

Unkindness Also Charged in Maintenance Suit Against Negulesco.

Jean Negulesco, an artist, who maintains a studio at Wardman Park Hotel, was named defendant in a suit for maintenance instituted yesterday in the District Supreme Court by Mrs. Winifred Negulesco, a resident of the same hotel.

According to the bill of complaint, filed through Attorneys Seal and Dice, the parties were married at Nice, France, on March 4, 1926. Shortly after the marriage, the wife charged her artist-husband began to treat her with "great unkindness and extreme cruelty."

The artist was accused of denying his wife things that belonged to her and refusing to provide her with money for the purchase of food and raiment. Mrs. Negulesco declared she has to depend on a small income of her own with which to support herself and her two minor children by a former marriage. She said Negulesco has an income in excess of $5,000 a year.

Negulesco has threatened to leave the jurisdiction, the wife charged, and she asked the court to compel him to remain within the District pending the outcome of the suit.

MUNICIPAL CENTER SITE TO BE BOUGHT SOON, LADUE AVERS

General Policies in Purchasing Four Squares Already Decided Upon.

OWNERS OF PROPERTY ARE ASKED FOR OFFERS

Special Consideration to Be Given Land on Which Are Available Buildings.

Purchase of land for the new municipal center, for which Congress appropriated $3,000,000 before it recessed, will be begun without delay, Col. William B. Ladue, Engineer Commissioner of the District, said yesterday.

General policies which are to be followed in purchasing the four squares between Judiciary Square and Pennsylvania avenue, Third and Sixth streets already have been decided on by the Commissioners.

A general invitation to the owners of all property within the squares to submit offers for their buildings and ground to the District is planned as one of the first moves, Col. Ladue said.

The available $3,000,000 will be spent for those properties which are offered at "reasonable" prices, whether they are located in the square in which it is planned to construct the first unit of the center, the courts building, or in any of the other three. "Hold-up" prices will be the last to be acted on and wherever the price asked for property is considered too high above its assessed and just market value the Commissioners intend to go to court and have the land condemned, Ladue said.

Buildings to Be Utilized.

Special consideration is expected to be given to land on which there are buildings suitable for immediate use by one or another of the municipal activities. The Ford building is regarded as admirably adapted for the use of some of the District municipal agencies, but there is no intention on the part of the Commissioners, Ladue said, to force the Ford Co. out of its property until it has had adequate and reasonable time to find a new location for its business. How long that will take Col. Ladue said he did not know, but he cited the District's attitude in that case as typical of the decision of the Commissioners to conduct the purchase and occupancy of the squares so as to work no unnecessary hardship or injustice on any present occupant.

The juvenile court now is temporarily housed in the old Arthur school, which has been abandoned for school purposes, and this is one of the agencies for which it is planned to find a home among the buildings now in private used in the municipal center squares.

Crowded conditions in the District building are causing officials worry as to how they can best divide the available space, and some of the activities now housed in the District Building also are to be given temporary homes in buildings in the squares. One of these cited as an example by Col. Ladue is the testing department of the highways department.

Atkins to Be in Charge.

Maj. L. E. Atkins, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, who has been ill, but who is expected to return to his office this week, will be placed in general charge of the purchasing of the municipal center squares.

A plan which is under consideration is to appoint a purchasing commission to aid Maj. Atkins. This commission would include William P. Richards, District assessor; Melvin C. Hazen, surveyor, and perhaps one or more other District specialists, with Maj. Atkins as chairman. Whether this commission is appointed or not, Richards will be called on to pass judgment on the prices asked for various properties and will keep in constant touch with developments.

Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty, who is especially enthusiastic about the development of the municipal center, regards its beginning as one of the outstanding achievements of the present Board of Commissoners and declared that nothing will be permitted to interfere with pushing the project ahead as fast as it can be pushed without waste.

The fact that Congress already has appropriated $3,000,000 to begin purchase of the squares was the subject of mutual congratulations yesterday between Commisioner Dougherty and Municipal Architect A. L. Harris, who returned to his office yesterday after a two months' tour of Europe, studying recent developments in city planning in large European cities.

PRINCESS HOHENLOHE DIES AT VIENNA HOME

CAPITAL SOCIETY LEADER

Princess Alfred Hohenlowe zu Schillingsfuerst, the former Miss Catherine A. Britton, widely known Washington beauty and social favorite, died Sunday at her Vienna home, according to advices received here yesterday.

She was stricken suddenly Friday night and died of paralysis of the lungs, Associated Press dispatches said. Her husband was at her bedside.

Princess Hohenlohe had lived abroad almost entirely since her marriage in 1916, but about two years ago she returned to Washington for a short visit. That was just before the death of her father, the late Alexander Britton, prominent Washington attorney and clubman.

The wedding of Miss Britton and Prince Alfred Hohenlowe zu Schillingsfuerst was one of the principal society events of 1916, the wedding being solemnized on December 14 of that year. The prince had been an attache of the Austrian-Hungarian embassy here. Following the wedding, the couple went to California and lived a short time before going abroad.

Miss Britton was best known here as one of the "Big Six," a society sextette composed of herself and five other prominent young women of Washington.

One event recalled yesterday in connection with her death was her volunteer trip overseas to do war work at the outbreak of the World War. She was one of the first American girls to undertake the adventure, going over at the same time as did Miss Nona McAdoo, daughter of William Gibbs McAdoo, at that time Secretary of Treasury.

Prince Hohenlohe is a descendant of one of the oldest and most prominent families in old Austria. He is a relative of Prince Conrad von Hohenlohe, former premier and minister at one time of the interior and of finance.

Washington friends of the couple expressed surprise yesterday to learn that the princess had died at Vienna, explaining that at last reports she and her husband were living in southern France.

In addition to her husband, the princess is said to be survived by three children.

MIDCITY CITIZENS FAVOR NEW AIRPORT

Association Also Adopts Resolution for Traffic Improvement.

A. J. DRISCOLL SPEAKS

Improvement of traffic conditions in the District, with a view to reducing the number of accidents, and indorsement of the proposed airport for Washington, were among the main resolutions adopted by the Midcity Citizens Association at its final meeting for the summer last night.

A. J. Driscoll, president of the association, moved the members to action after making an impassioned plea for the betterment of traffic conditions. He pointed out that in the last year there have been 296 deaths from automobile accidents in the city, and that out of this number only two drivers have been convicted. He also charged that there are many automobile drivers in the District who haven't drivers' permits or who have had their permits revoked.

In recommending better traffic conditions, the association suggested the installation of more traffic lights at unprotected places that are reputed to be dangerous.

A resolution commending the Board of Trade for the work it has done toward the establishment of an airport was adopted with the indorsement of the airport. The association also commended the work of Senator Bingham and Senator Simmons in bringing about the passage of the $3,000,000 bill for the establishment of a municipal center in the District.

A letter of praise was drafted to Capt. O. T. Davis of the Second Precinct for his recent raids on gambling establishments in the center of the city.

The association went on record opposing the increase of street car fares. The proposal to widen Thirteenth street, from Massachusetts avenue to Iowa Circle, was tabled with the opinion that there was no need for this improvement at present.

A part of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of the proposal to change the name of Iowa Circle to Mayflower Circle, but no action was taken on the matteer.

The next meeting of the association will be held in August. In the meantime, the executive committee of the association will have the privilege to act on any matter of import, it was announced.

BOYS ENDANGERED AS CREEK SWELLS FROM HEAVY RAIN

Policeman Rescues Lads Off Park Tree Where They Sought Refuge.

LITTLE RELIEF IS SEEN AFTER 85-DEGREE PEAK

60 Cellars Flooded, Sewers Clogged by Torrential Shower Series.

While intermittent showers brought temporary relief to the heat-besieged capital yesterday, a torrential downpour early in the afternoon endangered the lives of two young boys wading in the stream, near Massachusetts avenue northwest, that runs through Rock Creek Park.

The two boys, Louis Rosas, 10 years old, of 1824 California street northwest, and Robert Dagenet, 9, of 1840 California street northwest, were rescued from possible drowning by Motorcycle Policeman Marcel Caussin, of the Fourteenth Precinct.

The boys were wading in the creek when the storm broke. Before they could reach the shore the water had risen above their waists. Panic stricken, they climbed upon the branch of a tree that was bowed close over the stream. While they were clinging desperately to the branch, a party of boys hurrying home from a picnic saw them.

Record High 85 Degrees.

The picnickers called the Fourteenth Precinct station-house and Caussin was dispatched to the scene. Caussin, who waded into the stream to rescue the boys, only recently recovered from injuries suffered in an automobile accident last Christmas.

The Weather Bureau, in forecasting no appreciable change in temperature during today or tomorrow, recorded a high of 85 degrees for the day at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. The mercury took a speedy tumble during the downpour shortly after noon and dropped to 71 degrees at 3 o'clock, only to start a slow but steady rise of 7 to 8 degrees during the remainder of the afternoon.

While not breaking any records, the day's rainfall totaled 1.18 inches with virtually the entire precipitation registered between noon and 2 o'clock.

Sewers Are Flooded.

In the meanwhile the miniature lake created by the torrential storm shortly after Friday midnight at Channing street and Bladensburg road northeast was giving the Sewer and the Fire Departments trouble. The low ground in that section of the city and the clogged drain culverts held back 5 feet of water in places.

In commenting on the intensity of the deluge in the Northeast section Friday night, J. B. Gordon, city sanitary engineer, declared yesterday that the automatic rain gauges of the department recorded a 3-inch precipitation in 43 minutes at one point and a 3-inch precipitation in 35 minutes at another point. He declared that it was the heaviest rainfall recorded by the Sewer Department in 32 years.

Seventy-five complaints of damage have been received at the sewer department, it was said yesterday. Sixty of these were of flooded cellars. The flood of rain overtaxed the sewer system and flooded streets and homes, Gordon said. Damage was done to sewer work in various sections.
